WABASH FIGHT

Ramsey Threatens to Take Legal Action

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 10—The annual meeting of the Wabash railroad, opened at 9 a. m. today, in the offices of Smith and Beckwith, the local attorneys for the railroad. Under the by-laws of the company, the election is to continue until noon and it was expected that the announcement of the result would be made by the election inspectors at about 12.15. Of the directors there were present, when the meeting opened, Geo. Gould, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., Edgar T. Welles, John T. Terry, Winslow S. Pierce, E. T. Jeffrey and S. C. Reynolds. All of these save Mr. Ramsey were adherents of Mr. Gould. The situation did not change over night and there was no apparent abatement in the confidence of either side. Mr. Ramsey claims that it will not be possible to retire him as a director for the reason that he controls at least one-tenth of the votes, and under the system of voting, permissible in Ohio, he will be able to re-elect himself. The Gould party, however, look upon Mr. Ramsey's connection with the board of directors as a matter to be spoken of in the past tense only. "Mr. Gould has fully determined that there shall be a change in the board of directors," is the way they put it.

There were rumors early today, that legal steps would be taken by Mr. Ramsey's attorneys to prevent the re-election as directors of the Wabash of George Gould, Russell Sage and James H. Hyde on the ground that they are also directors of the Missouri Pacific, which line parallels the Wabash between St. Louis and Kansas City, but up to the time of the opening of the meeting, nothing had transpired in this direction.

At the opening of the meeting, Col. Doyle acting for Mr. Ramsey objected to Mr. Gould as presiding officer on the ground that he was director of the Missouri Pacific, a parallel line to the Wabash. He also objected to the three inspectors of election, Moses Reynolds, Colton and Newton. Mr. Ramsey said: "I also offer objections as a stockholder."

On motion of Mr. Greer, of the firm of Pierce and Greer, Mr. Gould's legal advisers the objection was spread on the record.

After the transaction of some routine business the regular meeting was adjourned to permit of the causes of the bond holders. Under the law the bond holders have the right to choose six directors, the stockholders six and the twelve the thirteenth.

Mr. Greer nominated as directors for the bond holders E. T. Welles, Winslow S. Pierce, W. B. Saunders, R. C. Clowry, Russell Sage and R. M. Galloway. Col. Doyle for Mr. Ramsey demanded that the directors be chosen by ballot. This was voted down and the men were chosen by roll call.

Mr. Ramsey's attorneys demanded that a proxy be shown, as each name was called. There were great numbers of these and the operation consumed much time.

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Pilgrim Commandery, K. T., Observes Its Anniversary

EMINENT SIR JAMES F. SAVAGE, COMMANDER.

Grand Officers of Mass. and Rhode Island Received at the Depot—Exercises This Afternoon at First Baptist Church

Today marks the 50th anniversary of the formation of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar, and a more perfect day for the observance of a golden jubilee could not be desired.

To assist them in their celebration today the knights have as guests the grand officers of Massachusetts and Rhode Island who arrived here in a special car attached to the 1 o'clock train from Boston and were met at the depot by the members of the local commandery in full regalia, and accompanied by the Lowell Military band. The local commandery left the Masonic Temple in Middlesex street about 1 o'clock and proceeded down Merrimack to Central to Middlesex to the northern depot where the visitors were met. Then the line was reformed and the line of march this time was taken through Thorndike and Fletcher streets to Dutton, to Merrimack, to Central to Church, to the First Baptist church where the afternoon's exercises took place.

The exterior of the Temple on Merrimack street was very neatly decorated and excited much favorable comment, not only from the visiting sir knights but from passersby on the street. From the roof floated gracefully a mammoth blue and white pennant bearing two small white crosses on a blue field at the base. The pennant was about 40 feet long and was the gift to the commandery of Sir Walter McDaniel. The entire front of the building was adorned with the national colors and the attractive black and white streamers of the order. For a centre piece was an immense shield bearing the cross within the crown and the inscription "In hoc signo vinces," within a framework of American and Masonic flags.

The entrance to the American House where the visitors made their headquarters, was draped in the national colors while from the upper stories was suspended a large Maltese flag, also the gift to the commandery of Sir Walter McDaniel.

The afternoon exercises were open to the public, admission being by ticket and the floor was reserved for the grand officers, the members of the commandery and their ladies while the others were given seats in the gallery. A large gathering assembled at the church and while awaiting the arrival of the commandery and guests, Sir James W. Hill of Haverhill gave a delightful organ recital.

The exercises in the church were formally opened shortly after two o'clock and an address of welcome was made by Em. Sir James F. Savage, which was responded to by Em. Sir Dana J. Flanders of Boston, grand commander.

FINED $150 EACH

For Making and Selling Obscene Pictures

Joseph L. Gadbois, 27, and Andavaste M. Barrette, 52, were arraigned in police court this forenoon on complaints charging them with copying and circulating obscene pictures. Through their counsel, Albert Blazon, they pleaded guilty and were ordered to pay fines of $150 each. Both fines were paid.

Today's session was a short one. John F. Quinn and Jeremiah Sullivan, parole men, were ordered back to the state farm. They left there yesterday morning and proceeded to "bowl up" just as soon as the opportunity presented itself and they were decidedly under the weather when taken into custody last evening.

John F. Sheehy was charged with drunkenness, and it being his second offence within a year a fine of $6 was imposed.

James Kelley, Edward Flynn and Patrick Casey were fined $2 each.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

ELECED VICE-PRES. OF PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Because of the interest he has taken in the work of the public schools athletic league, President Roosevelt was yesterday elected to the office of vice president of that organization at a meeting of the executive committee. The league is one of the largest organizations devoted to sports and athletic pastimes in the world.

RIVER DRAGGED

Search for Body of Katchen Duerr

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Police today, dragged the Harlem river for the body of Mrs. Katchen Duerr, 18 years old, who was drowned last night under circumstances so suspicious as to cause the arrest of Mrs. Duerr's husband, Otto, and his friend, Charles Hahn. Raymond Messmer and his wife, Mary, parents of the drowned woman, declared to Coroner O'Gorman, that they believed she had been a victim of foul play. The police hope the body of the young woman will give them some clue as to whether the suspicions of the parents are warranted.

Duerr told the police he thought his wife's death was an accident and that Hahn with whom she was rooming was not to blame, but Mr. and Mrs. Messmer stated that Duerr had quarrelled with his wife and that she came to their house a few days ago and said that her husband had threatened to kill her. Duerr was then arrested and held as a suspicious person, pending an investigation of the parents' allegations.

27TH DISTRICT

Conley and Murphy Are Nominated

Martin F. Conley of ward five and Timothy S. Murphy of ward nine were the unanimous choice of the 27th district democratic representative convention last evening, which was held in democratic headquarters.

Martin Crowe called to order and there was a fair representation of delegates. The nominations were made by acclamation.

The district committee elected was: Nicholas Gallagher, Dracut; James F. Fairgrieves, Tewksbury; Dexter C. Whitmore, Carlisle; Walter Campbell, North Reading; Patrick McMahon, Wilmington; Edward Costello, Jr., Billerica; James O'Brien, Burlington; Patrick J. Cox, Martin Crowe and John F. Conley of ward 5; John W. Daly, Patrick J. O'Brien and William Callahan of ward 9. Martin Crowe was selected as chairman of the committee, and they were given full power to fill any vacancies.

FOUGHT THE FIRE

Students Led by President Wheeler

BERKLEY, Cal., Oct. 10.—A fierce fire swept over the Berkley Hills behind the University of California yesterday and had it not been for the heroic work of 1000 students from the university, and for the Berkley department, assisted by hundreds of citizens, much property would have been destroyed. President Wheeler himself led the students and hatless and coatless they fought the flames with wet sacks till late yesterday afternoon, not even stopping for dinner. Many students had narrow escapes from the flames. Prentiss S. Gray, Ray Gabbert and Roy Elliott, a footbal' player at the head of one division, were cut off by a circle of fire and were compelled to wrap themselves in sacks to save their lives. Last night the flames were well under control, though still burning.

JURY DISAGREED

No Finding In the Cole Murder Case

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—The disagreement reported early today, by the jury in the case of Edward F. Cole charged with the murder of John F. Steeves, returns the case to its former position.

Judge Bonney announced today that the court would make no disposition of the case, the prisoner being held according to law and if the prosecuting attorneys so determine later, he will be given another trial at the January term.

BOSTON THEATRE.

J. H. Tibbetts has struck the popular chord again this week. The great Laroses, the world's wire performers, seem to have been born in the air or on a wire; Corelli, the pantomist, does his turn and greatly amuses the audience. The Paragon Trio in their singing and dancing acts are all right and there are lots of other good attractions at the Boston this week. The moving pictures will be better than ever and on Wednesday and Thursday evenings there will be cyclones of fun for everybody. Do not miss it. The show is a corker.

LOCKED UP

FORMER SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT HAS SURRENDERED.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 10.—Newton C. Dougherty, formerly bank president and defaulting school superintendent, against whom 27 indictments for forgery and embezzlement were returned yesterday for a total of $54,000, last night drove to the jail and surrendered himself to the sheriff. He was locked up.

THE GIANTS WON

Took First Game in World's Championship Series

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—More favorable weather conditions for the opening today of the world's championship baseball series between the New York National League club and the Philadelphia American League club, could not be desired. The final details for the series were completed today when the national committee met the two umpires who are to officiate during the games and later received the certified checks of the contesting clubs for $10,000 as a guarantee that the series would be played.

The New York club and a large crowd of baseball enthusiasts from that city arrived here this morning.

Owing to the intense interest that has been manifested, elaborate preparations were made to handle the crowds. The ticket offices at the ball park were opened at 11 o'clock and despite the fact that the prices have been raised, the admission being 50 cents, $1.00, and $2.00, an immense throng was in waiting when the sale of tickets began. The series is the most unique in the history of baseball. In former similar events all the details for the games were made by the contesting clubs. In this series all the rules and regulations have for the first time been adopted by the two leagues.

During the series, Manager Mack, of the Philadelphia club, will depend upon Plank, Bender and Coakley to pitch for his team, and Manager McGraw of New York, places his dependence upon Matthewson, McGinnity and Taylor. Waddell appears to be entirely out of condition and is not expected to pitch in any of the games.

At 1 o'clock, two hours before the game was scheduled to start, the pavilion was crowded. The waiting spectators were entertained by the home players who came out for light practice at 12.30. The bleachers were crowded to their capacity and the late comers were allowed to sit or stand behind the ropes in the outfield or sit on the fence. The National league champions arrived on the grounds at 2.05. They were arrayed in new uniforms of black and wore white stockings and white caps. Across their breasts were the letters "N. Y." in white. The New York team was accompanied by the Catholic Protectory band of New York, which gave a concert that did not end until the teams took their positions to battle for the world's first honors in baseball. The members of teams before taking their regular practice held a little reception at the plate. There was a general shaking of hands.

There were about twenty-two thousand persons present when play began. The batting order of the teams was as follows:

New York—Bresnahan c, Browne, rf; Donlin, cf; McGann, 1b; Mertes, lf; Dahlen, ss; Devlin, 3b; Gilbert, 2b; Matthewson, p.

Philadelphia—Hartsell, lf; Lord, cf; Davis, 1b; L. Cross, 3b; Seybold, rf; Murphy, 2b; M. Cross, ss; Schreckengost, c; Plank, p.

John Sheridan of the American league umpired behind the plate and Hank O'Day of the National league looked after the base decisions. The umpires decided that a hit into the crowd shall count for two bases. Play began at 3.05.

FIRST INNING.

New York went to bat. Bresnahan was hit by the first pitched ball, but was forced at second by Brown, M. Cross to Murphy. Donlin filed to Davis, holding Brown on first. McGann hit into the right field crowd for two bases, Brown taking third. M. Mertes struck out. No runs.

Hartsell out, Gilbert to McGann on a close play. Lord field to Donlin. Davis out, Matthewson to McGann. No runs.

SECOND INNING.

Dahlen struck out. Devlin and Gilbert bunted safely and worked a double steal. Matthewson struck out. Plank purposely walked, Bresnahan filling the bases. Browne out, M. Cross to Davis. No runs.

L. Cross out, Dahlen to McGann; Seybold filed to Dahlen, Murphy out, Gilbert to McGann. No runs.

THIRD INNING.

First half—Donlin out on grounder to Davis; McGann out, L. Cross to Davis; Murphy threw Mertes out at first. No runs.

M. Cross out Devlin to McGann; Donlin dropped Schreck's fly in short centre field. Schreck reaching first safely. Plank hit into a double play, forcing Schreck at second. No runs.

FOURTH INNING.

Dahlen out, Murphy to Davis; Devlin struck out; Gilbert thrown out by M. Cross to Davis. No runs.

Hartsel singled to centre, the first hit for Philadelphia. Lord bunted to Gilbert forcing Hartsel at second. Davis forced Lord, Dahlen to Gilbert. Dahlen threw L. Cross out. No runs.

FIFTH INNING.

New York—Matthewson singled to centre but was forced at second by Bresnahan, M. Cross to Murphy. Bresnahan stole second. Brown filed to M. Cross. Donlin scored Bresnahan on a single to left and took second on the throw in. McGann reached first on balls. Lord dropped Mertes' fly and Donlin scored. Dahlen filed to Hartsel. Two runs.

Philadelphia—Seybold out, Matthewson to McGann. The ball struck Matthewson and hurt him so badly that he quickly retired to the bench and McGinty began to warm up. Mathewson soon recovered and resumed. Murphy struck out the first man that Matthewson faunced. M. Cross out. Devlin to McGann. No runs.

SIXTH INNING.

Devlin filed to Lord. Gilbert singled to left and was thrown out trying to steal second, Schreck to Monte Cross. M. Cross threw Matthewson out after a sensational stop. No runs.

Philadelphia: Schreck doubled to center and took third on Plank's sacrifice, Bresnahan to McGann. Hartsel hit to Matthewson who threw Schreck out at the plate. Lord forced Hartsel at second, Dahlen to Gilbert. No runs.

SEVENTH INNING.

New York: Bresnahan filed to Lord. Browne out, M. Cross to Davis. Donlin bunted safely and stole second. McGann out, L. Cross to Davis. No runs.

Philadelphia: Davis struck out—L. Cross out, Gilbert to McGann. Seybold thrown out by Devlin. No runs.

EIGHTH INNING.

New York: Murphy threw Mertes out. Dahlen filed to M. Cross. Devlin struck out. No runs.

Philadelphia: Murphy hit into the right field crowd for two bases. Cross struck out. Schreck filed to Browne, holding Murphy on second. Plank struck out. No runs.

NINTH INNING.

New York: Gilbert singled to left center and took second on Matthewson's sacrifice. Plank to Davis. Bresnahan singled to center, scoring Gilbert, Bresnahan taking second on the throw in. Browne went out on a grounder to first, Bresnahan going to third. Murphy threw Donlin out. One run.

Philadelphia: Hartsel out, Dahlen to McGann. Lord struck out. Davis hit into the right field crowd for a double. L. Cross was thrown out by Devlin. No runs.

The score by innings:

"MONK" GIBSON

Negro Wanted For Murder Arrested

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 9.—A special from Houston, Tex., says that the negro "Monk" Gibson, charged with the murder of the Conditt family near Edna, Texas, has been caught by a posse and placed in jail at Edna. A mob has surrounded the jail.

HEAVY RAIN

SANITARY WORK IN NEW ORLEANS SUSPENDED.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—Rain has fallen here incessantly for the past 24 hours and all sanitary work has again been suspended. The weekly statistics sustain Dr. White's assurance that the fever is being steadily wiped out. For the week ending Oct. 7 a total of 176 new cases and 22 deaths were reported, against 183 new cases and 24 deaths in the preceding week, the showing being the best since the first week in August. From all infected points in the country come reports of steady progress. Today's report follows:

New cases since 6 p. m., Sunday seven; total to date, 3202; deaths today, none; total, 410.

MAYHEW DEFEATED CROWELL.

COTTAGE CITY, Mass., Oct. 9.—The contest for the republican nomination for representation from Dukes county was decided at the county convention today, with E. Mayhew of West Tisbury being the successful candidate. He won on the first ballot by a vote of 17 to 9 for T. D. Crowell of Cottage City.

NEW HABERDASHER.

Th ladies are not the only ones interested in the prevailing styles of headwear, neckwear, etc. Men, too, have their fancies, some more than others. For a strictly first-class up-to-date gents' furnishing store, C. E. Dickson's, 62 Central street and 63 Prescott street, which opened Saturday evening, is as attractive as any in the city. Mr. Dickson is a young man of wide experience in this line of business, having worked in some of the principal houses of Boston and Providence, R. I. He is a Lowell boy and now comes back to his native city to establish a business of his own. Mr. Dickson is a keen, conservative business man and seems to have the right idea of what the people want. His store is well stocked with a choice line of gents' furnishings of every description. His prices, too, are right. His goods are attractively displayed in neat show cases, displaying the hand of an artist in his line.

Mr. Dickson's motto is to carry a full stock and to have everything in his line that the people want at reasonable prices. He extends a cordial invitation to everybody to call and see his new store.

LOWELL CORPORATIONS.

At the office of the Secretary of State certificates of incorporation were issued to these Lowell companies last week:

Barber Manufacturing Co., cotton goods, capital $5000. Incorporators—William Barber, Joseph Barber and George Harris. This industry is situated in the Harris building, at the corner of Pawtucket and Perkins street. It has been in operation under the management of Mr. William Barber for the last seven years.

The other company is the Pentucket Narrow Fabric Mills, capital $5000. Incorporators—William T. Sheppard, David W. Dewar and Alfred R. Philbrick.

TEXTILE GOSSIP

News From Several Mill Centers

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 9.—The engagement of William Evans, recently superintendent of the Bourne mills, as general superintendent of the Hargraves-Parker-Peabody combination of mills, with power which it is stated, will be quite extensive, is being discussed very freely by stockholders in these mills. That a change of some kind was in the air has been evident for some time, and the hiring of a new superintendent of recognized ability is understood to have been the plan of the directors to place the mills in a better position to handle contracts. The Hargraves and Parker mills were bonded a few years ago for the purpose of reducing the floating indebtedness and giving a working capital for the purpose of carrying goods. A fine goods mill at times is compelled to tie up large amounts of money in finished products. Since the bonding of the mills they paid dividends for a short time, but have not been in the list of dividend-paying corporations for quite a period. Little is known here in regard to the Peabody mills of Newburyport, which are under the same management. Stockholders will, no doubt, watch with the deepest interest, the progress of the local mills under the new conditions.

NEW PICKER COMPANY.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 9.—The Norfolk Loom Picker Co. has been incorporated:

Principal office, Norfolk. Incorporators: J. P. Williams, president; J. W. Jenkins, vice-president, both of Norfolk. Capital stock: Maximum, $50,000; minimum, $10,000. Objects and purposes: To acquire land for the erection of buildings and machinery for the manufacture of textile specialties of leather, wood, steel or other raw material.

MILLS CHANGE HANDS.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 9.—The New England Cotton Yarn company has purchased the Canoe River mills of Taunton, and from now on they will be operated as department 10 of the New England Cotton Yarn Co. There have been no changes in the administrative force at the factory in consequence of the new ownership.

WILL BUILD PLANT.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 9.—G. W. Paget of New York, who has been in the city several days has decided to put a textile mill here, and has asked Secretary Gullick of the Commercial club for information regarding the situation; a site has been selected for the mill at a point near the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf and the Midland Valley railroads. The tract has 25 acres of land and is near the city.

COTTON REPORT

Bulletin Issued by the Census Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The census bureau today issued a bulletin showing the production and distribution of the cotton of the United States available between September 1, 1904, and September 1, 1905, to be 14,456,994 bales. Of this sixty-one per cent. was exported, thirty per cent. was used in domestic consumption, leaving a surplus of nine per cent. The domestic consumption includes 36,776 bales destroyed by fire.

BEEF PACKERS

Arguments On the Indictments Begun

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. — Arguments against the indictment of the packers charged with conspiracy to monopolize the meat trade of the country began today before federal judge Humphrey. John S. Miller, counsel for the defendants, opened the arguments, using the demurrer filed last Friday as a basis.

CUT HIS THROAT

Providence Man Was in Ill Health

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9.—Alexander Machon, a cabinet maker, aged 47 years, committed suicide at his home here early today by cutting his throat with a razor, death occurring before the arrival of medical aid. The man had not been feeling well for some few weeks and had lately complained of pain in his head. During last night Mrs. Machon was awakened by her husband's groans and found that he had cut his throat.

Machon leaves a widow and two children.

HOTEL BURNED

SEVERAL GUESTS FLED FROM THE BUILDING.

COLEBROOK, N. H., Oct. 9—The Monadnock House, a four story wooden hotel situated in this town was damaged to the extent of $8000 by fire early today. Several guests were obliged to leave the building hastily but no one was injured. The central part of the main building was burned out. The fire started in a store room in the basement from an unknown cause.

FROM YESTERDAY'S LATE EDITION

DRACUT AROUSED

Special Town Meeting Has Been Called

The town of Dracut will hold a special town meeting tomorrow evening and the call has aroused the greatest interest among the taxpayers.

It seems that it was not generally known that a movement was on foot to have the voters meet in special session and when the warrant was posted those who were not on the "inside" began to suspect things and questioned their neighbors as to what it all meant.

The warrant says among other things that the people of the town will be asked to vote on the question whether or not money should be expended for road work in the vicinity of the proposed county highway and it is this proposition that has stirred the people of the town outside the district where the work will be done.

Those who are opposed to the plan say that before the town goes further in debt it should make some effort to pay off bills that it now owes.

All the voters are being seen either by the people who are behind the proposition or those who are opposed to it and the result will be one of the liveliest town meetings that Dracut has had in some time. Those who are fighting the article in the warrant say that it is imperative that every man should make a special effort to be present in order to defeat what they call an "unnecessary expense."

FIRES IN BILLERICA

Three Blazes Kept Firemen Busy Yesterday

The Billerica fire department was given more than its share of work yesterday and kept busy from shortly after noon until night time.

A fire broke out in the woods at Fox Hill in the rear of the Fox Hill cemetery and grew to such an extent that the fire bells were rung in both the centre and north villages and the entire fire departments of both villages were summoned to the scene. The fire burnedy over sixty acres of woodland and raged fiercely for several hours. The Billerica fire fighters state that the woods were never so dry at this time of year as they are at present and more brush fires are feared.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon an incendiary fire was discovered in the ice houses at Pinehurst park near the Burlington line and the fire fighters were summoned. They succeeded in extinguishing the flames in an hour or more and then returned to the village.

About 6.30 o'clock another fire was discovered at the park and upon going there the firemen discovered that the band stand had been set on fire. As it was evident that there were incendiaries about, bent on wreaking destruction at the park, Officers Conway and Livingston remained there until late in the evening on the lookout for the incendiaries.

SUPERIOR COURT

Police Officers Testify Against Plaintiff in Case

"She is an habitual drunkard."

"I never saw the woman sober in my life."

The two above damaging statements were uttered by Police Officers Walsh and Keene of the Woburn police force in the case of McLaughlin vs. Boston & Northern Street Railroad company, at the superior court before Judge Fox today.

The plaintiff in one of the cases is Mary McLaughlin of Woburn, who claims that she was a passenger on the car of the defendant company in Medford on October 21, 1904, when the circuit breaker on the platform of the car blew out, burning her face and causing other injuries. Her husband also entered a suit for alleged cost of medicine and medical attendance, also the loss of her society.

The case opened this morning and Mrs. McLaughlin testified in regard to the accident, while her husband corroborated her testimony to a certain extent. The plaintiff's cases were in this morning before adjournment.

This afternoon Counsel Fred N. Wier for the defense explained to the jury how it was a physical impossibility for a person to get burned by the flashing of the electricity in the boxes on the platform. The witnesses were sworn and Police Officer Keene of Woburn took the stand. He testified: "I hardly ever saw Mrs. McLaughlin sober. I have been on the beat where her house is located for several years and I have been called to the house frequently. Her husband has complained to me and so has her son."

Cross-examined by Counsel James J. Irwin for the plaintiff the witness stated that he was a police officer of Woburn and was perfectly familiar with his duties and what he swore to do when he was appointed a police officer.

"Why did you not arrest Mrs. McLaughlin if you saw her drunk repeatedly?"

"Because she was in her house."

"Have you not got orders to arrest all persons who are drunk?"

"No, sir; if they are in their houses or if they can get to their homes I do not arrest them."

Police Officer Walsh then took the stand and testified that the plaintiff is an habitual drunkard. His testimony was along the same line as the previous witness.

"What reputation does Officer Keene bear among the members of the Woburn police force?" asked Mr. Irwin.

"He is——"

"I object," interfered Mr. Wier.

"What is his reputation for veracity among the people of Woburn?" asked Mr. Irwin.

"I object," said Mr. Wier.

But despite the fact that he objected the witness shouted at the top of his voice, "He bears the reputation of being one of the best officers in the city of Woburn.

WIFE WAS DEAD

Sudden End of Mrs. Cyrille Grolot

Mrs. Cyrille Grolot, aged 24 years, 11 months and 12 days, was found dead in bed at her home, 11 Maiden Lane, about three o'clock this morning by her husband. Death was due to heart failure.

Mrs. Grolot was in what appeared to be the best of health last night and retired at her usual hour, and it was not until her husband arose this morning that he discovered that she was dead. Medical Examiner Irish was called and viewed the remains.

DUTCHY'S FARM

LOWELL PARTY ROYALLY ENTERTAINED YESTERDAY.

"Dutchy" McDonald, the well known local expert on pork, chickens and other things entertained a party of friends from Lowell at his farm in Merrimack, N. H., in a very pretty country about 21 miles north. The guests went up in autos and one party of four made the trip in Henry Dunham's celebrated Ford car in an even hour, making a stop of three or four minutes enroute. Mr. Dunham is an expert chauffeur and his machine is one of the fastest in Lowell.

At the farm the city folks were royally entertained and they enjoyed a delightful day as "Dutchy's" guests. "Dutchy" is the proud owner of what will be one of the cracker-jack poultry farms of New England when he gets time to attend to it and at present has 700 birds. Everywhere one looked were chickens in small armies. There was only one disappointment connected with the affair and that was the non-appearance of "Jack" Stack, the Concord street philosopher who was expected to be present to play the piano. Mr. Stack has just purchased a new touring car and being a novice at running it collided with a stone post, injuring the tires so that he could not proceed further. He wired his regrets and as the telegraph office was closed "Dutchy" won't get them until he returns to Merrimack next Saturday evening.

TO REMOVE POLES

BELONGING TO OLD ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH CO.

At the last meeting of the committee on wires at city hall the inspector of wires was instructed to confer with the representatives of the old Atlantic Telegraph company relative to the removal of poles in Twelfth street. A hearing in the matter will be given in a few days.

$100 GIFT

J. L. CHALIFOUX SENDS IT TO THE FIREMEN.

The following self-explanatory letter has been received by Chief Engineer E. S. Hosmer, of the fire department from Joseph L. Chalifoux, owner of Barristers hall:

Lowell, Oct. 9, 1905.

E. S. Hosmer, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Enclosed please find my check for $100 for the Firemen's Fund association. The good work of the firemen in the Barristers hall fire, Sunday morning, merits great praise. Kindly extend to them my heartfelt appreciation.

Yours truly,

J. L. CHALIFOUX.

FUNERALS

CALLAHAN—The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Callahan took place this morning at 9.15 o'clock from her late home, 4 West Burnside street. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9.45 o'clock at St. Michael's church by Rev. Fr. Mullin. The choir sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "O Meritum Passionis" was sung by Mr. Thomas P. Bouiger. "He Wipes The Tear From Every Eye," was sung at the conclusion of the service by Miss Nano M. Gallagher and as the remains were leaving the church the choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

Among the many beautiful floral offerings the following were the most prominent: Pillow, bearing the inscription "Dear Wife," from the husband of the deceased; spray of pinks, inscribed "Dear Mamma," children of the deceased; standing cross on base, inscribed "Our Sister," Nora and Margaret Sullivan; broken circle on base, inscribed "Niece," Margaret Sullivan, Mrs. Gonheron and Mrs. Sullivan, the latter of Boston; standing harp on base, inscribed "Cousin," Nora Murphy; basket of cut flowers, Margaret Loweney; wreath of roses and pinks, Mrs. Fitzgerald and a spray from friends.

The bearers were Messrs. Daniel, Dennis and Cornelius Murphy, James Conlon, John Manning and John Deady.

The interment was in the Catholic cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Mullin. The funeral was under the direction of funeral directors Charles H. Molloy & Sons.

SHEA—The funeral of Catherine Shea, child of Joseph and Mary, took place this afternoon at two o'clock from the home of her parents, 101 Whipple st. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of funeral directors Charles H. Molloy & Sons.

DEATHS

COOK—Elizabeth Cook, wife of Robert Cook, died very suddenly today at her home, 2 West street. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, three sons, Robert, Edward and John and three daughters, Sarah, Josephine and Elizabeth.

BROKE HIS ANKLE.

George White, residing in Manchester, slipped and fell in front of the Middlesex street station this afternoon, and broke his left ankle. He was removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital.

HORSE FELL DOWN.

About noon today a bay horse hitched to a light express wagon unmarked except by a license, numbered 21 was coming down Mansur street and when about to turn into Nesmith street the horse stumbled and fell, striking on its knees and head, causing several abrasions of the skin. With the assistance of passersby the animal was assisted to its feet.

FAVORITES LOST

Surprises At the Dover Races Yesterday

DOVER, N. H., Oct. 10—The 10-day meeting at Granite State park, which is to close racing over mile tracks in the north, opened yesterday afternoon in a manner which bespeaks some brilliant sport.

Favorites did not fare particularly well, in fact only one was lucky enough to escape without a sound thrashing, and there is still an opportunity for this one to "get his." The lone hope of the talent is game old Midnight. At sunset he had two heats of the 2.14 trot to his credit while Chestnut, Lake Queen and Bingham had only one each.

The popular selections in the pace were Elizabeth S. and Haj Patron. The latter had no luck, while the mare from Salem, Mass., had a bit of hard racing luck.

She won the first heat very handily, cutting her record to 2.12¾. Then, waiting on a lot of bad actors in scoring for the second heat, she lost her temper and joined the band of unruly ones. Could she have gotten away on her stride and in her place she would have been a factor through the race.

Adverta was tipped off as the good one of the slow trot, but she was just a trifle shy on speed and could not get her nose to the front, although dangerous.

Cox won the first heat of this event so comfortably in 2.16½ with Gussoro that the Boston roadster was the best liked, but when it came to a drive in the second mile the daughter of Witchmont passed the issue without an effort, the inbred Guy Wilkes gelding Neufachatel winning in 2.17½. He was able to repeat so that a couple of slower miles ended the race.

Pearl Tipping, a nice-going mare, by old Nicol B., won the pacing class, being forced to a record of 2.10¾ in the third heat by Miss Syracuse. The latter is more than a fair side-wheeler and some day will turn a trick.

The 2.14 trotters raced five heats, when darkness called halt. Bingham tramped off the opening mile in 2.14½; Lake Queen the second in 2.12¾, a new record for her. Then Cox got Midnight to the front, giving the son of Alcantara a mark of 2.12¾, and repeated back in 2.13¾.

Everyone looked to see him wind the contest up the next trip, but he made a bad break over on the back stretch and Lester Dore rode home in front with Chestnut in 2.15.

HORSES BURNED

$50,000 Fire in South Boston Yesterday

BOSTON, Oct. 10—The foundry of R. Estabrook's Sons, 201 West First street, South Boston, was burned yesterday morning and a number of wooden stables in the vicinity and several business places were damaged. Thirty horses in the stables perished and about fifty were rescued before the dense smoke overcame them.

The flames originated in the foundry and spread so rapidly throughout the plant and to adjoining buildings that three alarms were ordered, summoning assistance from the city proper.

The fire was placed under control within an hour.

The total loss is not known but it is thought that it will not exceed $50,000.

HUGHES DECLINES

He Will Not Run for Mayor of New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigating committee today declined the republican nomination for mayor of New York city.

In stating his grounds for refusing the nomination, which was tendered to him, by the unanimous vote of the city republican convention last Friday night, Mr. Hughes said:

"In this dilemma, I have simply to do my duty as I see it.

"In my judgment, I have no right to accept the nomination. A paramount public duty forbids it.

"It is not necessary to enlarge upon the importance of the insurance investigation. This is undisputed. It is dealing with questions vital to the interest of the millions of our fellow citizens through the land. It presents an opportunity for public service second to none and involves a corelative responsibility. This work commands all my energies. It is imperative that I continue in it. You have frankly recognized that it must continue unembarassed and with unimpaired efficiency. But it is entirely clear to me that this cannot be if I accept the nomination.

"You know how desirous I have been that the investigation should not be colored by any suggestion of political motive. Whatever confidence it has inspired has been due to absolute independence of political consideration. It is not sufficient to say that an acceptance of this nomination coming to me unsought would not deflect my course by a hair's breadth and that I should remain entirely untrammelled. The non political character of the investigation and its freedom from bias, either of fear or favor, not only must exist, they must be recognized. I cannot permit them, by any action of mine, to become matters of debate.

"There are abundant opportunities for misconstruction. Doubtless many abuses will remain undisclosed, many grievous wrongs to which the evidence points from time to time may be found unsusceptible of proof; many promising clues will be taken up in vain. To many it would appear that its course would be shaped and its lines of inquiry would be chosen, developed or abandoned as political ambition might prompt or political exigency demand.

"Such a situation would be intolerable. There is but one course open. The legislative inquiry must proceed with convincing disinterestedness. Its great opportunities must not be imperilled by alienating the support to which it is entitled, or by giving the slightest occasion for questioning the sincerity and single mindedness with which it is conducted.

"For your expression of confidence I thank you. The honor you would confer upon me, I most highly esteem. Your generous approval and the unanamilty and enthusiasm with which the nomination was made, I warmly appreciate. But I have assumed obligations of the first importance, which make it impossible for me to meet your wishes. I must therefore respectfully decline the nomination."

RAMSEY BEATEN

His Petition for an Injunction Denied

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—In the St. Louis circuit court today, Judge Daniel G. Taylor denied the application of Joseph Ramsey, Jr., deposed president of the Wabash R. R., for an injunction to restrain the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain roads or their trustees from voting Wabash stock held by or for those roads in the annual Wabash election to be held in Toledo tomorrow. News of the decision was telegraphed at once to Toledo, where Geo. J. Gould and his supporters and his personal advisers are awaiting the decision. The failure of the injunction suit, which, if successful, would have tied up a large block of Gould stock, is regarded as a most important victory for the Gould interests.

Judge Taylor in his decision discusses at some length the plaintiff's contentions, particularly the charge that the Wabash R. R. company and the Missouri Pacific Railway company are parallel and connecting lines within the meaning of the provisions of the constitution of Missouri.

The decision concludes thus:

"The court finds the record in this case so replete with evidence of violations of the publications of certain of the Missouri laws, enacted for the protection of the public that it has been loath to reach the conclusions herein expressed.

"The record developes the fact that at the last annual election of the Wabash R. R. company, the plaintiff, Ramsey, holding the proxies of the then and now owners of these very shares of stock, the voting of which he now seeks to have enjoined, voted all of them for the election of the very persons, whom he now charges will be elected and will so conduct the property of the Wabash road as not only to violate the provisions of the laws of Missouri but also to injure him. I am of the view that this action of plaintiff's is sufficient to compel the court to deny him the relief which he seeks in the absence of proof, showing that something has transpired since the time of such voting of this stock by him, which would indicate that the purpose of those who will be elected by the voting of this stock at the meeting to be held on the tenth of October, will be different from those of the persons elected by the plaintiff.

"The order will therefore be that the rule heretofore made upon the defendants to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued will be vacated and plaintiff's application for a temporary injunction denied.

(Signed) "DANIEL G. TAYLOR."

RAMSEY SILENT

WILL NOT DISCUSS THE COURT DECISION.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 9.—Joseph Ramsey, Jr., when shown the despatch announcing Judge Taylor's decision in the Wabash fight, smiled pleasantly and remarked:

"There is nothing that I can say. The decision seems to speak for itself. Of course, this thing is not in any way decisive. It merely disposes of one trick in the game."

Mr. Ramsey seemed to take the decision as a matter which made very little difference to him in any way. None of the important members of the Gould interests has as yet arrived in the city save Colonel Blodgett of St. Louis, the general counsel of the road, and he, like Mr. Ramsey, seemed to take the decision with no evidence of surprise.

The application for the removal of the three inspectors of election, Messrs. Reynolds, Colton and Newton, who have officiated at many annual meetings of the Wabash road which was argued for the greater part of the day in the court of common pleas before Judge Kinkine, who on Saturday declared that he saw no reason why three other inspectors should not be appointed, provided Mr. Ramsey could show that he represented one-tenth of the stock to be voted at the election.

This morning his attorneys submitted a list of names in addition to that of Mr. Ramsey with an affidavit that they were all holders of stock in the Wabash road and in the aggregate represented much more than one-tenth of the capital stock. They asked that attorneys for the Wabash road be compelled to bring into court the stock book of the railroad company, to show that these men were actual stockholders.

The attorneys for the Wabash road declared that they had not been served with proper notice to bring in the stock book and denied that the court had jurisdiction in the case. The argument lasted for the greater part of the day.

SUPREME COURT

Will Act in the Rogers Case Soon

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 9.—One of the motions to come before the supreme court at Washington is that filed in the case of Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, who is under sentence of death for the murder of her husband. By the terms of the second reprieve granted by Governor Bell in the case, Mrs. Rogers will be hanged December 8. An extension of time was permitted to give opportunity for the supreme court to pass upon a writ of habeas corpus for which Mrs. Rogers' attorneys petitioned in the federal court of Vermont. The pending motion which was filed by Attorney-General Clark Fitts, asks for a speedy hearing on the habeas corpus question, so that a final decion may be had by December 8. Mr. Fitts left for Washington today to argue on the motion. Mrs. Rogers seeks her release by habeas corpus upon the ground that during her trial her constitutional rights were violated.

HALL OF FAME

NAMES OF WHITTIER AND LOWELL WERE SELECTED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The names of John Greenleaf Whittier and James Russell Lowell have been chosen to be inscribed in the Hall of Fame of the New York university. Official information was made today that Whittier's name had been chosen by a vote of 52 out of 98 of the board of electors, and that Mr. Lowell had received 58 votes. Fifty-one votes, or a majority of the full board of electors of 100 is necessary for election. Two classes were considered for election and these men ere elected in the author's class. There was no election in the class of teachers, none of the names submitted receiving the required number of votes. The nearest to an election was the name of Phillips Brooks, which received 49. In the author's class the name of Edgar Allen Poe over which there had been considerable controversy, received 43 votes.

CALL ON PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—The supreme court of the U. S. convened today for the term of 1905 and 1906, with all the members present. No business was transacted beyond the making of an announcement by Chief Justice Fuller that the court would adjourn until tomorrow to comply with their long established custom of calling in a body upon the president.

SANITARY CONVENTION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Delegates from twelve South American republics from the army and navy and from the American Public Health and Marine hospital service, attended the opening session of the second general international sanitary convention here today. Surgeon General Walter Lyman, chairman of the international health bureau presided.

The address of welcome on behalf of the Washington government was made by Mr. Root, the Secretary of State. Mr. Taylor, assistant secretary of the Treasury, also welcomed on behalf of the public health and marine hospital service. The response was made by Mr. Quesada, the Cuban minister.

In opening Surgeon General Wyman enumerated the various services rendered to the public health by the work of the sanitary convention. The co-operation on behalf of the American and Mexican health officials of the two countries he said, had saved many lives in both countries.

INSURANCE BODY

It is Sound Says Senator Armstrong

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Senator Armstrong, chairman of the insurance investigating committee, left for New York last night on insurance matters. Before leaving Chairman Armstrong issued this statement:

"I regret very much to see other states apply drastic remedies in advance of action in this state. Our committee was appointed to investigate conditions in the insurance business and to propose remedial legislation. I sincerely hope other states will wait until we have had an opportunity to complete our work.

"These insurance companies are perfectly solvent and are able to carry out every contract they have made or may make.

There is no reason for refusing to permit them to continue to do business. If Nevada proposes to do one thing, Missouri another thing, and some other states still another thing, there will be a chaotic condition of affairs.

"Our committee will make the most thorough investigation possible and when we are through, we shall make it our business to adopt such legislation as will safeguard the policy holders and make the insurance business safer and sounder and more attractive than it has ever been before. If other states jump in before we can complete our work or can adopt any legislation, everything will be confusion in the insurance business of the country.

"Our committee was not appointed to tear down the insurance business of the country but to build it up. We are simply tearing down some of the rotten timbers to get the right foundation on which to build. The insurance body is sound but it is afflicted with some ulcers. We are performing a surgical operation for the removal of these ulcers from the body, not trying to kill the insurance body."

TYPO'S STRIKE

25 MEN QUIT WORK IN WORCESTER.

WORCESTER, Oct. 9—In accordance with a vote of the Worcester Typographical union taken yesterday, 25 job printers went out on strike this morning, affecting seven of the leading printing establishments in the city. The strike is the result of the refusal of the Master Printers to grant the demand for an eight hour day with no diminution in wages and the closed shop, only union men to be employed.

The George C. Whitney art publishing company and the Belisle Printing and publishing company, are badly tied up.

BURN CHURCHES

PRES. STRYKER SAYS PEOPLE SHOULD WORSHIP IN ONE BIG ONE.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 9—"It would be better if five thousand churches were burned," was the startling statement of Pres. W. M. Stryker of Hamilton college, made during his sermon at the First Congregational church, here yesterday morning.

Dr. Stryker had for his text, "The modern interpretation of Providence."

He was telling that the tendency of this age has been division and war.

"This tendency is apparent even in the body of Christ, the church. In too many places churches have been erected, a number entirely beyond the need of communities now and for a long time to come. Many are living at a poor, dying rate and it would be better if five thousand of them were burned and if the people would get together in one large church. By so doing, the cause of Christ and humanity would be far better conserved."

PRINCE LOUIS

ARMORED CRUISER SQUADRON TO TAKE PART IN RECEPTION.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—Rear-Admiral Willard H. Brownson, commanding the armored cruiser Squadron, announced today that his ships would assemble and organize at this port in a short time to engage in fleet tactics and other practise work. The cruisers West Virginia and Pennsylvania already are here and today went outside for preliminary practise. The Maryland which is at present undergoing repairs at the New York navy yard is expected here the latter part of the week to join in the manoeuvres.

In conjunction with the battleship squadron, it is expected the cruiser squadron will take part in the entertainment of Prince Louis of Battenburg commanding the visiting British fleet at New York.

NEW ROAD

GOULD TO HAVE ONE IN OREGON.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 9.—The Oregonian today says that although the local representatives of the Gould interests disclaim any knowledge of the intentions of the Western Pacific R. R. as to building a road into Oregon, it is ascertained from other sources that terminal properties are being obtained in Portland and that right of way agents will soon come from California to begin preliminary negotiations for the proposed route.

BY FRAUD

MEN ARE ACCUSED OF SECURING MONEY FROM BANK PRES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Two detectives from Providence, R. I., have arrived here to take back D. L. Rice and W. O. Gilman, held here on charges of obtaining $6,500 from the president of the U. S. National Bank of Providence on alleged fraudulent railroad stock. They expect to leave with their prisoners today.

FINAL WEEK

LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION TO CLOSE.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 9—This week will mark the close of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, after a successful career, not anticipated by even the most enthusiastic supporters of the project. Before the closing day is over the fair will have recorded an attendance of practically 2,250,000 persons which considering the fact that the combined population of the old Oregon territory is hardly equal to that number, is almost phenomenal.

SKELETON FOUND

Discovered In Marshes by Boys

LYNN, Oct. 9—What is believed to be the skeleton of a human being was found yesterday in the Lynn marshes, at a point about midway between the Lynn turnpike and Oak Island.

The backbone and ribs, with a portion of the neck vertebrae, were intact, and nearby were two bones which are supposed to be the upper arms.

The discovery was made by boys who had been searching the marshes for any trace of the missing portions of the Winthrop victim.

With all haste the boys made their way to the Lynn turnpike, where they informed Harry Harding and John T. Sullivan of their discovery. Word was at once telephoned to the Revere town police, and Chief Rhoades detailed officer Parker to investigate.

At the police station the report of what had been discovered was made to Chief Rhoades, who gave his opinion that if the bones were of a human being, they were of an Indian, as in Revolutionary times the location was the scene of Indian warfare, and other skeletons had, he said, been found in the vicinity.

MAN STABBED

BECAUSE HE TRIED TO KISS THE BRIDE.

BOSTON, Oct. 9—Because he tried to kiss the bride at a Polish wedding, when one of the guests remonstrated, led to a row in which Thomas Gocust received several knife wounds that came near costing his life. Saturday night there was a Polish wedding on River street which the police say has never been eclipsed in point of joviality. The many guests stayed late, for the bride was pretty and the groom was generous.

When the wedding party was about to break up, a kissing fever broke loose and there was a stampede of the guests toward the bride, who was threatened with being swept through a window when the police arrived and put an end to the festivities. The guests abandoned the new home of the bride and groom reluctantly, and there were several fights in the street before they were driven into their homes near by.

About 2 o'clock this morning Officer Lyons heard groans coming from the dwelling at 16 Camden street. He went in and found Thomas Gocust bleeding from several knife wounds in the body. He was unconscious and slowly losing blood to such an extent as to threaten death. He was sent to the hospital and 27 stitches taken in three cuts. A wound in the left breast required 18 stitches to close, and had it been a little deeper would have been fatal, the doctors said. Later the police arrested Frank Jason and charged him with the assault.

FRANCIS TRIAL

DEFENDANT ACCUSED OF "GET RICH QUICK" METHODS.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Stanley Francis, alias Arthur S. Foster, etc., was today placed on trial before Judge Holland in the United States district court, charged with having used the mails to defraud in connection with "get rich quick" enterprises. The principal charges against Foster are that he was the principal in the Storey Cotton company which is alleged to have defrauded a large number of persons throughout the country and that he was also connected with the Provident Investment bureau. Indicted with Francis are Frank C. Marrin, alias Judge Franklin Stone, Sophia Beck, F. Ewart Storey, Walter D. Riggs, Thomas H. Quinlan, Patrick Kearns and A. H. Howard, who are alleged to have been connected with the Storey Cotton company. With the exception of Kearns, who is under bail, in Brooklyn, all of these are fugitives from justice.

William J. Bradley of Camden, who was appointed receiver of the Storey Cotton company, reported that during the four years of its existence the Storey company obtained from the public $3,653,798 and there is yet due its "customers" $2,926,578.

YALE MEN

PRESIDENT HADLEY WANTS THE DISTURBERS PUNISHED.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 9.—Although no Yale students were arrested by the police this morning for participating in the freshman disturbances, in and around Pierson Hall on York street, Sunday evening, detectives were busy gathering evidence and no disposition was shown to let the matter drop either on the part of the city or the college authorities. The failure to make arrests at once was due to the difficulty of identifying individual mischief makers in the mass of freshmen who terrorized the neighborhood.

Today President Hadley called Chief of Police Wrinn by telephone and expressed the hope that the police would do all in their power to bring offenders to justice. President Hadley said that the college faculty also would take up the matter promptly for vigorous action.

SECRETARY TAFT

WILL START FOR PANAMA ON NOVEMBER 14.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Secretary Taft will sail on a naval vessel from New Orleans for Panama about November 14. It is not his intention to remain very long on the isthmus, his main object being to talk with Governor Magoon and Engineer Stevens and to look over the situation as it now exists.

CARD OF THANKS.

The undersigned are once again constrained to thank their many friends for the consoling sympathy extended them on the occasion of their second bereavement within a short period in the death of their beloved daughter, Miss Nellie Louisa. For this uplifting sympathy, for numerous acts of kindness, for the beautiful floral tributes and the assistance of Charles F. Keyes, who had charge of the funeral arrangements, we are deeply grateful.

Signed,
Mr. and Mrs. John Slack.

IN HARRIMAN'S HONOR.

TOKIO, Oct. 9—3 p. m.—Count Inouye will give a garden party tomorrow, October 10, at his artistic residence, in honor of E. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific R. R. Co. The guests upon the occasion will include the leading society people and business men of the city.

DONNELLY FREE

Court Declines to Issue a Warrant

BOSTON, Oct. 9—Judge Ely of the municipal court declined today to issue a warrant for the arrest of Councilman J. Donnelly on the charge of manslaughter. Donnelly was detained yesterday in connection with the death of Patrick Grindey, a laborer, who it was alleged was pushed to the ground during an encounter in the South End, receiving fatal injuries. The court found no evidence to charge Donnelly with the crime.

TWO MEN LOST

They Were Out Hauling Trauls

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 9—With her flag flying at half mast, the schooner Arbutus came into port today. Captain Charles Flygare reporting the loss of two men, Benjamin Benson and Benjamin Olsen. On September 16, the two men were out hauling trawls off the Eastern bank, when a thick fog set in separating the two men from the schooner. Captain Flygare made an unsuccessful search but a heavy gale prevailed for the next two days and he was forced to give up the men as lost. Both men were single and natives of Norway. Benson was 28 years old and had sailed from this port for five years while Olsen was 44 and had been a fisherman from Gloucester for over 20 years.

The Arbutus has been on a five months' trip and has a cargo of 80,000 pounds of filleted halibut and 40,000 pounds of cod.

FOREST FIRES

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE NEAR CAPE SABLE.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 9—Immense forest fires were reported today from Cape Sable to Port Mouton, by a steamer which arrived during the night from Yarmouth. The flames are fanned by heavy westerly winds. Already heavy damage has been caused.

THE CHINESE

DECIDE TO SUSPEND THE BOYCOTT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—News that the merchants of China, who have been prosecuting the boycott against American goods, have decided to temporarily suspend that movement to await possible action of the United States congress in softening the exclusion laws, is contained in official despatches received today from Pekin. The information comes from the merchant's guild of that place and is to the effect that this course has been decided by merchants throughout the empire. The action follows the advice of the Chinese government in the matter which was given as a consequence of the attitude of Pres. Roosevelt. Should congress fail to take the desired action, the boycott will again become effective and will be pressed with renewed vigor.

DIED SUDDENLY

U. S. CONSUL CARTER PASSED AWAY AT YARMOUTH.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Oct. 9.—Martin J. Carter, U. S. consul at this place, died suddenly today. Mr. Carter was a native of Minersville, Pa., and his body will be forwarded to that town accompanied by his widow and one daughter. Mr. Carter was formerly stationed at Newfoundland.

A MERGER

CHICAGO UNIONS DECIDE TO FORM NEW FEDERATION.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Sympathetic strikes in Chicago probably will be more prevalent in the future through an alliance between the teamsters and the railway freight handlers. The first steps to form a merger of these unions for "Offensive and defensive action" were taken yesterday. The name of the new federation is the Shipping Trades Alliance. It aims to embrace all organized workers whose occupations bring them into contact in any way with the transfer of freight.

Pres. P. J. Flannery, of the International Freight Handlers' Association, appeared before the Truck Driver's local and explained the purpose of the Shipping Trades Alliance.

The teamsters regarded the plan to join forces with much favor.

A committee was appointed to confer with the freight handlers concerning the policy of the new federation.

GAYNOR SPEAKS

IS SORRY THAT HE LEFT GEORGIA.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 9—A representative of the Morning News interviewed John F. Gaynor last night aboard the train, that is bringing him and Benjamin D. Greene to Savannah. Gaynor said:

"I am glad that we are going back to Georgia. I know now what a mistake we made in leaving. But we cannot always tell what is for the best and if we had known then what we know now, we would never have gone.

"Do you anticipate an acquittal?" was asked.

"My dear sir, the case has not been tried yet. I anticipate anything. We of course hope for the best. We feel justified in every act we committed in Savannah, while performing our contracts with the government. They got value received."

"Does the conviction of Captain Carter lead you to believe that the cases will go against you?"

"I wouldn't venture an opinion. This is not Captain Carter's case. We did not hold the office of engineer at Savannah. We made bids and when we secured the contracts we carried them out."

F. OF L. MEETING

Driscoll Opposed to Trade Schools

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 9—The 25th annual convention of the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor, opened in this city today, with 135 accredited delegates present, representing 26 cities and towns. Sessions will continue through to Friday. President Francis J. Clarke of Boston presided and the delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor Allen H. Bagg, who paid a fine tribute to labor in his brief address.

The day was taken up with the reading of reports and the presentation of resolutions.

President Clark read his annual address in which he recommended that the convention take steps to prosecute further the campaign against child labor and suggested that a committee of three be appointed to consider the subject and report to the convention. He also recommended higher dues in all unions and that the unions be nonpartisan in politics.

Secretary-Treasurer D. Driscoll of Boston followed with his report, which showed the Massachusetts branch to be in a prosperous condition. During the course of his report Mr. Driscoll declared himself in opposition to the establishment of trade schools as recommended by Governor Wm. L. Douglas in his address to the state legislature and advocated measures for the bettering of the conditions of street car men and the extension of the women's label leagues.

Frank K. Foster, chairman of the legislative committee, reported that during the last legislative year 80 bills on labor matters had been introduced in the state legislature and that of these 70 had been killed.

Before the close of the morning session the following committee on finance was appointed:

A. Hibbert of Fall River; Thomas J. Durning and Charles H. Hunt.

CURLEY NAMED

Chosen as Candidate for Representative

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Former Representative Thomas F. Curley, whose seat in last year's legislature was declared vacant, following his conviction and sentence for participation in civil service frauds, was unanimously nominated for representative this afternoon by the executive committee of the democratic city committee. He was a candidate at the primaries September 28, and he received the same vote as former congressman Michael McEttrick. The executive committee's action today was in exercise of its authority in the case of a tie at the primaries. Curley served sixty days in the Suffolk county jail, as a penalty for impersonating another in taking an examination for the position of letter carrier. A nomination in his district is equivalent to an election under ordinary conditions.

MILL MEN

MAY TAKE UP OPERATIVES' REQUEST THIS AFTERNOON.

FALL RIVER, Oct. 9—Secretary Thomas Taylor of the textile council this afternoon, sent the letter which he was instructed to send to the Manufacturers' association, asking for a general advance in wages for the operatives in this city. The executive committee of the Manufacturers' association is holding a meeting this afternoon and it is presumed that the request of the operatives for an advance will be considered at this meeting.

GRAIN HELD

SHORTAGE OF CARS PREVENTS ITS SHIPMENT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—With commerce humming at a record rate, cars for traffic are so scarce that a costly shortage in them is feared by the railroads. In an effort to forestall such trouble nearly every railway is placing heavy orders for equipment with quick delivery clauses.

The commodity which feels the car shortage most at present in Chicago, is grain. Yesterday it was stated that the railroads centering here and extending east could use between 2,000 and 3,000 grain cars in excess of the present supply. One road alone admitted to being short nearly 1,000 cars.

It was said that between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000 bushels of grain in that city cannot be moved and that the elevator capacity soon will be overtaxed.

MILLS DAMAGED

$120,000 Fire at Tracadie, N. B.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 9.—News of the burning of the big lumber mills and other property of the Tracadie Lumber company at Tracadie, N. B., yesterday, reached here today. The mill buildings, an hotel, manager's residence and a number of smaller structures were destroyed and the loss is placed at about $120,000.

A large quantity of manufactured lumber also was consumed. The fire started in the boiler house and before a high northwest wind spread so rapidly that all efforts to save the property proved useless and the destruction was total. The company owning the property is made up mainly of Bangor, Me., investors. It is stated that the insurance on the property will cover the loss.

SAFE ROBBED

MEN DID NOT GET MONEY OR STAMPS.

KEENE, N. H., Oct. 9.—Word was received here today of the robbery of a safe in the postoffice at West Swanzey early today, by three men, who succeeded in making their escape without, however, securing either cash or stamps. The postoffice building is owned by Denman Thompson, the veteran actor and some personal papers owned by him were stolen, but nothing is known at West Swanzey as to their value. The door of the safe was blown open with gun powder but the postmistress, Miss A. J. Saultner, carried the stamps and cash to her home when she closed the office last night.

HIS FIRST "AT HOME."

There were doings with a welsh rarebit and flxings at Wright Huntington's studio, room 19, 24 Bridge street, Saturday night, it being the first of a series of "at homes" to be given by Mr. Huntington to the pencil pushers of this city. Among the guests present were Mayor James B. Casey and Purchasing Agent Donnelly.

Mr. Huntington prepared a fine spread and afterwards a fine musical and literary program was carried out.

BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 9—Elaborate preparations are being made in this city for the celebration of the One Hundredth anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar on Oct. 21 and 22. The second cruiser squadron re-enforced by the military organizations in the vicinity, will assist in the exercises and Admiral Prince Louis of Batenburg and the officers of his squadron will attend service at the old St. Paul's church.

HIS WIFE LIVING

Charge Made Against the Coachman

WHO MARRIED A WEALTHY WOMAN

His First Wife Will Consult Counsel

FRANKLIN, N. H., Oct. 10.—The dispatch telling of the marriage of Cornelia Hatch to Harry Walker, Jr., in Brookline, Mass., which the story claims are names assumed by Henry Gill of Franklin and Cornelia Hatch Dearborn of New York, has set this community astir with gossip.

Gill was married in Franklin, Oct. 14, 1900, to Miss Flora Blackburn of this city. The marriage was performed by Irving V. Goss, justice of the peace, and at that time city clerk of Franklin. Gill gave his age as 19, his occupation as a hostler and his birthplace as Tilton. He is a son of Philip and Annie (Paquette) Gill, natives of Canada.

Mrs. Gill was 18, a native of Franklin and the daughter of Fred and Maria (Cross) Blackburn. Mrs. Gill has always lived in Franklin. She now resides in the rear of 415 Central street with her mother.

Asked yesterday if she and Gill were ever divorced, she answered: "No, I never got a divorce from him, and if he got one from me I never knew it."

Gill never lived with his wife a day. It is said that he was compelled to marry her by her parents. He is said to have remarked at the time of the ceremony that he would marry her, but would never live with her.

Gill was in town last Wednesday. He was driven here by Harry T. Corser of the Eagle stables, Concord, reaching Franklin between 12 and 1 o'clock. Gill told Corser that he was too late to catch the last rain from Concord to Franklin Tuesday night.

Early Wednesday morning Gill went to the home of Lawyer Edward G. Leach on Pleasant street, and calling him out before breakfast, said that he wanted to see about getting a divorce. The attorney told him that he did not see on what grounds he could get a divorce, but told him Mrs. Gill could get one easy enough on the ground of abandonment. Gill settled with the lawyer and left town at once.

His wife says she did not see him while he was in town. She says he was "never any good" to her anyhow. She read with considerable interest the story of the marriage, and she and her mother say they will consult counsel at once.

Gill was well liked about town, and was a quiet-appearing and sober young fellow. He worked in one of the local livery stables, and also acted as coachman for the Kenrick family, among the city's most prominent residents. His father and mother live in this city, having moved in from a farm between her and Hill. Gill has a married sister and one or two younger sisters.

None of his relatives have heard from him. Tuesday he stopped at the hotel, and his people did not see him during his trip to Franklin.

THE MILL MEN

May Compromise on Wage Question

FALL RIVER, Oct. 10.—Manufacturers of this city are generally noncommittal as to what they will do in regard to the demand of the textile council for a restoration of wages on Oct. 23. It is hard to find in mill circles anything like united opinion as to whether the advance will be granted or not. No meeting of the manufacturers has yet been called and no one knows when one will be.

Questions of dignity cut more or less of a figure with the manufacturers as to granting the demand or dealing with the textile council. There are two alleged strikes on, backed by the weavers: at the Granite and at the Davol mills. The mills have been operated in large part ever since the weavers went out, several months ago, but many weavers who would like to return are debarred.

There is a feeling even among the mill men, that some sort of advance ought to be given the help, with the return of profitable conditions during the past few weeks, but that the strike kept them form it. And now they find that if they yield from their former stand there will be a decided flavor of being beaten in their contention. Not only do the operatives demand this, but to a considerable extent public opinion does also.

The prospect is that some form of conference will ensue within a few days. Even if an advance is granted, it is scarcely believed it will be a full restoration of the scale which prevailed before the big strike. The price per cut for weaving regulars was then 19.8 cents. It is now 17.32 cents. Striking a middle ground basis would make the price 18.5 cents, and it is believed that the bulk of the local manufacturers would agree to such a compromise, to be readjusted when the market conditions steadied down.

On the margin of 81.5 cents prevailing today, it would appear that more than 5 per cent. could be granted. Still, mill men say the margin is not established as yet at anything like 81.5, and they are now at work on goods contracted for at prices way below what current orders bring.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB.

The Lowell Congregational Club will hold its first meeting of this season with the Kirk Street church, this evening. Dinner will be served at 6.45 o'clock. The speaker is Rev. S. H. Woodrow, D. D., of Springfield and the subject, "The Supreme End to Be Sought in Religious Education."

LITTLEFIELD GYMNASIUM.

The gymnasium committee of the Young Women's Christian Association has secured Mr. Hartvig Nissen to speak to the members of the Littlefield gymnasium and their friends on Thursday evening. Mr. Nissen is the physical director of Brookline public schools and instructor at Harvard summer school.

ROYAL ARCANUM

24,000 Members Have Quit Order

A decrease of 2675 members in Royal Arcanum ranks for the month of September was shown by statistics in the Bulletin, the monthly publication of the order, just issued. The total membership of the order is now placed approximately at 291,216, and as the organization was said to number 315,000 before the new rates were announced, the total dropping off since the announcement is about 24,000.

By states the suspensions and withdrawals for September are as follows: Massachusetts 672, Ohio 380, Michigan 244, Wisconsin 91 Illinois 1382, Indiana 184, New York 2657, Pennsylvania 994, Maryland 145, Virginia 192, Georgia 57, Tennessee 88, Missouri 626, Ontario 69, New Jersey 797, Connecticut 273, Rhode Island 46, North Carolina 75, Minnesota 186, Iowa 70, District of Columbia 93, Nebraska 133, California 57, Kentucky 33, Quebec 29, Washington 36, Colorado 64, Maritime Provinces 16, Maine 1, New Hampshire 20, Arkansas 2, Idaho 1, Kansas 12, Oregon 6, Vermont 12, West Virginia 4.

Besides withdrawals and suspensions there have been 21 deaths during the month, 72 reinstatements, and 102 new members admitted.

Among other things, an editorial in the Bulletin states that sentiment in the order now seems gradually turning in favor of the new rates, and attributes this practically to the exposes being made in the old line companies.

"No doubt," it says in part, "the great scandals which are being uncovered in the regular insurance companies just at the present time are leading many of the present and prospective members of the Arcanum to think rather seriously and investigate very carefully before they make up their minds to leave the fraternity or to withhold their application.

"At any rate, very many of the members of the order are sending in their notices as to which option they wish to adopt, and while some of the members who have passed 50 years are making some reduction in the amounts they are to carry, they are planning stick to their order under the new arrangement."

BOWLING NEWS

The Wonders had their innings last night and defeated Sergt. Connors' Connemaras on the private alleys at Les Miserables in East Merrimack street, the score being 2140 to 2042. The Connemaras had things pretty much their own way until the last string when Dave Donaldson and Mike Burns unwound their arms and threw balls down the alley in such a manner that the pin boys were in great danger of their lives. Burns with 528 was high man, while Donaldson's single of 202 was the best made during the evening. The feature of the game, however, was the poor bowling of Deputy Welch who had a glass arm, especially in the last string when he failed to put up one hundred. The score:

FOUR BURNED

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Four men were seriously if not fatally burned at Watkins today by an explosion of natural gas. The men were working in the house containing the high pressure regulator of the Consumers' Natural Gas company. The gas main had been tapped to make a connection and gas was escaping from an opening when it ignited.

The victims were: F. W. Gibbons, local superintendent of the works; Bert Merrick, Luthmer Leonard and Louis Roggano, an Italian. All were terribly burned about the hands, face and neck. Merrick cannot recover, and it is by no means certain that any of the men will pull through.

UNKNOWN HEROES

Rescued People From Burning Building

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Cut off from all escape twenty persons were rescued from death in a blazing tenement in 83rd street last night by two unknown heroes and three policemen, every one of the panic-stricken tenants being saved before the arrival of the firemen.

Hearing the alarm that followed the discovery of a fire in the hallway on the second floor, two laborers at work on a gas main in the street, rushed into the blazing building and, making their way to the upper floor, helped many women and children to the fire escape. They were soon joined by three policemen who stationed themselves on the escape galleries and passed the occupants down from hand to hand. The upper floors of the building were completely gutted.

IMMENSE LOSS

$150,000 Damage at Providence Fire

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Damage estimated at about $150,000 was caused by a fire which occurred last night in a three-story wooden structure on the corner of Elmwood avenue and West Friendship street in this city, known as "Allair Hall", the damage being partially covered by insurance. According to the firemen the fire originated in the rear of the building and spread quickly to the roof. Three alarms were sent in and a large amount of apparatus was soon on the scene and within an hour the blaze was under control.

The principal damage done was to the Elmwood Paper Box company, occupying the second and a portion of the third floor of the building, mostly by smoke and water. The stock of the company was said to be well covered by insurance. When the fire was discovered, an employe of the paper box company off duty notified eight people still working in the building and all escaped safely.

Allair hall, an auditorium on the third floor of the building, from which the structure takes its name, was gutted.

REVISE TARIFF

The Boards of Trade Take Action

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The Boston Associated Board of Trade, at its meeting in Young's hotel last night, adopted resolutions favoring tariff revision, voted to petition congress to pass, at its coming session, a minimum tariff law, and that certain raw materials, such as coal, iron, lumber and hides, be placed on the free list.

When the committee report was submitted by its chairman Jerome Jones, it was expected that a lively debate would be precipitated, but when the question was put by Chairman Edward B. Wilson, there was a remarkable stillness. A voice vote was taken in the affirmative, without a single dissenter, and the chair declared it to be unanimous.

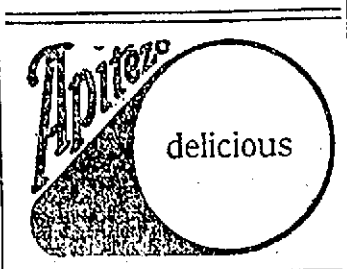

The vote, therefore, gave the stamp of approval to tariff revision of the following associations, which comprise the associated board of trade:

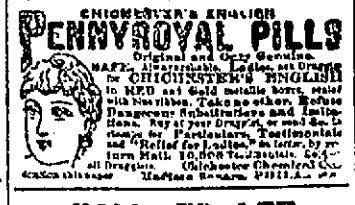

Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, Boston Life Underwriters' Association, Boston Brewers' Association, Boston Druggists' Association, Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, Boston Merchants' Association, Boston Paper Trade Association, Boston Stationers' Association, Boston Wholesale Grocers' Association, Coal Club of Boston and Vicinity, Drysalters' Club of New England, Expressmen's League, Massachusetts Wholesale Lumber Association, Master Teamsters' Association, Music Trade Association, New England Confectioners' Club, New England Earthenware Asso., New England Iron and Hardware Association, New England Shoe and Leather Association, Oil Trade Association of Boston, Paint and Oil Club of New England, Real Estate Exchange, the Master Builders' Association.

FR. MATHEW DAY

Big Observance by Mathew Institute Tonight

Today is the 116th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Theobold Mathew, known throughout the civilized world as the "Apostle of Temperance," and wherever is found a band of Catholic total abstinence workers, his memory will be fittingly honored.

He was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, in 1790.

Fr. Mathew visited Boston in 1836 and one of the few men now living who shook his hand is Francis H. Donovan, a prominent merchant of Lynn and known by many in Lowell through his connection with the Fr. Mathews of Lynn in the capacity of treasurer.

In Lowell, Fr. Mathew day has been observed by the Catholic temperance bodies for years, though the most active in this respect has been the Mathew Temperance Institute. It is three years since a local celebration was held and that was on a very large scale for the great state parade which today is being held in Lawrence, was held here. Last year and the year previous the Mathews assisted in the celebration of the day in other cities, last year in Roxbury, and in 1903 in Peabody, where in the latter place they made such a creditable showing that they comprised practically one entire division.

This year the organization has deemed it wise to hold a celebration at home, and the arrangements indicate that it will be an eventful one.

Services will be held in St. Peter's church this evening at 7.30 o'clock, the members meeting at the hall at 7 o'clock and headed by the Military band, will march to the church, where the entire main aisle has been reserved for them. At the church vesper services will be held, Rev. W. George Mullin officiating and an augmented choir will render a special musical program. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Hugh Mellermod. After the sermon solemn benediction will be given.

At the conclusion of the services at the church the line will be reformed and will pass through the following streets: Gorham to Elm, to Central, to Hosford square, to Central, to Merrimack, to Moody, to Colburn, countermarch to Merrimack, to Central, to the hall. Carriages will be occupied by Rev. Fr. Mullin, Rev. Fr. McDermod, Rev. Fr. Heffernan, His Honor Mayor Casey, Edward F. Slattery, Mr. Patrick Kane, the well known "old soldier" of the Mathews, and others.

At the hall exercises will be carried out, President John V. Donoghue presiding, and besides an entertainment program, remarks will be made by the clergymen and laymen mentioned above. A collation will be provided. Marshal John J. Townsend assisted by a corps of aids will have charge of the parade and he stated last night that indications point to the biggest turnout in the history of the society.

BRIDE DROWNED

Her Husband Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Katchen Duerr, 18 years old, and a bride, was drowned in the Harlem river at dusk yesterday under circumstances that caused the arrest of her husband and of Charles Hahn, a boarder in the Duerr family, the latter being suspected as an accessory. Mrs. Mary Mossnick, mother of the young woman, told the police that the couple often quarrelled and only last week Duerr threatened to kill his wife. Duerr admitted he had quarreled with his wife, but denied that he had any designs on her life. Duerr says he asked Tahn to give his wife an outing, as he had business which would prevent him accompanying her. Hahn's story is that he went to Fort George with Mrs. Duerr and hired a row boat to row down the Harlem. The passage of a tugboat caused the boat to rock and Mrs. Duerr he says, stood up suddenly, lost her balance and fell overboard. He had lost an oar and was trying to get back to the spot where she sank with one oar, when a steam launch caught up to him. No one was found who saw any struggle in the boat or witnessed Mrs. Duerr fall overboard, although the man in the launch corroborated Hahn's statement that he lost an oar.

CEMETERY GATE

F. F. AND FRED AYER CONTRIBUTE TO THE FUND.

Charles L. Knapp, treasurer of the Lowell cemetery, is in receipt of two substantial checks to reduce the debt of the new gate at the Knapp avenue entrance of the cemetery. One of the checks, for $50, is from Frederick Ayer, that gentleman having previously sent a check for $250 to Mr. Knapp, while the second check is for $250 and comes from Frederick Fanning Ayer. Frederick Fanning Ayer previously gave a check for $500 for the same fund. Thus far both the Mr. Ayers have given over $1,000 towards the erection of the gate or more than one-fifth of its cost. There now remains a debt of but $200 on the gate and it is needless to state that this will soon be forthcoming.

TELEPHONE ALARM.

A telephone alarm was sent to the central fire station yesterday for a fire in a block in Moody street owned by A. C. Wheelock. Children and matches were the cause of the fire. The damage was slight.

TO POORHOUSE

Once Wealthy Banker is a Pauper

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Jefferson P. Raplee, once a wealthy New York banker and business associate of Jay Gould, Commodore Vanderbilt and John P. Blair, went to the poorhouse here yesterday.

Raplee was one of the best-known men along Broadway in his day. His father, who was Judge Raplee of Yates county, N. Y., left him a large fortune. In 1856 he opened a banking house at 137 Broadway, which was capitalized at $200,000 and did a yearly business of $500,000, which was a large sum at that time.

Since 1867, when this bank made an assignment after some unfortunate speculation, Mr. Raplee's fortune, although invested in a new banking venture, steadily diminished. Three years ago he closed his last offices at 135 Liberty street and began to live on the remnants of his former wealth. He was unmarried.

Yesterday Mr. Raplee, carrying a suit case, entered the office of the superintendent of the outdoor poor, who is an old acquaintance of the banker, and greeted him saying:

"What can I do for you, Jefferson?"

"I have only one friend left," said Mr. Raplee, "but he won't help me any more, and I've got to live."

The superintendent had a special messenger escort the former banker to the farm colony at Staten Island, where he will be given some light employment for the remainder of his life.

TWICE DIVORCED

GIRL OF 15 COMMITTED SUICIDE.

KOKOMO, Ind., Oct. 10.—Twice married and twice divorced, 15-year-old Julia Beard committed suicide at a hotel here last night because she could not marry a third husband.

She was infatuated with Walter Gardner, a stenographer. When he refused to marry her she swallowed strychnine and died in his arms, saying: "I cannot marry you, but I can die." She was dead before the doctor came.

A year ago she married Thomas Johnson. She left him and married John Aaron. The latter couple were arrested for bigamy, but because of her age she was given a divorce from both husbands and the prosecution was dropped.

She was a waitress at the New Denison hotel, and was a daughter of Mrs. Crow of Greentown.

BORROW $10,000

Is the Order of Appropriations Committee

The committee on appropriations, Alderman Braden, chairman, met last evening in the aldermanic committee room at city hall. The joint order for $10,000 for school houses was read.

The order as Remized was as follows: School houses, $500; public buildings, labor, carpenters, painers, etc., $500; public buildings and materials $100.

Alderman Grant moved that the order be recommended and the motion prevailed—Braden, Grant and Cosgrove in favor and Morse and Read against.

Chairman Braden said he had been requested to state that the money needed to defray small pox expenses was needed by the board of health. There are two orders, one for $200 and another for $130. The first order is already before the committee and that body decided to wait until the second order reaches its operating room.

CAUGHT "SPIRIT"

MAN BROKE UP A MEETING IN NEW HAVEN.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 10.—Frank E. Brown, well known here, created a sensation at a Spiritualistic seance in this city Sunday evening. A number of local Spiritualists secured the services of a noted New York medium and invited Mr. Brown and several unbelievers to be present. When the seance opened the medium was disclosed firmly bound in a chair. One by one the medium brought back the shades of the departed relatives of those in the room.

Finally came the announcement that a spirit wished to converse with Mr. Brown. The spirit lifted from behind the curtain and advanced toward Mr. Brown, who made a grab for the shade.

Mr. Brown got hold of a human arm and held on. The spirit struggled, wailed, moaned and fought. Brown struck back and the pair landed behind the curtains, with Mr. Brown on the chest of the groaning spirit. One of the nonbelievers turned up the lights and disclosed Mr. Brown sitting on the chest of the medium.

The meeting broke up in consternation.

DIED IN COURT

OFFICER PASSED AWAY AT HIS POST.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Hugh A. McClellan, an officer in the first session of the superior civil court for Suffolk county, died suddenly yesterday afternoon as he was about to take a jury to lunch. Muscular rheumatism was the cause of death.

He had been suffering from rheumatism for some time, and yesterday morning as he entered the court-house he remarked to an officer that he believed his end was near.

He went to his session and was assigned to take charge of the jury in the case of William Cotter vs. the Boston Elevated Railway company.

It was near 3 o'clock when he was told to take the jury to lunch, and he sat down in the officers' room to make out an order. A moment later he fell back in his chair.

HEAVY FINES

LIQUOR SELLERS MUST PAY OR SPEND 10 YEARS IN JAIL.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 10.—In the Washington county court yesterday afternoon Chief Judge Rowell of Randolph imposed fines aggregating $2200 for illegal liquor selling. E. W. Gilman of Marshfield pleaded guilty to three offences and was fined $400 and costs for each offence, or $1200 in all, with an alternative sentence of 3600 days in the house of correction at Rutland. Joseph Wood of Barre pleaded guilty to one offence, of selling, and was fined $400 and costs with the alternative sentence. Mrs. Mary Saroni of East Montpelier pleaded guilty to two offences and was fined $300 for each offence and costs, with the alternative sentence.

All these parties were indicted by the grand jury at the present term. They will settle.

JUDGE DEWEY

WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Judge Dewey left town on a European trip last night, taking the midnight train for New York. He sails today to be gone three weeks. Late yesterday afternoon it transpired that the judge had made up his mind to be a candidate for the republican mayoralty nomination.

His flying trip to Europe is a business one, and by the time he returns his friends expect to have the local situation well in hand, and express the belief that the judge will be able to beat all comers in the race for the nomination.

FINED $100

ALMAN G. WHITTIER FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING A DEER.

HAVERHILL, Oct. 10—Alman G. Whittier of Newton, N. H., was arraigned before Judge Noyes at Plaistow, N. H., yesterday afternoon and was fined $100 and costs for killing a deer. Whittier was arrested Saturday afternoon by Constable Tucker of Plaistow.

Whittier appealed and was held under bonds for the Rockingham county superior court. Game Commissioner Wentworth appeared for the prosecution.

DIED IN HACK

MAN HAD TAKEN TOO MUCH LIQUOR.

BOSTON, Oct. 10—John J. Slattery of Abington died suddenly at Hanover yesterday while on the way from his summer home at White Horse Beach to Abington. Mr. Slattery had been drinking quite hard of late. It was decided to send him to take the Keeley cure and yesterday a hack was sent to Plymouth for him. Mr. Slattery was placed inside the hack and a friend mounted the seat with the driver. At Hanover Mr. Slattery was found in an apparently lifeless condition. Dr. McMillan was summoned and he found that the man was dead. Medical Examiner Dudley said the man died from too much liquor. Slattery was 44 years of age and was single. He leaves a brother.

BIG CHRISTENING

Of Streets That Have Duplicate Names

ONE WILL BEAR THE NAME OF HOBSON

Raft of Petitions Read and Discussed

The committee on streets met in the public hearing room at city hall last evening and, among other things, juggled with suggestions for the names of streets. The list of streets was as follows:

James street, from Washer street southerly, James street, from Chelmsford street to Manufacturers street, James street, from French street to Amory street, James avenue, from Hovey avenue to Platts avenue, Sterling street, from Fairfield street, Hovey avenue, from Hildreth street, northerly, Hovey street, from Lakeview avenue to Essex street, Fulton street, from Willie street, westerly, Dewey avenue, from No. 41 Coburn street, Falmouth street, from Fairfield street, Carter avenue, from Chelmsford street, Court street, from Woodward avenue northerly, Court street, from Gorham street to Linden street, Davis street, from Court street, Pawtucketville.

The hearing was largely attended and a great many were heard on various matters. Rev. L. C. Manchester suggested the name Hobson for the street now called Court street. He suggested this change, he said, because Mr. George Hobson was one of the founders of St. John's Episcopal church.

Mr. Levi S. Gould would prefer to have the street called Huntress street.

West Fifth street was the new name suggested for Davis street. The new name was suggested by Frank Cowdrey.

John McArdle asked that Grace street be laid out and accepted. Several others spoke in favor of Mr. McArdle's petition and there were no remonstrants.

James McCormack asked for a sidewalk and edgestones in Maple street. The petition did not lack support and there were no remonstrants.

There were no remonstrants to Eugene C. Russell's petition that Rhodora street be accepted.

Fisher H. Pearson petitioned for the acceptance of Columbia street.

W. H. Mawhinney petitioned for the acceptance of Dix street. Mr. Goddard spoke for the petition. He said that in justice to the Mawhinney Shoe company, whose factory is now being constructed, the street should be accepted.

The acceptance of Tolman avenue was petitioned for by William J. Hayes.

Harry Swain wanted a concrete sidewalk near the Varnum avenue school. The school committee was represented by Superintendent Whitcomb.

There were no remonstrants to N. E. Greenberg's petition for a cinder sidewalk on the north side of Daly street.

John Small, Samuel C. Bowes and Eugene P. Sullivan appeared in support of James McCormick's petition that Maple street be laid out.

The petition of C. H. Hapson, et als., that Westchester street be laid out received the support of Messrs. George Harrigan and Thomas C. Law.

The committee after having finished with the hearings adjourned to the office of the superintendent of streets and held a business meeting.

On motion of Alderman Hayes it was voted that a new order be drawn up, to have Moody street paved with Warren Bros.' pavement, the order to be introduced this evening.

On motion of Councilman Mahoney, the matter of renaming the streets was taken up.

James street had no less than four duplications, namely from Washer street southerly, from Chelmsford street to Manufacturers street, from French street to Amory street, James avenue, from Hovey avenue to Platts avenue.

Court street, from Gorham street to Linden street, was named Hobson street, unless another street was found named Hobson street, to which event it would be named Huntress street.

Davis street was named West Fifth avenue. Sterling street was changed to Fleming street, Carnell avenue to Hayes avenue, James street to Sirk street, West street, now, to Paradis street.

James Wessels asked that London street be defined and Councilman Clough was appointed to wait upon Charles Ruppler, one of the petitioners, and report back.

The following recommendations were voted by the committee.

Macadamize Lundberg street.

Macadamize Meadowcroft street.

West street, change name and accept it, from Maple to London street.

Rhodora street, accepted.

Columbia street, accepted.

Dix street, action deferred until next meeting.

Tolman avenue, favorable action.

Sidewalk, Varnum avenue, voted.

E. Greenberg's petition voted.

D. E. Reidy's petition for a sidewalk in Broadway, favorable action.

John J. McArdle, sidewalk, Grace street, granted.

James McCormick, sidewalk, Maple street, granted.

C. H. Hanson, Westchester street, voted if street is put to grade. Adjourned at 9.45.

MAY NOT HANG

Stiff Neck May Save Condemned Man

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—Because of a peculiar freak of nature, Robert Gardiner, formerly a cashier, a prisoner in the county jail here, charged with the murder of Agnes Morrison, may escape the death penalty. When he was arraigned yesterday his attorney, William Buckner, startled the court by turning to Assistant States Attorney Barbour and saying:

"This is a case where it won't do you any good to ask for the death penalty. They can't break this man's neck if they try to hang him, and you may lose him altogether by hanging him and failing to execute the sentence in full."

The prisoner is suffering from ossification of the vertebrae and tissues of the neck. According to Prof. Steffenson of Rush Medical college, only five cases similar have ever come to the notice of the medical profession.

Gardiner is unable to move his head or incline it, except with great effort. And is hardly able to eat or speak, owing to the effect of the ossification on the membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes.

Atty. Buckner declares that hardening of the bones and tissues has proceeded so far that it would be impossible to bring any strain upon the patient's neck that would be sufficiently severe to cause any discomfort other than a slight straining of the muscles.

WESTFORD

HAS STARTED A CRUSADE AGAINST LIQUOR SELLING.

The selectmen of the town of Westford have commenced a crusade against illegal liquor traffic, and constables under the direction of the selectmen secured a search warrant Saturday and searched the brick tavern owned by Matthew Downs and Charles Shougrue's residence.

Several gallons of whiskey were secured. Both men were summoned into the court at Ayer and were each fined $75 which they paid.

FOR GOVERNOR— CHARLES W. BARTLETT

His Election Will Convince Congress that Massachusetts is in Earnest in its Demand for Free Hides, Coal, Iron Ore, Lumber and Wood Pulp.

Charles W. Bartlett, citizen, soldier, advocate, was born in Boston August 12, 1845. His parents removed to East Cambridge a few years later, where he attended the public schools. At the age of 11 he was a pupil of the Putnam Grammar School and much interested in his studies; but he was compelled to give up his school and go with his parents who removed to a farm in the town of Lee, N.H., where the educational advantages were not equal to those of Cambridge.

However, the boy was possessed with a desire to secure an education, and what time could be spared from the many duties he found to perform upon a rocky farm, he attended the district school of Lee. There are still living in New Hampshire quite a number of people who knew Gen. Bartlett at this period of his career, and who tell with pride of the efforts of a dutiful son to aid his parents in getting a living on a rented farm, while at the same time striving to secure an education. It is related by one who knows the early life of Gen. Bartlett that he was an omnivorous reader, devoting the long winter evenings after the farm work was completed to careful study and reading of such books as he could secure. It was in that New Hampshire home, devoid of everything but the barest necessities, that the successful advocate of to-day grounded himself in the rudiments of law and history. He was a good farmer and a good student, and the habits of early life imposed upon him by a lack of wealth and opportunity make him thorough in all he does, perfectly frank, open and honest.

Determined to secure an education, opportunity came to attend for two short terms a small academy at Andover, N. H. While enjoying this (to him) great privilege of attending an academy, he continued his studies in private. It was his great good fortune at this time to form the acquaintance of Jeremiah Smith, at present a professor at the Harvard law school. Prof. Smith had graduated from Harvard and was living at the Hale farm, near the home of Mr. Bartlett. He interested himself in the Bartlett boy, encouraged him to study, and aided him in many ways, particularly by hearing him recite the lessons learned.

The pinch of poverty was unceasing, however, and as the season grew more suitable for farming than for study, young Bartlett was compelled to relinquish his studies and go to work as a bread winner. He worked as a laborer in a crew that traveled about the state compressing hay into bales. This was hard work, and the hours were from daylight to dark; but two months of such labor enabled him to accumulate money with which to assist in his education.

At the breaking out of the war he was about 16 years of age, and he was extremely anxious to join his schoolboy comrades and enlist, but being an only son he could not secure the consent of his parents, and at this time could not go to the front. Later, however, he secured the consent of his father, and he promptly left the New Hampshire home, went to Boston, and enlisted as a private in Company A, 5th Massachusetts regiment. He served his term of service and was mustered out in November, 1864.

When he returned home from the war, he resumed his studies at the academy at Andover, N. H., where some boyish prank brought him into conflict with the academy authorities, which resulted in his leaving the school. With a determination characteristic of the man, the boy was more than ever desirous of securing an education, and without saying a word to anyone he went to Dartmouth College, and there took the entrance examinations. One of the many branches in which he was examined he never studied, but it was here that his great reading and retentive memory came to his aid, and not only in this particular branch, but in all others, he successfully passed the examination. He learned in the month of June of his success with his examinations. Then arose the momentous problem of providing the necessary money to defray his expenses. Inspired with a worthy ambition, he sought work to earn the money. The best thing obtainable was employment as a laborer with a bridge-builder. He accepted the opportunity gladly, and was put to work with other men at the dangerous work of building a cofferdam. He continued in the employ of the bridge builder until the college year opened in September. With the money thus earned young Bartlett entered Dartmouth College, and managed to get along until the winter vacation came.

In those days it was customary to permit deserving students to leave college to teach for brief periods country schools throughout New England.

Availing himself of the opportunity to replenish his depleted funds, he went to Truro, Mass., and there in that section of the old Cape Cod town known as Hogsback, young Bartlett made his first appearance as a school teacher. He was successful in his teaching, and with the money accumulated he went back to Dartmouth College for the spring term.

After completing his studies at college that spring he went into the hay fields as a laborer, and followed the harvest from the lowlands to the uplands. With the money earned he went to college for the fall term, later returning to Cape Cod to teach a brief term at Wellfleet. This was a rather peculiar school, in that it was made up principally of those healthy young Cape Codders who passed most of the year in deep sea fishing, returning home for a brief period in winter. There were between 50 and 60 of them, and they were a studious, well-behaved lot and seemed to realize that it was important that they should make the most of their scant educational opportunities.

From Wellfleet Bartlett returned to college for another term, when an urgent request came for a teacher to take charge of a school in which the pupils had been running things to suit themselves. The president of the college sent word that he had two men, either of whom were capable of undertaking the task. One of them was Gen. Bartlett, and the other was Judge Maynard, now of the Superior Court of Massachusetts. Gen. Bartlett was sent out to take charge of the school, and as in almost all his undertakings he was successful. This school was at South Gardner, Mass. Later he again taught at Wellfleet.

While in college Gen. Bartlett was a member of the D. K. E. fraternity. After he graduated from college in the class of '69, he received a proposition to teach the high school at Salmon Falls, N.H. There had been considerable trouble and one term had been broken up. He took charge of the school and taught it peaceably.

In the meantime at every opportunity he had been studying law, and soon after completing his college course he entered the Albany, N. Y., law school. He completed the course, and was admitted to the bar of New York in 1871.

Gen. Bartlett returned to his New Hampshire home and entered into a law partnership with Samuel M. Wheeler of Dover, N.H. He remained there two years, and then started for New York city by way of Boston. When he arrived in Boston he met a friend with whom he had business transactions in New Hampshire who wanted him to take charge of some legal matters in Boston. Gen. Bartlett demurred, saying he had no office or facilities for work, and was on his way to New York. He was induced to call at the office of N. B. Bryant, an attorney, and explain the situation to him. Mr. Bryant very generously gave Gen. Bartlett a desk in his office, and invited him to remain just as long as he wished. The result was that Gen. Bartlett occupied that desk for 18 years.

Gen. Bartlett is the senior member of the firm of Bartlett & Anderson, one of the most prominent and successful law firms of Boston. He is a past commander of John A. Andrew post 15, G. A. R., and resides in Dorchester with his wife. He has been a member of the Suffolk County Bar association since it was founded, and is a member of the Curtis club, the Taylor club and the New Hampshire club, and is president of the Dartmouth Educational association and a member of other Dartmouth alumni associations. He is a man of simple habits, loves horses, baseball, football; but his greatest enjoyment he secures from his home life.

Gen. Charles W. Bartlett is an ideal man for the honorable position of governor of this commonwealth. He is scrupulously honest and fearless. He would represent in the executive office the interests of the whole people. Special interests asking favors at the expense of the people would receive no consideration. He is an advocate of reciprocal trade treaties with all countries, and with Canada in particular. He believes in a revision of the tariff to meet the requirements of the welfare of our New England industries. He has the confidence of the business interests, is trusted by the farmer, and the workingmen will find in him a true friend.

Voters of Massachusetts are urged to cast their ballot for Charles W. Bartlett, and thus emphasize the appeal to Congress for relief from the tariff burden which threatens to crush the life out of industrial New England.

"For the benefit of Massachusetts industries, I believe that Congress should place upon the free list hides, coal, iron ore, lumber and wood pulp, and that duties upon manufactured and other articles be reduced wherever possible. I am also convinced that reciprocal trade treaties should be made by this country with Canada and other nations."*—CHARLES W. BARTLETT.

For the Good of Lowell

Annex the Town of Tewksbury

In expansion towards Tewksbury our city has reached a stage at which annexation is an imperative necessity. We have built up to the line at all points and have even located a factory beyond the line.

To propose the annexation of Wigginville and Atherton singly or together would naturally excite the opposition of the rest of the town. To overcome this opposition and to advance the interests of both Tewksbury and Lowell, let us annex the entire town of Tewksbury.

The tax rate in Tewksbury is $16 and the increase that would come to the town as a part of Lowell would be amply compensated for by our city schools, our water service, our fire and police protection. The annexed district would moreover soon be doubled in value and the present residents would reap the benefit of such a boom, while Lowell would be satisfied with the increased revenue from taxation and the prestige of adding nearly 5,000 to her population.

The village of Atherton would soon become a hive of industry; Wigginville would no longer plod along without city privileges and the rest of the township would soon feel the progressive effects of the change. All that is necessary to bring this about is, that Tewksbury shall lay down its corporate entity and become part and parcel of our hustling municipality. Let us take over the whole town of Tewksbury, almshouse and all, at the next session of the legislature.

John McManus will not hire a band at his next picnic. He will use the piano.

Germany, it is alleged, is urging a tripartite alliance with France and Russia as the other members in order to offset the alliance between England and Japan with the United States as an unallied friend of both countries. It is very clear that the Kaiser is not satisfied with the manner in which the war terminated.

THE VENEZUELAN DIFFICULTY.

The supreme court of Venezuela has ordered the confiscation of certain asphalt properties belonging to citizens of the United States cities and of other and similar properties belonging to citizens of France. The question now confronting our state department is, will the United States have to assume the role of international constable, ignore the decision of the supreme court of Venezuela and force the government of that republic to submit the matter to arbitration. The question is one of those ever recurring troubles coming from the impertinence of southern republics growing out of their security under the Monroe Doctrine in its extended application.

The time is at hand when some fixed mode of settling such matters must be adopted so that the republics may have a thorough sense of responsibility and at least a fair appreciation of the fact that but for the protection of the United States, they would speedily be pounced upon by some of the European powers.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION OF RATES.

The agitation for government regulation of railroad freight rates has caused a panicky feeling among the railroads. The various companies have agencies for the purpose of conducting a propaganda against the proposition, as unfair to the railroads, unjust to the public and injurious to trade. It is wonderful what literature this bureau sends out, much of it being thrown aside without even the honor of being hurriedly read. The people believe that President Roosevelt has the right side of the question in undertaking to fix rates.

Professor Hugo Meyer, economist of Chicago university, comes to the relief of the railroads at an opportune time, when congress is about to take up the matter for the purpose of giving the Interstate Commerce Commission the privilege of fixing rates.

Professor Meyer's book presents an array of facts and figures intended to show that the regulation of rates is dangerous. It may be summed up in this sentence:

"Whatever evils now exist in the management of the railways none of them is at all commensurate with the harm which must result from bestowing the power to fix railway rates upon the Interstate Commerce Commission."

Professor Meyer goes to Europe for proof of his contention and argues that because the regulation of rates is in vogue in France for that reason the railroads are far behind those of the United States. The same is true of other European countries where there is no government regulation. The United States is to a great extent ahead of France and the other countries of Europe in other respects as well as in railroads. Prof. Meyer thus passes off a sophism to support his contention but it is easily seen through.

From Germany, the author deduces proofs which are more plausible. He says the government regulation of rates has hampered the industrial development of Germany in causing all bulky freight to be transported by water instead of by rail. Owing to this regulation, he says it is possible to ship grain economically by rail only a distance of one hundred and twenty-five miles. This, if true, is certainly a species of regulation that should not exist. The abuse of government regulation is no argument against its proper application.

Government regulation, says Professor Meyer, has centralized the trade of Australia in the three large cities instead of developing the trade of every section as in this country.

In spite of all the arguments adduced by Prof. Meyer in his timely book, we are of opinion that if the Interstate Commission be given the power to regulate rates to the extent of correcting evils and preventing abuses such as have from time to time been exposed in connection with the coal mines of Pennsylvania or with the shipments of grain and cattle from the west for big speculators or the beef trust, we believe the people would be fairly protected while the interests of the railroads and the development of trade would both be duly safeguarded.

SEEN AND HEARD

One day last week those Baltimoreans who were in the vicinity of the Bijou Theatre, on East Baltimore street, could have seen a crowd standing in the street with mouths wide open, apparently gazing at the sky. On the top of a smokestack one hundred and fifty feet from the ground could be seen a cyclist whirling around in a cage. After the fire department had been rung up and a squad of reserves summoned Manager Craft, whose name certainly signifies ingenuity, kindly explained that Edward Burrier, a trick cyclist from Detroit, Mich., was giving a free exhibition preliminary to his appearance at the Bijou that night. It is said a crowded house greeted Burrier that night, and Manager Craft stood at the entrance and chuckled softly to himself.

The observant citizen in the Boston Post writes:

I hear that the office of Deputy Superintendent Welch of the Lowell police department is draped in mourning. For "Welch's Wonders," a hitherto invincible bowling team, of which the deputy was the active and ardent head, met their Waterloo one night last week, and as if defeat were not sufficiently humiliating some of the stony hearted class spread the report far and wide that the "has-been brigade" had swallowed another set of "chumps." But I am further informed that from noon to night the deputy doth now hang the air, "Some day we will come back." Doubtless constituents of "Welch's Wonders" hope so.

Marlboro club meeting.

The only bouts of any importance scheduled for this week are those to be held at Revere beach and Thornton, R. I.

The Berkeley cycle club of Beachmont is to hold the meeting at Revere beach and in order to accommodate its members the club has secured Crescent garden. The program arranged by the club is a good one and the members are sure to see some lively bouts. In the main event Sammy Myers of New York and "Matty" Baldwin will come together. Myers has been in the game for some time, and is a clever boxer. Baldwin has trained hard for this bout, and is in good condition. Both boys are fast workers and very aggressive.

There will be a semifinal between Kid Barrish and Jack Desmond of Lowell that should be a hot contest. The other two preliminaries, which will be between local boxers, will help to make the show interesting.

The bout at Thornton will be between Terry Martin and Dave Deshler. Both are clever boxers and certainly will please the members of the club.

The Highland club of Marlboro announce that it has Jack Blackburn and Larry Temple for the main bout at its show Friday night. According to a message received by a sporting man in this city yesterday, Temple does not intend to appear. After the showing that Blackburn made in Philadelphia Saturday night, a corporal's guard would not go to see him box even against a man like Temple. Nowadays the people who pay to see boxing shows want some sort of a run for their money.

Sam Langford, who boxed Blackburn at Philadelphia Saturday night, returned to Boston yesterday. He denies that he did any faking, but blames Blackburn.

"When I left Philadelphia," said Sam, "manager McQuiggan of the club gave me my money, but refused to pay Blackburn. He also told Blackburn that he was to blame for the poor bout, and, furthermore, accused him of faking with Jack Williams and Harry Center last week.

"I was told that I could box again in Philadelphia, but Blackburn has been barred by the clubs there."

G. Dubois, a professional boxer and kicker, and Re Nle, another Frenchman, who has learned the art of jiu jitsu, have arranged an encounter to be fought privately in Paris. The rules of the contest sound alarming. Practically every method of attack will be allowed, except biting and "gouging out the adversary's eyes." The ring will measure 37 feet square. The umpire will be chosen by the four seconds. Except that hobnailed boots are forbidden, every latitude in dress will be allowed. Dubois will employ every kind of blow known either to boxers or to "apaches," i. e., hooligans. These tricks, usually forbidden, but considered allowable against jiu jitsu, include butting with the head, tripping up with the hands or feet, wrestling and kicks in any part of the body. His tactics will be to keep as far out of Re Nle's reach as possible, and to punish him with kicks the while. Once caught, the deadly jiu jitsu would probably overcome him. The seconds and umpire will stop the fight whenever it becomes brutal.

Eddie Keevin, manager of Jimmy Walsh, received a letter from the manager of the Athletic and Pastime club of Spokane in which the club manager stated that he would give Walsh a chance to meet Harry Tenney in four or five weeks.

The directors of the Douglas club tried yesterday to match Kid Goodman and Chick Tucker for Thursday night, but the managers of both fighters turned down the offer.

Charley Dwyer of Cambridge, who has met some of the best 122-126-pound boys in this section, is back in the game again, and is desirous of meeting Jimmy Hanlon, Young Freeman or any 126-pound boxer in New England.

There is every likelihood that Joe Walcott will be seen in the ring again. Walcott was forced to retire from the game because of an injured hand which he sustained in a shooting scrape in Boston some time ago. The hand is entirely well now, according to Walcott. The once invincible negro is trying to bring about a match between himself and Willie Lewis of this city and it looks as if the contest will take place before the Michigan City A. C., Detroit, before long. This club wants to hold a fifteen round bout between the two, the same to take place within the next two weeks. Both men have the offer under consideration, and will notify the club what they intend to do about it before long.

FINE TRADE

RECORD OF FOREIGN COMMERCE OF UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—The record of foreign commerce of the United States during August strongly reflects the prosperous condition of trade and industry. Figures just published by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, show that exports of manufactures during the single month of August have increased nearly 9 million dollars, or about 25 per cent. as compared with the same month of last year, and about 20 million dollars as compared with August, 1901. Meantime the manufacturers have increased their consumption of materials imported for use in the various processes of domestic industry, the August, 1905, imports of crude articles for use in manufacturing having increased nearly 2 million dollars over the imports of August, 1904, while there is an increase of about 50 million dollars when the eight months ending with August of this year are compared with the corresponding period a year earlier. That class of manufacturers' materials designated as "wholly or partially manufactured" also shows increased imports—about a million dollars during August, and over 13 million dollars during the eight months ending with August.

The figures show also that more manufactures are being exported from than are imported into the country—a condition which has been brought about during the short period since 1897. Imports of manufactures (including in that term for this comparison manufactures ready for consumption, articles wholly or partially manufactured for use as materials in the mechanic arts, and articles of voluntary use and luxuries) aggregated during August last 45 million dollars, while exports of manufactures during that month showed a total of 51 millions. During the eight months ending with August, 1905, imports of manufactures, including all degrees of manufacture, aggregated 322 millions, while exports of manufactures, amounted during the same period to 376 million dollars. As recently as 1897 the records of our foreign commerce showed an importation of 2:3 million dollars' worth of manufactures during the calendar year, as against 2:0 million dollars' worth of manufactures exported. The following year was the first to show exports of manufactures in excess of imports of manufactures and since 1898 there has been a steady increase in the outward flow of the products of our manufacturing industries. During the eight month periods of the years named exports of manufactures have increased from 190 million dollars in 1897 to 376 millions in 1905, while imports of manufactures have only increased from 212 million dollars in 1897 to 322 millions in 1905.

In nearly every class there is great activity shown both as to imports and exports. On the import side, imports of animals and articles of food show for the eight months an increase of 10 million dollars; crude materials for use in manufacturing, as already stated, an increase of 50 millions; wholly or partially manufactured materials, 13 millions; articles manufactured ready for consumption, 14 millions; and articles of voluntary use, luxuries, etc., 16 million dollars, as compared with the imports during the corresponding eight months of the preceding year. On the export side agricultural products increased 63 million dollars; manufactures, 53 millions; products of the mines, 2 millions, and miscellaneous articles nearly 2 millions. Products of the fisheries and of the forest each decreased slightly as compared with the first eight months of the preceding year, the former about 1 million dollars and the latter nearly 5 millions.

The duties collected from customs have increased materially since the close of the fiscal year 1905, that year having shown no appreciable increase in customs revenue as compared with the preceding year. The total amount of duties collected from customs during the fiscal year 1905 was $262,060,528, as against $262,013,079 in 1904, the increase being very slight, while for June, the closing month of the fiscal year 1905, the total customs revenue was $22,564,652, as against $22,590,692 in June of the preceding year. The revenues derived from customs show a decided improvement since the close of the fiscal year. Thus the revenue derived from customs in July, 1905, amounted to $21,590,149, as against $19,453,750 in July of the preceding year, and in August amounted to $26,181,282, as compared with $22,417,674 in August, 1904. For the eight months ending August 31, 1905, the total customs revenue aggregated $177,926,629, as against $170,475,016 in the same months of the preceding year, and of this increase of $7,451,013, $6,870,007 was accumulated during the two months of July and August of the present year.

Up to August 31, 1905, imports amounted to $770,412,026, as against $667,269,361 in the preceding year; and exports were valued at $966,612,607, as compared with $851,203,457 in the first eight months of 1904. The value of manufactures exported during the first eight months of 1905 practically equaled the total exports of manufactures during the entire calendar year 1892, being $376,198,679, as against a total of $380,787,891 for the entire year 1899. Should the commercial activity indicated by the August figures continue during the succeeding four months, the calendar year 1905 will show the largest volume of commerce, both as to imports and exports, ever recorded.

Reports received by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics, indicate that the total grain receipts at the ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore during August showed a gain of nearly 4 million bushels, if compared with similar arrivals in 1904. On the other hand, the inbound cereal movement at New Orleans, as well as at San Francisco and Tacoma, presented heavy losses by like comparisons. While Galveston's inbound grain movement during August was heavily in excess of that for a corresponding month in the preceding year, it should be understood that, during the latter period, the movement was exceptionally small.

At Boston, the month's receipts of grain totaled 1,692,928 bushels, as compared with 1,083,904 bushels for a corresponding month in 1904. Shipments which amounted to 908,893 bushels, were nearly 500,000 bushels in excess of a similar movement in the preceding year. Receipts of all grain at this port during the first eight months of the current year aggregated 12,655,026 bushels, as against 10,082,460 bushels in 1904. Corn movements were excessively heavy, the gain in the withdrawals of this cereal having amounted to nearly 5 million bushels.

New York's grain receipts during August totaled 7,728,907 bushels, of which 6,549,456 bushels represent a rail and 1,179,441 bushels a water movement. The total receipts of grain, flour and corn meal during the month of August aggregated 10,115,550 bushels, as against 8,706,240 bushels in 1904. Of the 1905 total, 8,899,177 bushels were received by rail, 68,822 bushels by river and coast, and 1,147,600 bushels by canal.

At Philadelphia the total inbound grain movements during the month amounted to 2,458,916 bushels, being slightly over a million bushels heavier than a like movement in 1904. Shipments for the month, which were 757,710 bushels in 1905, amounted to 383,528 bushels during a like month in the preceding year. Receipts of all cereals at this port for the first eight months of the current year totaled 10,423,991 bushels, in contrast with 10,140,692 bushels in 1904.

ON DIVORCE

CATHOLIC PRIEST ADDRESSED UNION MINISTERS' MEETING.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 10.—Fr. Blessing, pastor of St. Edward's church, discussed divorce before the union ministers' meeting here yesterday in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. He gave an exhaustive explanation of the stand taken on the question by the Roman Catholic church.

He said that secular matters should be governed by secular courts, but according to the tenets of the Roman Catholic church nothing that is sacred should be interfered with in any manner by secular tribunals, and the legal authorities have no right, in the sight of God, to take upon themselves the sundering of the bonds, which under his commands "no man shall put asunder."

The speaker read scriptural quotations and explained that under some circumstances the parties to a marriage in the Catholic church were allowed to separate, but under no circumstances to remarry. He added that the position of Bishop Doane that the Catholic church taught one thing and practiced another on the divorce question was a false one.

HAD TO PAY FEE

German Professor Says He Was Insulted

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Dr. Theodore Zincke, professor of chemistry in the University of Marburg, Germany, who passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to New York, declared that, although he had travelled all over Europe, Asia and Africa, he never before received such discourteous treatment as was given him when he entered the United States. He asserted that on his way to Seattle, last week, he was "treated like a Chinaman," and forced to pay a fee of $2 before he was allowed to cross the boundary line. Prof. Zincke was a classmate of Ira Remsen, one of the authorities on chemistry in the United States. His visit to Chicago was to renew his friendship with two of his former pupils, Dr. Max Henius and Dr. Robert Wahl. To them he asserted that on his arrival in Germany he will lay the matter before the bureau of foreign affairs.

He is accustomed to spend three months of every year in travel, and this year he came to America to view the grand canyon of the Colorado and to visit Alaska. On his return from the Klondike, he took a steamer from Vancouver to Seattle and it was while on board this boat that an "official" "treated him like a Chinaman." After he had answered 'numberless interrogations' he was told that "he was an alien," and was compelled to pay $2 as a fee for being allowed to land. He is at a loss to know whether the "official" represented the bureau of commerce and labor, or was a swindler."

ADMIRAL SASO

INSPECTOR GENERAL OF NAVAL CONSTRUCTION IS DEAD.

TOKIO, Oct. 10, 3 p. m.—Admiral Saso, inspector general of naval construction, is dead. His death is deeply lamented in naval circles as a heavy loss to the nation.

The abrogation of martial law, has had the effect of removing to a great extent the business depression in this city, and the public is now feeling in a more suitable mood to extend the heartiest kind of a reception to the British fleet, which is expected to arrive in Yokohoma tomorrow, October 11. The officers of the American cruiser Cincinnati, will be invited to attend all functions arranged in welcome to the British officers.

The weather forecast announcing a continuance of the bright autumn days is helping to increase the buoyancy of the public spirit.

MINOR ACCIDENTS.

While at work for the Lowell Electric Light Corp., yesterday afternoon, Frank Burke had his left foot crushed by a pole falling on it. He was taken to the Emergency hospital where he received treatment.

KILLED AT PLAY

Little Girl's Brain Was Pierced

HAD SHARP STICK IN MOUTH

Death Ensued in a Short Time

BOSTON, Oct. 10—Eva Harris, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harris of 159 London street, East Boston, fell in a passageway near her home yesterday afternoon, and the point of a thin stick of wood on which was a piece of candy she had been eating went through her mouth and then to her brain, killing her almost instantly.

When the screams of the child were first heard by her playmates and several women who live in the neighborhood it was not thought that she was seriously injured, but after one or two of the women had gone to her and seen the copious flow of blood from her mouth she was quickly taken in their arms to a physician's office; but when she arrived there inside of five minutes she was dead.

The girl was one of seven children—four boys and three girls—she being the youngest of the girls. The parents and most of the children were yesterday attending the Yom Kipper services in Hibernian hall on Harve street, East Boston, a short distance from their home.

Eva, with a number of other children, just before 3 o'clock, was at play in a passageway. The little girl with others had a cent, and with this she bought a kind of candy which consists of a small ball or apple attached to a stick about eight or nine inches long.

Eva had eaten most of her candy and was running through the passageway when she fell.

Mrs. Dora Wager of 29 Porter street and Mrs. Rebecca Pearlstein and Miss Mary Cooper of 21 Porter street were the first women to reach the side of the girl and immediately realizing she was seriously hurt they picked her up and started for a doctor's office. They had gone but a short distance when the brother of the girl came along and he then took his sister and ran to the office of Dr. Hartnett.

All this consumed less than five minutes, but when the child arrived at Dr. Hartnett's office she was dead.

LOWELL MAN

ROBERT CARRUTHERS DIED IN LAWRENCE YESTERDAY.

Robert Carruthers, a well-known and prominent manufacturer of this city, but who resides in Lawrence, died at his home, 101 Butler street, Lawrence, yesterday, aged 59 years. He had been in business in this city for more than ten years. His factory at the present time is located in the old stone mill at the corner of Church and Warren streets. He was a manufacturer of burr and picker-in cylinders, having had his shops located first in Dutton street and finally at the present location.

Mr. Carruthers was born in Blackburn, Lancashire, Eng., Oct. 3, 1846. He was descended from sturdy Scotch ancestors, his father, David, being born in Scotland in 1811. For more than 100 years his family has been engaged in the manufacture of reeds and harnesses, which business was a part of Mr. Carruthers' operations at his mill in Warren street.

He was obliged to go to work at the early age of seven years and remained in the employment of his father until he was 20 years old. By traveling through the country he obtained a thorough knowledge of his business and, in 1872 came to America and was employed at his trade at Providence, R. I., where he remained four years.

For three months he was employed by D. C. Brown of this city, who was then in the manufacturing business at the stone mill in Warren street. After further employment in Providence, he bought the plant of the Providence Reed and Harness company.

After two years he removed his machinery to Lawrence, where his business increased so largely that he moved one-half of it—the manufacture of reeds—to Lowell.

In 1896 he moved all of his Lawrence plant to Lowell and has subsequently become one of the largest reed manufacturers in the country.

He was a 32d degree Mason and belonged to the Bethany Commandery, K. T., also Mount Sinai Chapter, Grecian lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. He was a member of the Lawrence Encampment, and Canton Agawam, Lawrence lodge, I. O. O. F., and of the Home club.

In January, 1869, he was married to Miss Ann Buckley of Cheshire, Eng., who died five years ago. They had no children. He is survived by two brothers, Joseph and Alexander Carruthers of Wigginville, two nephews, Joseph Carruthers, Jr., of Wigginville and David Carruthers of this city, and one niece, Miss Elizabeth Carruthers of Wigginville.

BREAKS WILL

WOMAN ACCUSED AS FOND OF BAD AND POOR PLAYS.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 10.—That Mrs. Lizette Schandein was fond of sensational literature and plays of a low moral tone, was the testimony given yesterday by her son-in-law, Dr. Louis F. Frank before Judge Carpenter in the contest of Emil Schandein and Mrs. Frank, to break the will which gives the bulk of the Schandein estate to Mrs. Jacob Heyl, the third child.

Dr. William C. Becker and Dr. Richard Dewey were questioned relative to what moral or ethical effects arterial sclerosis would have upon a woman of Mrs. Schandein's age. The general trend of the testimony was to the effect that brain nutrition would be diminished, that the ethical functions of the brain would be lessened, the patient would have less power of judgment and would lose to a degree a sense of obligation.

Works Wonders

A Wonderful Compound. Cures Piles, Eczema, Skin Itching, Skin Eruptions, Cuts and Bruises.

Doan's Ointment is the best skin treatment, and the cheapest, because so little is required to cure. It cures piles after years of torture. It cures obstinate cases of eczema. It cures all skin itching. It cures skin eruptions. It heals cuts, bruises, scratches and abrasions without leaving a scar. It cures permanently. Lowell testimony proves it.

John Leach, janitor of Appleton National bank, and living at 43 Albion street, Lowell, Mass., says: "I just as emphatically endorse Doan's Ointment today as I did seven years ago when I used it for itching hemorrhoids. A few applications gave wonderful relief and in a short time I was completely and permanently cured. There has been no return of the annoying affliction during the years which have since elapsed. This shows that when Doan's Ointment cures, the cure is lasting. I procured the remedy at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WHY DOES EVERY ONE

In the Family Rush for Every Issue of the Boston Globe?

Because the Boston Globe has in it something for every member of the household. It is not a one-sided paper. It is the paper for young and old, and they know it. That is why they rush for it. It is the paper that has a department for the boys and girls; a department for the mother, and all the news for the head of the family. It has something for every one.

It has something for you.

Whittier, president of the State Federation, spoke upon federation and a report of the meetings of the American Institute of Instruction held in Portland, Me., July 10 to 13 was read by Miss Belle F. Batchelder. The program for the season will include the following:

Lecture by Mrs. Kate Upson Clark on "The Effect of Women's Clubs on Domestic Life." November 13, Miss Jane Seymour Klink of Springfield will speak on "Housework vs. Shop and Factory."

In the education department, Mrs. Caroline Stone Atherton comes Nov. 24, and there is also to be a course of Bible study, with three lectures in the early spring by Miss Bewes of Boston.

The history department has secured a course by Mr. Alleyne Ireland of four lectures, after Jan. 1. He will treat of the situation between the great nations and the Far East.

In the literature department there will be a five course on the literature of Spain, by Prof. J. D. M. Ford of Harvard university, who will give four lectures in January and February.

The art department has secured Dr. H. H. Powers of Boston, for an illustrated lecture early in the new year.

Mr. Garrett Servies will give one of his delightful illustrated lectures under the auspices of the science department, Nov. 29. Dec. 1 in the same department, Charles Lincoln Edwards, Ph. D., of Trinity college, Hartford, will speak on the wonders of the sea.

The hospitality committee has planned for at least four receptions during the year.

In January the clubs are supposed to pay especial attention to the civil service.

NOLAN KILLED

Man Was Dragged Into Shafting

SKOWHEGAN, Maine, Oct. 10.—Wm. Nolan, of Brucktonsh, N. B., is dead, as the result of an accident at the Riverside Pulp mills. Nolan was trying to straighten the belt on a pulley, when his hand was caught, dragging his body into the shafting and mangling it in a frightful manner.

BOY KILLED

WAS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HIS COMPANION.

ELLSWORTH, Me., Oct. 10.—The news of the accidental shooting of Basil Reed, the 14-year-old son of B. B. Reed, of West Tremont by Roy Eaton, a schoolmate, while the two were gunning for ducks, Saturday, reached here yesterday. The boys were in a naphtha launch and Eaton had just fired at a bird when he dropped his gun and the second barrel was discharged. The charge struck young Reed full in the breast, knocking him overboard. He was dead when he was taken from the water.

Fred C. Church had the insurance on Chas. F. Scribner's house at North Chelmsford.

IN NOMAN'S LAND

Sabrey Club Presents Musical Comedy

WAS WRITTEN BY W. O. DEARBORN

Last Night's Production a Great Success

SCENERY PAINTED FOR OCCASION

Big Event at the Eliot Church Last Night

The Sabrey club of the Eliot church gave an invitation dress rehearsal of the original three-act musical comedy "Noman's Land" written and arranged by William O. Dearborn, and made a big hit before a large gathering.

The scenery and effects were designed and painted by Ernest Dudley Chase and both young men combined their talents in making "Noman's Land" a success. The scenes, music and dialogue are full of life and harmony and the Sabrey boys worked in a little of their own fun to add to the general enjoyment of the piece. There is much catchy music and Miss Alice Livingston, Miss Lillian Mowatt and Mr. Paul Abbott contributed verse of local color to popular music.

The first official performance will be given tonight and there will be four in all, including a matinee tomorrow afternoon. About 100 members and friends of the club attended the dress rehearsal and they found nothing to criticise adversely, for the boys under the talented direction of Prof. P. Waldron Edmunds, were thoroughly at home in their parts and sang and acted with ease.

The play opens in New York with the Sabrey boys about to go on a yachting trip. The first scene closes with the singing of "Pals" by a quartet consisting of Messrs. McKittrick, Barton, Audet and Nichols.

Scene II of act I, in the cabin of the yacht Sea Breeze, the boys have an evening of fun and music. The choruses are especially well given, "Nicolini," "Lindi," "Be the Sunlight of My Heart," with solos by Sidney Barton and H. Robert Audet are good enough to be encored twice apiece. "The Advertiser's Dream," written by E. Dudley Chase, was given by "Perry Liner," Roland Black, and was a very clever composition.

Act II finds the boys shipwrecked in "Noman's Land" and arrayed in every kind of a costume from a barrel to pajamas. They are taken prisoners by the king and are ordered to be hanged. The king has not been known to smile in three years and the boys get an idea that if they can make him smile their lives will be saved.

The timely arrival of Miss Lucia DeLammermoor Smythe, an opera singer of world-wide prominence, causes the boys great relief. She has some of her costumes, and she insists upon fixing six of the boys up as girls, after which she presents them at the palace.

The king makes love to a "girl," and when, after much commotion, he finds out his mistake, he laughs. He wins the love of Miss Smythe and decides to make her the queen of the islands. There are several good musical numbers in the last two acts. "My Hindu Man," "Nigger in the Moon," "Bonnie," "Helpful Hints," "Egypt," "Down Where the Sasnee River Flows," "Where Jasmine Flowers are Twining," "To the King's Daughters," words by Miss Lillian Mowatt; "My Carolina Lady," "Knocking," and "Yankee Doodle Boy." Local hits in "Knocking" furnish plenty of amusement.

PLANT GROWING

Narrow Fabric Mills are Prospering

The Pentucket Narrow Fabric mills in Thorndike street that have been in operation since August give promise of expansion. The company was incorporated last week by William T. Sheppard, David W. Dewar and Alfred R. Philbrick.

The industry has been growing gradually since the first loom was started and the number of looms will be doubled within a month, and if all goes well the plant will be one of considerable size within a year.

BOSTON & MAINE

May Adopt the Pension System

The officials of the Boston & Maine railroad are considering the project of providing a pension for its older employes, and while nothing has yet been definitely done in the matter, it is certainly possible that some such plan will be put into operation shortly.

The idea as it is understood will give all employes who have reached the age of 60 years the privilege of retiring on half pay. If they desire to continue work, they may do so for five years, but having reached the age of 65, they will be retired bythe now rule and continue upon half pay.

The money for the pension project will come from two sources. The railroad will contribute a considerable amount, said to be in the hundreds of thousands. The employes will contribute the remainder, it being made up of an assessment of one and one-half cent levied upon the pay of every employe of the road.

Such a plan has been put into operation on other roads and has been found to be successful. The men of the Boston and Maine are anxious to secure something of the sort upon the road they work for, and if the officials see fit to make such provision for their old age, they will be most happy.

Large Number of School Boys Smoke Them

STATEMENT MADE BY DR. ASHAW

He Made Special Study of Subject

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—As a result of an investigation in nine grammar schools in this city yesterday Dr. W. Ashaw of Indianapolis, Ind., brought out the fact that 90 per cent. of the boys are confirmed cigarette smokers. According to Dr. Ashaw, who has been making a special study of the subject throughout the country, the number of children who smoke is in this city not greater than in many cities he has visited. In one of the schools the percentage of cigarette smokers was only 75 per cent, and this, he says, is the lowest he has ever encountered.

STRANGE CASE

Man is Unable to Pronounce Nouns

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Physicians at Plainfield, N. J., are much puzzled over the case of Garret T. Dunham, who was thrown from a trolley car several weeks ago, striking on his head. Dunham is now apparently as well as ever, except that he is unable to pronounce nouns. He has no difficulty with verbs, but when it comes to naming objects he is all at sea. Mr. Dunham's case, according to an expert, is extremely rare, paralysis of the naming centre, a part of the brain directly over the left ear. Specialists say that a similar case was reported a year ago. The victim would describe a knife as something to cut with or a glass as something to drink with, but could not name either article.

MURDERER GONE

He Was Serving a Life Sentence

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 10.—Hothenel, the murderer of Solsalon Soininon, the procurator general of Finland, escaped during the night from the prison here where he was undergoing a sentence of imprisonment for life.

Solsalon Soininon, whom the Finns prefer to call Johnson, ignoring the patent of nobility granted to him in 1904, was shot and killed February 6, at his residence, by Karl Leonard Hohenthal, formerly a student of the Imperial Alexander University at Helsingfors. He also wounded a son of the murdered man and was wounded himself in a fight which followed. Hohenthal was actuated by the widespread condemnation of Soininon's failure as procurator general to guard the ancient laws of Finland.

The office of procurator general is one of the highest in Finland. The procurator general is head of the department of justice of the Finnish senate. Soininon was 48 years old.

HISTORY OF COMMANDERY.

Pilgrim Commandery was organized by thirteen Knights Templar, who had been advanced to that degree, probably in the different commanderies of Boston. Early in the spring of 1855, these men met and decided to make application for a charter, and for authority to form and open an encampment, as the commanderies were known at that time in Lowell. In this application they promised to comply with all the rules and regulations of the order, and named as the first officers of the proposed organization: Sir Peter Lawson, commander; Sir Samuel Hutchinson, generalissimo; and Sir Samuel W. Brown, captain general. The petition was signed by the following sir knights: William North, W. S. Gardner, A. A. Putnam, Maynard Bragg, Charles Thompson, Peter Lawson, Solon Stevens, William A. Richardson, S. K. Hutchinson, Samuel W. Brown, Lewis Child and Theodore Edson.

The petition was granted on March 7, 1855, the permit being signed by S. W. Robinson, then grand master of the grand encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. On March 27, 1855, the first meeting of the encampment was held, and the following officers were elected and installed: Commander, Sir Peter Lawson; generalissimo, Sir Samuel Hutchinson; captain-general, Sir Samuel Brown; prelate, Sir William North; senior warden, Sir Augustus A. Putnam; junior warden, Sir William C. Gardner; treasurer, Sir A. W. Fisher; recorder, Sir William A. Richardson; standard bearer, Sir Maynard Bragg; warden, Sir Joel Spalding.

At the first meeting applications for admission were received from several candidates, among whom was General Benjamin F. Butler. The charter was granted on Oct. 10, 1855, and was signed by S. W. Robinson, then grand master of the encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island; John McClellan, grand generalissimo; and Cyrus Fisher, grand captain general.

The first six knight of Lowell to become grand commander of the encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island was William S. Gardner, who was elected to that position in 1863. Two others have filled the same exalted station since then—Sir Charles C. Hutchinson and Charles A. Stott. The first death that occurred was that of Sir Samuel W. Brown, who died in November, 1859.

LABOR LEADERS

Will Take Up Child Labor Question

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 10.—The attention of the delegates attending the annual session of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor was devoted entirely to the introduction and discussion of resolutions today. After the sessions today no more resolutions will be allowed to come before the convention unless by unanimous consent. An exception has been noted, however, on the question of child labor, which will come before the convention tomorrow. A special committee has been engaged in canvassing the subject for some time, conferring frequently with the delegates from large manufacturing centers and it is expected that the result of their investigations will be placed before the delegates accompanied by recommendations on the subject.

GOV. UTTER

WELCOMED DELEGATES TO S. S. TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—The importance of teacher training was the point most emphasized in the sessions of the 25th annual state Sunday School Teachers' Convention, which commenced in the Union Congregational church here today. After a cordial welcome had been extended by the pastor, Rev. James E. McConnell, and an address of similar import had been delivered by Governor George H. Utter, President Charles W. Calder, of the state association, thanked the speakers and took his place as chairman of the convention. After the transaction of some routine business, W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, international teacher training secretary, addressed the convention on "Approved Workmen; how secured."

Mrs. J. W. Barnes of New Jersey, international elemental grade secretary, on the topic "Childhood; its possibilities and limitations," was the first speaker of the afternoon, followed by Mr. Pearce, who spoke on "Principles of teaching." Mrs. C. E. Blake of Barrington, R. I., spoke on "Work with boys and girls."

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to conferences of the different grades of teachers in Sunday school work.

DR. HYDE

HEAD OF GAELIC LEAGUE WILL SPEAK AT HARVARD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Thomas O'Concannon, chief organizer of the Gaelic League in Ireland, has arrived in New York to perfect arrangements for the lecturing tour of Dr. Douglas Hyde, president of the league, who will arrive here Nov. 15, and who will deliver his first address at Harvard, and will then make a 14-day tour of the United States.

Concerning the league Mr. O'Concannon said:

"The Gaelic League was founded 12 years ago by six young men. Today there are 30 branches of the Gaelic League in Dublin and, roughly speaking, 876 branches throughout Ireland, with about 100,000 members of the league."

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 10.—Several thousand delegates came to this city today to attend the 32nd annual convention of the state Woman's Christian Temperance union at the First Baptist church. The convention was called to order by the president, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson of Boston, and will continue until Friday noon. After brief devotional services today organization was effected and addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor Augustine Daly on behalf of the city, Rev. Dr. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, on behalf of the church and others. A general response was made by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Lambert of Attleboro. The annual address of the president and a brief session followed.

DIST. ATTORNEY

New Dramatic Success at Academy of Music

A LARGE AUDIENCE WAS DELIGHTED

The Stock Company Scores Another Hit

A more appreciative or a better satisfied audience never filed out of the Academy of Music than that which witnessed the presentation of "The District Attorney" by the members of the Huntington-DeDeyn Stock company at the Academy of Music last night. People who expected to witness one of the finest plays of political intrigue were not disappointed, and it was with considerable reluctance they left their seats at the conclusion of the last act.

The story is one of thrilling interest as it develops. "The District Attorney" impresses the spectator as a drama written especially to meet that public curiosity which the details of a past legislative inquiry in New York excited. The notably dramatic strength of the play is developed in the third act, the scene of which is the district attorney's office. The atmosphere of the place with its peculiar activities, is produced most effectively here.

The reformatory spirit which was so rife shortly after the investigation is incidentally shown by the snubbing of McGrath, one of the ward heelers, who calls to ask that justice might be shown in his favor for one of his tools, and several other very notable things occur during this act.

The fourth act, which ends the story, departs from the more dramatic to the psychologic element. The district attorney, worn by conflicting impulses, has refused to visit his father-in-law, who was the means of putting him in office in order to protect a gang of swindlers of which he was one of the prime movers.

Later on, Brainord, the father-in-law, broken with illness, appears at District Attorney Stratton's house, and after an angry scene with Stratton, pleads with him for protection. He refuses and urges restitution. Brainord later on learns that McGrath has been arrested, has confessed and is going to turn state evidence and that his destruction of the documentary evidences was useless to save him. He sees state prison staring him in the face, but is willing to pay any amount of money to avoid arrest and disgrace, yes, even to stand for the fifteen years' torture in Sing Sing of an innocent young man who was fraudulently sentenced for a crime which he never committed. But the district attorney, despite the family ties with the villain, refuses to waver and will listen to nothing but restitution and the clearing of the name of the innocent young man, his pleadings being seconded by his wife.

In a very dramatic situation which kept the interest of the audience at a high pitch Brainord agrees to make restitution and the district attorney then and there declares that he will resign his office and devote his time in defense of his father-in-law.

The interest of the play is steadily cumulative and there is abundant excitement of the dramatic kind to the end of the third act. The last act, however, presents a novel study of the problem on which the principal characters appear. The climaxes in the third act give admirable opportunities to Stratton, Brainord and Grace Brainord to display their talent.

The character of John Stratton, the district attorney, offers to Mr. Wright Huntington many opportunities which he fully embraces with artisticability. At times he rose to the highest conception of the role, and during these moments his dramatic power was clearly demonstrated. He never overdoes his part and is always natural and unaffected.

The old man who tried by most desperate means to keep his affairs a profound secret had a hard part and Frank Whittier was quite successful in it. His conception was both thrilling and artistically performed. He showed by his portrayal that he must have given careful study to the part. Miss Isabel Fletcher as Grace Brainord, the district attorney's wife, was exceptionally forceful and pleasing, and did a really clever piece of acting. She was very sympathetic, straightforward and ingenious.

The comedy part of the piece is ably handled by Howard Russell as Wellington Gridley, clerk to Stratton, and Thomas Walsh as General Ruggles, the editor. The comedy work of the piece is in the hands of Miss Mabelle Estelle as Madge Brainord who is clever as usual. Frederick Webber as Frank Pierson, the convict, had only a small part, but his excellent acting gave it marked prominence. Miss Marie Curtis gave to the part of Helen Knight a touching pathos. The other characters were excellently taken care of by other members of the company. The play is staged under the direction of Mr. Huntington.

"The District Attorney" is sure to please large audiences during the week, though the advance sale has been very large, and those who wish to secure good seats should make early application at the box office. The play will be given every night during the week as well as this afternoon, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees.

DROWNED

YOUNG FISHERMAN WAS WASHED OVERBOARD.

CALAIS, Me., Oct. 10.—Calvin P. Stewart, a young fisherman of the schooner Pubal Cain, was washed overboard from the bow of the vessel by a high sea during the night. The captain of the boat made an effort to save the boy, but failed. The body was not recovered. Stewart's home was at Lords Cove, Deer Island, N. B.

HENRY SHELDON DEAD.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 10.—Henry Sheldon, formerly a manufacturing jeweler, and in later years a prominent real estate dealer, died at his residence here today after a lingering illness, aged 71 years. Mr. Sheldon was also associated with cutlery houses in Boston and New York. He was the republican candidate for mayor of this city four times, though never elected. A widow and two adult sons survive.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Two Arrested for Obscene Printing

IMPORTANT CATCH BY THE POLICE

Several Complaints Had Been Made

Inspector Walsh made two important arrests yesterday when he took in A. M. Barrette and Joseph L. Gadbois of Moody street on charges of photographing and printing obscene pictures.

The filthy picture evil has been growing in Lowell of late and the police have received several complaints from parents to the effect that their boys and in some cases girls have had these pictures in their possession.

Superintendent Moffatt became aware from the frequency of the complaints that some one was making a business of putting out the pictures in this city and assigned Inspector Walsh to investigate. The latter found the task a difficult one owing to the secrecy with which the business was done. On Saturday night, however, the keeper at the police station while searching a man arrested for drunkenness, found one of the pictures in his possession and he immediately turned it over to Inspector Walsh, who after an interview with the prisoner received a clew which resulted in the arrest yesterday afternoon of Barrett.

After a talk with Barrette at the police station Inspector Walsh went with Corporation Detective Noyes for the purpose of getting Gadbois at the Lawrence hosiery where he is employed. They met him on Suffolk street and placed him under arrest. Barrette is charged with photographing and Gadbois with printing the pictures. Some are made from drawings and others from other photographs. Barrette is 52 years of age and single, while Gadbois is 27 years of age and married. Barrette obtained bail in the sum of $500. The penalty is a fine from $100 to $1000, or imprisonment from three months to three years in the house of correction, or both.

MUTUAL GAVE $40,000

More Insurance Money for Republican Campaign Fund

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Sir John Lang, member of the British parliament, was a guest of the insurance investigating committee at its session today.

The first witness was Robert Olyphant, chairman of the expenditure committee of the Mutual Life Insurance company. From him it was expected to learn what became of $75,000 charged to legal expenses. This sum was spent in three installments of $25,000 each, the last installment being paid the day after the presidential election last year.

Mr. Olyphant said there is no limit to the money the committee on expenditures may authorize to be paid out. The Mutual Life maintains a confidential fund for legal expenses. The details of payments for this fund were not brought before the board of trustees but merely the total amounts. Bills came to this committee from the law department after being duly authorized by the executive officers. The money was usually drawn in cash. An entry of $25,000 on the books January 20, 1904, it was said, was paid to him in cash. He was assured this was needed for the policy holders benefit and that all was regular.

Dr. Gillette, one of the vice presidents, told him it was for law purposes. Witness did not feel responsible to the company, an executive officer having told him it was perfectly legal. He took no vouchers for this payment, nor for others in August and December, 1904.

Money was similarly expended, Mr. Olyphant said, in the term of office of his predecessor, J. Hobart Herrick and it never occurred to Mr. Olyphant to ascertain to whom the money went, beyond the word of an executive officer. Mr. Hughes then read the by-laws governing the expenditures committee and calling for reports of expenditures of this committee. Witness said no reports were made. In reply to questions by Mr. Hughes, the witness said he had heard contributions were made to campaign committees, and he supposed they came out of this confidential fund. Dr. Gillette had told him that campaign contributions had been made and ther was no other fund that this money could be taken from.

Mr. Hughes then asked that Dr. Gillette be summoned. James M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual Life, asked that Mr. Granniss be excused if Dr. Gillette appeared as there were already president, two vice presidents and the general manager of the company, and somebody was needed to run the business. Mr. Hughes insisted, however, that he could excuse nobody but would put the company to as little inconvenience as possible.

Questioning Mr. Olyphant further, Mr. Hughes brought out that there were five payments in 1903 of $25,000 each, all made in the same way as those in 1904 and out of the confidential fund.

Mr. Olyphant was asked if it was a practise to look no further into expenditures when approved by a vice-president and witness replied: "We have to."

Vice-President Robert A. Granniss was then called. He was asked about the $2,500 contribution to the congressional committee previously discovered. He presumed it was charged to law expenses. Mr. Granniss knew of contributions to the republican campaign fund in 1896 and 1904 but did not know the amounts. Contributions could be made without his knowledge. Witness considered the company was justified in making contributions to the various campaign funds because of the free silver menace. Asked to approximate the contributions to the last national republican committee, witness did not think it would exceed $20,000.

The vouchers for the $25,000 expenditures were presented and one of these was signed by Mr. Granniss. This was the payment in August, but witness could not tell what it was for. Witness said no contributions were made to state campaign funds.

Mr. Granniss said he instructed Mr. Thummel from time to time relative to attention to legislation in various states but he could not recall the particulars.

Mr. Granniss was excused for a time and Dr. Walter R. Gillette, vice-president of the Mutual Life, was called. He said he made the contract with the firm of C. H. Raymond & Co., agents, of his own volition and no one was responsible for this contract prior to 1903 but the witness and the president. The $25,000 vouchers were shown the witness. All of them had been approved by the witness except the one authorized by Mr. Granniss. Dr. Gillette said they were for legal expenses.

He did not know anyone who could tell what legal matters required the payment of $100,000 in one year to the general solicitor. Mr. Hughes then asked if the general solicitor could not get $25,000 whenever he pleased without disclosing the purpose for which it is to be used and witness replied that he could. He said the general solicitor never made a report of what he did with moneys paid him.

"Is your mind a blank on this question?" Mr. Hughes asked.

"Not entirely."

"Well, will you please state anything there might be in it?"

"You mean in my mind?" asked the witness.

"Yes."

"Well out of respect to you I won't speak it," hotly retorted the witness.

Mr. Granniss described the executive work similar to the testimony of Mr. Thummell as weak and said the expenditures for this work did not always come under his direction.

Walter R. Gillette, vice-president of the Mutual Life, testified that the Mutual Life contributed $40,000 to the republican national committee's campaign fund in the last election in 1904.

Vice-Pres. Gillette also stated that the Mutual Life Insurance company contributed $35,000 to the republican national committee in 1900 and $15,000 in 1896. Dr. Gillette justified these contributions on the same ground as did Pres. John A. McCall of the New York Life, in the contributions of that company, saying that the St. Louis platform of the democratic party and the free silver issue were a menace to the policy holders. Dr. Gillette said he authorized these expenditures after consultation with the president, vice-presidents and some members of the board of trustees of the Mutual Life. The campaign contributions, Dr. Gillette said, came from the fund controlled by the committee on expenditures.

Dr. Gillette said that when he secured the $25,000 in 1904 he told Mr. Olyphant what he intended to use it for.

He said no money had been expended in any state or municipal campaign, nor had there been any contribution to any congressional committee beyond the one heretofore mentioned.

Witness said that A. C. Fields, superintendent of the supply department, receives a salary of $10,000 a year, but had not looked after this department for several years owing to ill health. His duties are transacted by a Mr. Norris, whose salary witness did not know.

Dr. Gillette said the account of postage, taxes, advertising, medical services, law stationery and salaries are under his direct supervision. He stated that the Mutual Life paid $72,861 last year for luncheons for its clerical force in this city. This was at the rate of almost $250 a day.

An item of $36,000 for committee fees, Mr. Gillette said, was for compensation of committee members who are not officers of the company. Mr. Hughes pointed out that in 1901 $243,000 was paid for legal expenses, while in 1903 it was $347,000. Witness said this was because of the growth in the business.

The expenses of the company in 1902 were $5,478,939, in 1903 they were $6,721,353 and in 1904 were $7,199,530. Witness was asked what he had done to reduce the cost of insurance and replied that he had done nothing more than he had explained in holding up any item of expense until he was assured it was necessary. Just before the recess was announced there was a sharp tilt between Mr. Hughes and J. M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual Life.

Mr. Hughes had asked that A. C. Fields, the superintendent of the supply department, be produced this afternoon, when Mr. Beck jumped to his feet and said;

"Mr. Hughes when this investigation was started, we waived the serving of subpoenas. You sent us a list of the officers and employes you wanted to examine and these with many others have been produced. Now if you want expert testimony and want to disregard the state of this man's health, we will remand you to your legal remedy—subpoena him."

Mr. Hughes replied that he understood the company stood ready to produce any one called for and he realized the right of the committee to subpoena anybody whose presence could not be obtained voluntarily. Chairman Armstrong of the committee interrupted by saying "this committee can subpoena, and if Mr. Field's presence can be obtained in no other way he will be subpoenaed."

Knights Templar Observe Golden Jubilee

EMINENT SIR JAMES F. SAVAGE, COMMANDER.

With Beautiful Exercises at the First Baptist Church — Historical Address by Solon W. Stevens—Banquet This Evening

Today marks the 50th anniversary of the formation of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar, and a more perfect day for the observance of a golden jubilee could not be desired.

To assist them in their celebration, today the knights have as guests the grand officers of Massachusetts and Rhode Island who arrived here in a special car attached to the 1 o'clock train from Boston and were met at the depot by the members of the local commandery in full regalia, and accompanied by the Lowell Military band. The local commandery left the Masonic Temple in Middlesex street about 1 o'clock and proceeded down Merrimack to Central to Middlesex to the northern depot where the visitors were met. Then the line was reformed and the line of march this time was taken through Thorndike and Fletcher streets to Dutton, to Merrimack, to Central to Church, to the First Baptist church where the afternoon's exercises took place.

The exterior of the Temple on Merrimack street was very neatly decorated and excited much favorable comment, not only from the visiting sir knights but from passersby on the street. From the roof floated gracefully a mammoth blue and white pennant bearing two small white crosses on a blue field at the base. The

35,000 PEOPLE

See the Giants and Athletics Battle

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 10.—A crowd estimated at 35,000 persons was gathered at the gates of the Polo grounds today three hours before the time set for the beginning of the second game of the series for the world's baseball championship between the New York National League and the Philadelphia American League clubs.

The adherents of the local team bet $2 gold as 8 to 5 on the New Yorks beating the Philadelphia Americans and there was not much American league cash in sight at these odds.

The Philadelphia Athletics arrived at the grounds at 1 10 o'clock with the New Yorkers.

There were many cheers from the ranks of the Philadelphia supporters in the stands when big Rube Waddell was seen at the head of the Philadelphia players.

The batting order:

Philadelphia Hartsell, lf; Lord, cf; Davis, 1b; L. Cross, 3b; Seybold, rf; Murphy, 2b; M. Cross, ss; Schreck, c; Bender, p.

New York Bresnahan, c; Browne, rf; Donlin, rf; McGann, 1b; Mertes, lf; Dahlen, ss; Devlin, 3b; Gilbert, 2b; McGinnity, p.

Umpires, O'Day and Sheridan.

By 2.45 o'clock every seat in the double decked grand stand and the uncovered stands as well as the bleachers were occupied by a howling throng of men and women. Every seat had been sold for hours before the gates had been opened and the speculators reaped a harvest. Not a ticket for a seat could be had at this time and the late comers were compelled to stand behind the ropes surrounding the outfield. Ground rules, which were established on this account in Philadelphia yesterday had to be adopted here today. A hit into the crowd only means two bases as a limit and the only chances for a home run will be a clean hit over the heads of the spectators on the field.

It was estimated that 35,000 people were present half an hour before the game began. At 3.01 p. m. Umpires O'Day and Sheridan called the champions together at the home plate.

FIRST INNING.

Hartsel singled to left but was forced at second by Lord's hit to Dahlen. Davis flied to Devlin. L. Cross hit to Dahlen, forcing Lord at second. No runs.

Bresnahan doubled to left field fence. Browne popped to Bender. Donlin fouled to M. Cross. McGann struck out. No runs.

SECOND INNING.

Seybold flied to Donlin. Murphy out to McGinnity to McGann. M. Cross flied to Brown. No runs.

Mertes struck out. Dahlen walked and stole second. Devlin also walked. Trying for a double steal, Dahlen was caught at third, Gilbert out, M. Cross to Davis. No runs.

THIRD INNING.

Schreck was safe on Gilbert's wild throw. Bender sacrificed, Bresnahan to McGann. Hartsel out, Gilbert to McGann. Lord singled to centre, scoring Schreck. Davis out, Dahlen to McGann. One run.

A SURVEY

OF THE PUBLIC LANDS IN HAWAII

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

HONOLULU, Oct. 2.— via. San Francisco, Oct. 10.—A complete survey of the public lands of the territory has just been finished by the survey department and the land office has made a list of the lands, showing that in all the islands there are 1,719,160 acres of government lands. Of these nearly all are under leases, mostly to sugar plantation. The lands which are not under lease aggregate 400,000 acres. Orders have been received from Washington for the establishment of three branch postoffices in Honolulu. There has been one general office, up to this time.

A. W. Pearson, manager of the Hawaiian Gazette company, publishers of the Daily Advertiser, is dead, after a long illness. He was a native of Milwaukee, born in 1858, and had been prominent in local business and public affairs for many years.

Lorrin Andrews, attorney-general for the territory, has sailed for Shanghai and will probably settle there. His resignation is in the hands of Governor Carter. E. C. Peters, first deputy of the department, is in charge of the office.

SOCIALISTS

WANT A PLACE ON THE BOSTON BALLOT.

BOSTON, Oct. 10—Members of the socialistic party petitioned the supreme court today to compel the Boston election commissioners to recognize them as a legal municipal party. The socialists were not permitted to hold caucuses under the general law this year by the state because they failed to poll three per cent. of the total vote for governor at the last state election. Recently the ballot commissioners refused caucus privileges for the coming city election upon the same ground. The commissioners contend that in the last city election, their party did poll over three per cent. of the vote cast for mayor and claim that the state decision should not affect the situation in Boston.

BOSTON THEATRE.

J. H. Tibbetts has struck the popular chord again this week. The great Laroses, the world's wire performers, seem to have been born in the air or on a wire; Corelli, the pantomimist, does his turn and greatly amuses the audience. The Paragon Trio in their singing and dancing acts are all right and there are lots of other good attractions at the Boston this week. The moving pictures will be better than ever and on Wednesday and Thursday evenings there will be cyclones of fun for everybody. Do not miss it. The show is a corker.

ROYAL ARCANUM

The Councils May Draw From General Fund

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—A decision whereby the subordinate Royal Arcanum councils may draw from their general fund for the purpose of investigating the increased rates of the organization was announced today by the legal committee of the national executive committee of the associated councils of the Royal Arcanum. The question was raised as to whether the subordinate councils could use money from the general fund for the purpose of legal action against the new rates ordered to be effective Oct. 1 by the supreme council. The legal committee finds that if the holding council is convinced from the large number of suspensions and withdrawals that immediate steps should be taken to examine into the legal situation with a view to protect the order from gradual dissolution and a large loss of membership it is clearly within the power of the council, to use its funds for such a purpose.

TYPHOID FEVER

PARENTS SAID TO BE HIDING THE MATTER.

A case has been brought before the local board of health which is beginning to assume very serious aspects. Owing to the fact that the health authorities have not secured enough of evidence in the case the name of the alleged offender has been withheld.

The family in question occupies a tenement on the Merrimack corporation, and consists of a father, stepmother and three small children. The children have typhoid fever.

The disease has been covered up, owing to the fact that the posting of a sign on the door might force the lodgers in the house to leave their apartments.

The father of the children is a drug clerk and knows something of medicine and it is said he has been caring for the children.

Inquiry at the house has met with the reply that the children had just a slight cold and would be better in a few days, but according to the inspector sent to the place the children are in great danger of death.

BANKERS MEET

INTERESTING SESSIONS HELD IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Trust company section and the savings bank section of the American Bankers' Association, held annual sessions here today preliminary to the 31st state annual convention of the association, which begins tomorrow.

In this annual address to the trust company section, Pres. Potter said he did not wish to go on record as to whether or not there should be federal control of trust companies but he wished to emphatically urge "frequent and rigid examinations, whether state or federal."

President E. J. Stellwagen of the Union Trust company of Washington, wanted the section "to raise its standard for greater charter requirements along the line of the national bank act to make it impossible for disaster born of carelessness, fraud or corruption to overtake trust companies."

E. T. Perine, general manager of the Audit company of New York, said that the trust companies retain one-tenth of the banking power of the U. S. estimated at $33,000,000,000. The savings bank section was addressed by its chairman, Charles E. Sprague, president of the Union Savings Institution of New York.

R. Ridgley, comptroller of the currency, advocated some system of federal control of savings banks, although he said this should not be "interference" but "intervention."

BOTH BRANCHES

OF CITY COUNCIL WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The board of aldermen will meet in regular session and the common council will hold an adjourned meeting this evening and among other things the order to have Moody street paved with Warren Bros.' paving, will be introduced.

The mayor today signed the order satisfying the claim of Mary McVey for $25. He also signed resolutions to lay sewers in Winthrop avenue, Sycamore, Lowell and Fulton streets and another resolution to lay a sidewalk of edgestones on both sides of New street.

FAST GAME

INNIS DIAMONDS WON FROM THE MOHILL WONDERS.

The first regular match game of Gaelic football that has been played in this vicinity for some time took place in Tewksbury yesterday when two teams of Lowell players engaged in a sharp contest. The teams known as the Innis Diamonds, captained by Michael Guthrie, and the Mohill Wonders, led by big John Brady, have been in practice for several weeks and the game yesterday was for blood. The Diamonds scored one goal and two points to one goal for the Mohill lads. Considerable money changed hands on the result of the game for the supporters of each side were confident that their favorites would win. Another game is on the tapis and will be witnessed by a great crowd. "Johnny" Duffy refereed yesterday's game.

A PARDON

GRANTED TO FORMER BANK CASHIER MATHES OF DOVER.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 10.—At the session of Governor McLane and his council today, Albert O. Mathes of Dover, serving a sentence in the state prison for embezzlement from the bank of which he was cashier, was pardoned, the pardon to take effect October 21, the date of the expiration of his minimum sentence. The effect of this pardon is to relieve him from the parole of his sentence.

Henry K. W. Scott of Laconia was appointed warden of the state prison. David E. Murphy of Concord was appointed trustee of the state industrial school, to succeed John C. Linehan, deceased.

Ramsey Threatens to Take Legal Action

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 10—The annual meeting of the Wabash railroad, opened at 9 a. m. today, in the offices of Smith and Beckwith, the local attorneys for the railroad. Under the by-laws of the company, the election is to continue until noon and it was expected that the announcement of the result would be made by the election inspectors at about 12.15. Of the directors there were present, when the meeting opened, Geo Gould, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., Edgar T. Welles, John T. Terry, Winslow S. Pierce, E. T. Jeffrey and S. C. Reynolds. All of these save Mr. Ramsey were adherents of Mr. Gould. The situation did not change over night and there was no apparent abatement in the confidence of either side. Mr. Ramsey claims that it will not be possible to retire him as a director for the reason that he controls at least one-tenth of the votes, and under the system of voting, permissible in Ohio, he will be able to re-elect himself. The Gould party, however, look upon Mr. Ramsey's connection with the board of directors as a matter to be spoken of in the past tense only. "Mr. Gould has fully determined that there shall be a change in the board of directors," is the way they put it.

There were rumors early today, that legal steps would be taken by Mr. Ramsey's attorneys to prevent the re-election as directors of the Wabash of George Gould, Russell Sage and James H. Hyde on the ground that they are also directors of the Missouri Pacific, which line parallels the Wabash between St. Louis and Kansas City, but up to the time of the opening of the meeting, nothing had transpired in this direction.

At the opening of the meeting, Col. Doyle acting for Mr. Ramsey objected to Mr. Gould as presiding officer on the ground that he was director of the Missouri Pacific, a parallel line to the Wabash. He also objected to the three inspectors of election, Moses Raynolds, Colton and Newton. Mr. Ramsey said:

"I also offer objections as a stockholder."

On motion of Mr. Greer, of the firm of Pierce and Greer, Mr. Gould's legal advisers the objection was spread on the record.

After the transaction of some routine business the regular meeting was adjourned to permit of the canvass of the bond holders. Under the law the bond holders have the right to choose six directors, the stockholders six and the twelve the thirteenth.

Mr. Greer nominated as directors for the bond holders E. T. Welles, Winslow S. Pierce, W. H. Saunders, R. C. Clowry, Russell Sage and R. M. Galloway. Col. Doyle for Mr. Ramsey demanded that the directors be chosen by ballot. This was voted down and the men were chosen by roll call.

Mr. Ramsey's attorneys demanded that a proxy be shown, as each name was called. There were great numbers of these and the operation consumed much time.

TEXTILE GOSSIP

News From Several Mill Centers

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 10.—Radical changes in local mill management have taken place within the past week. It started with the resignation of William Evans as superintendent of the Bourne mills, after holding the position only two or three months.

The next move was the announcement that Arthur M. Hamilton had resigned as superintendent of the Hargraves and Parker mills of this city and the Parker mills of Warren, R. I., all owned by practically the same corporation. It also developed that he had some time ago ceased to manage the Peabody mills of Newburyport, owned by the same people.

Next it turned out that Mr. Evans is to succeed Mr. Hamilton at the Hargraves mills here, while George De-Lue, who was Mr. Hamilton's assistant, is to be superintendent of the Parker mills here, and James Lee, formerly assistant superintendent in Warren, is to be superintendent there.

Timothy Mooney, formerly superintendent of the Wampanoag mills here, is to be superintendent of the Peabody mills.

SECURING MILL OPERATIVES.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 10.—Rosemau & Loeb's Liberty Mill in Agriculture Hall now has ten hands at work. A week ago the mill was started and it is expected that in a month the number of employes will be increased to 60. Hellertonians take great pride in the industry, which it is hoped will outgrow the present accommodations.

SALE OF KNITTING MILL.

MILTON, Pa., Oct. 10.—Papers have been signed for the sale of the West Branch Hosiery Factory and Milton Spinning Mill to a syndicate of capitalists from Philadelphia. The purchase price is not made public, but it was agreed to by all the creditors of the West Branch and Milton Spinning companies. The concerns will be reincorporated as one company and will include the J. F. Leiberman factory, which will be merged into the plant. The management of the concern will be in charge of M. Leiberman. The new company will take charge of the mills as soon as the court approves the sale. The mill will be operated under the management of Receiver Higbee until the new owners assume control so that there will be no suspension of work. It is the intention of the new company to operate the mill to its fullest capacity.

WORKING NIGHTS.

COHOES, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Tivoli Knitting Mills No. 1 and 2 of the Root Manufacturing Co. will begin working overtime this week and from now on will continue operations every night until 9 o'clock.

UNION MILLS MEETING.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 10—At the meeting of stockholders of the Union Cotton Mills a compromise was effected whereby the president, T. C. Duncan, was re-elected, resigned immediately and was replaced by E. W. Robertson, president of the National Loan & Exchange Bank of Columbia, S. C., who was elected president and treasurer, the new by-laws providing that one person can hold both offices.

The session was devoted largely to a report of a committee to examine the expert accountant's report.

ENLARGE PRINT WORKS.

JEWETT CITY, Conn., Oct. 10.—The Jewett City Textile Novelty Co., dyer and printer of cotton goods, is having plans prepared for additional buildings as follows: One bleaching building, 40 x60 feet, one story; one gray room building, 26x40 feet, one story; one can room building, 30x50 feet, two stories; all of brick and heavy mill construction. The contractors recently completed an addition to the main building, 60x125 feet, three stories high, and a boiler house, 50x50 feet, is being erected.

1500 GUESTS

WANT FORESTS ON "PRESIDENTIAL RANGE" PRESERVED.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 10—It was announced today that a petition signed by 1500 summer guests in the White Mountains and asking that a special session of the state legislature be called to consider the best methods of preventing the impending devastation of the forests on the "Presidential Range," has been sent to Governor John McLane. It was understood that the matter would be considered at the meeting of the governor and council here today. The petition says in part;

"It seems to your petitioners that this noble range should be kept as a state park and a monument to New Hampshire's foresight and liberality. Aside from the importance of the forests to the water supply of this and other New England states, and aside from the pleasure, which their beauty gives to those, who visit them, they are important to the state itself in many ways among which not the least is the annual revenue they bring its citizens by attracting summer visitors. This revenue is put in jeopardy by the destruction of the forests and that without any adequate compensation from the mere sale of lumber.

"Even for the ultimate interests of the lumber industry, foresight demands conservative cutting with a view to the preservation of the forests.

"In view of the alarming rapidity with which the cutting has proceeded in the last two years and is now proceeding, we believe that any action to be effectual should be immediate."

SAILS FOR BREMEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan & Co., and vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, who recently testified before the insurance investigation committee sailed for Bremen today on the Kaiser Wilhelm II.

GREAT NORTHERN STOCK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—A new issue of 250,000 shares of Great Northern railway company stock, to be offered to stockholders at par, was announced today in a circular signed by James J. Hill, president of the company. Shareholders may subscribe to the new stock to the extent of 20 per cent. of their present holdings.

The funds provided by the sale of the new stock are to be used to take up financial arrangements of a temporary character made during the Northern Pacific-Great Northern litigation and also furnish money for acquirement of new property and securities as may be ordered by the board of directors.

THE BOSTON MARKET.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—There was an improved tone to the local copper shares today and trading was more active. Isle Royale was the feature, advancing to 25, up 1½. Atlantic was among the active features. Mexican Telephone shares have been stricken from the list of the Boston stock exchange and the temporary receipts for the new stock placed in the unlisted department. Allouez advanced in the first hour to 41¾ up 1.

FINED $150 EACH

For Making and Selling Obscene Pictures

Joseph L. Gadbois, 27, and Andavaste M. Barrette, 52, were arraigned in police court this forenoon on complaints charging them with copying and circulating obscene pictures. Through their counsel, Albert Blazon, they pleaded guilty and were ordered to pay fines of $150 each. Both fines were paid.

Today's session was a short one. John F. Quinn and Jeremiah Sullivan, parole men, were ordered back to the state farm. They left there yesterday morning and proceeded to "howl up" just as soon as the opportunity presented itself and they were decidedly under the weather when taken into custody last evening.

John F. Sheehy was charged with drunkenness, and it being his second offence within a year a fine of $6 was imposed.

James Kelley, Edward Flynn and Patrick Casey were fined $2 each.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

ELECTED VICE-PRES. OF PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Because of the interest he has taken in the work of the public schools athletic league, President Roosevelt was yesterday elected to the office of vice president of that organization at a meeting of the executive committee. The league is one of the largest organizations devoted to sports and athletic pastimes in the world.

SPOTTED FEVER

MORE NEW CASES REPORTED THIS MORNING.

Another case of cerebro-spinal meningitis has been reported to the board of health. The latest case is that of Ovilda Poorest, aged 35 years, and residing at 638 Merrimack street. This case was reported late yesterday afternoon, this making three cases in all.

One of the cases, the oldest one, is in L street and the other, which was reported yesterday is at the Lowell hospital.

SEVEN COUNTS

AGAINST ONE OF THE OWNERS OF DEFUNCT BANK.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 10.—Despatches from Alamosa last night said that Isaac Schiffer, one of the owners of the defunct bank of Alamosa, under arrest on seven counts, charging embezzlement and receiving money knowing his bank to be insolvent, was placed under $100,000 bonds at the request of the District Attorney yesterday. Schiffer was taken from the county jail at Alamosa to Pueblo and placed in jail there on failure to supply bonds.

27TH DISTRICT

Conley and Murphy Are Nominated

Martin F. Conley of ward five and Timothy S. Murphy of ward nine were the unanimous choice of the 27th district democratic representative convention last evening, which was held in democratic headquarters.

Martin Crowe called to order and there was a fair representation of delegates. The nominations were made by acclamation.

The district committee elected was: Nicholas Gallagher, Dracut; James F. Fairgrieves, Tewksbury; Dexter C. Whitmore, Carlisle; Walter Campbell, North Reading; Patrick McMahon, Wilmington; Edward Costello, Jr., Billerica; James O'Brien, Burlington; Patrick J. Cox, Martin Crowe and John P. Conley of ward 5; John W. Daly, Patrick J. O'Brien and William Callahan of ward 9. Martin Crowe was selected as chairman of the committee, and they were given full power to fill any vacancies.

TOOK NO ACTION

Mill Men Received Operatives' Letter

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 10.—The executive committee of the Manufacturers' association met this morning and after discussing the communication from the textile council asking a restoration of the wage scale that was in force prior to July 28, 1904, adjourned without taking any action upon it. No call for a general meeting of the association has been issued and none may be for some days. Meantime, until one is held, it is not expected that a reply will be sent to the textile council. The text of the communication is as follows:

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 9, 1905.

Clarence M. Hathaway, Esq.

Secretary Cotton Mfrs.' Association:

Dear Sir: At a meeting of the Textile council, held yesterday, I was instructed to inform you of the unanimous vote of the council, to request from the Manufacturers' association, a restoration of the wages paid to the cotton operatives of this city prior to July 25, 1904, the same to take effect October 23, 1905. In taking this action, the members of the Textile Council have given the question their earnest consideration. They believe that the present condition and future outlook of the cotton trade fully warrant them in asking on behalf of the operatives of this city, the advance in wages as above presented.

Trusting that you will bring this matter to the attention of the members of the Manufacturers' association and that it will meet with their favorable consideration, I remain,

Respectfully yours,
THOMAS TAYLOR, Secretary.

RE-ELECTED

OFFICERS OF CONCORD & MONTREAL ROAD CHOSEN.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 10.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Concord & Montreal railroad today the president submitted the report of the directors, substantially the same as last year save that an expenditure for improvements of $12,310.40 was reported, the same coming from unexpended funds.

John M. Mitchell of Concord, Josiah Carpenter of Manchester and Henry A. Emerson of Henniker, were appointed a committee to receive and count the votes for directors and they reported a total of 26,750 shares voted on, all of the ballots being for the following general members:

Benjamin A. Kimball, Concord; Walter M. Parker, Manchester; Charles E. Morrison, Boston; Noah S. Clark, Manchester; Hiram N. Turner, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; George M. Kimball, Concord; Arthur H. Hale, Manchester; Hiram A. Tuttle, Pittsfield; Benjamin C. White, Concord; Frank P. Carpenter, Manchester; Sumner Wallace, Rochester; Wm. H. Moses, Tilton.

Following the adjournment of the stockholders' meeting the directors met and re-elected Mr. Kimball president, and Mr. Streeter, clerk.

MME. EAMES

SANG FOR THE FIRST TIME IN PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—Mme. Emma Eames-Story, prima donna of the Maine musical festival, sang for the first time in this city at the Auditorium today in rehearsal of the program for tomorrow night. The entire program was followed and the hall was crowded with people eager to hear the great soprano voice, with which they showed themselves very pleased by great applause.

Since her arrival here, Mme Emma Eames has received a silver loving cup from the Menhelssohn club of Bath, in which city she lived during her childhood.

BIG DEAL

RAILROAD BOUGHT FOR $500,000 IN CASH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—A railroad deal affecting this city and San Jose and the intervening peninsula has been perfected here. L. E. Hanchette has bought for $500,000 in cash, the Santa Clara interurban railroad company. He has also purchased for $500,000 the San Jose and Santa Clara Railway company. The presumption is strong that Hanchette is acting for the Western Pacific people, and that they intend to have an electric system south from this city as a feeder for their main line.

LUMBER ON FIRE.

A portion of the fire department was called to the corner of Hildreth and Coburn street shortly after noon today to extinguish a fire in a pile of logs which was started by some children. The only damage done was to a few of the logs.

FOUGHT THE FIRE

Students Led by President Wheeler

BERKLEY, Cal., Oct. 10.—A fierce fire swept over the Berkley Hills behind the University of California yesterday and had it not been for the heroic work of 1000 students from the university, and for the Berkley department, assisted by hundreds of citizens, much property would have been destroyed. President Wheeler himself led the students and hatless and coatless they fought the flames with wet sacks till late yesterday afternoon, not even stopping for dinner. Many students had narrow escapes from the flames. Prentiss S. Gray, Ray Gabbert and Roy Elliott, a football player at the head of one division, were cut off by a circle of fire and were compelled to wrap themselves in sacks to save their lives. Last night the flames were well under control, though still burning.

LOCKED UP

FORMER SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT HAS SURRENDERED.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 10.—Newton C. Dougherty, formerly bank president and defaulting school superintendent, against whom 97 indictments for forgery and embezzlement were returned yesterday for a total of $61,500, last night drove to the jail and surrendered himself to the sheriff. He was locked up.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. S. Anson Tufts of Woburn have been the guests of Thomas Smith of East Chelmsford the past week.

T. S. Sullivan, manager of the Actives basket ball team of Newport, R. I., is visiting Dennis Sullivan in School street.

Messrs. George and William Perreault of Suncook, N. H., have been the guests of the Misses Barry of Moody street.

Miss Blanche Menard has returned from an extended vacation spent in visiting New York, Buffalo, Toronto and Montreal.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Albert Bergeron and Miss Rose Trudel were united in marriage yesterday at St. Joseph's church, a nuptial mass being celebrated at 7.30 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I. The bride was very becomingly attired in a brown travelling gown and brown hat and was attended by her uncle, Mr. Pierre Nadeau. The groom's witness was Mr. Alme Sacard.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mare Trudel, 479 Moody street. At 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Bergeron left on a three weeks' tour, during which they will visit New York, Montreal and Quebec. On their return they will reside at 479 Moody street. The wedding gifts offered the young couple have been of great number and beauty.

McDONALD—KELLEY.

This afternoon at Andover John R. McDonald and Miss Annie G., daughter of Patrick Kelley of Tewksbury were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. Locke. Miss Margaret Kelley, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid and the best man was Anthony Kelley. The bride has been head nurse at the state hospital for several years and her husband has also been an attache of the institution. A reception was held at the bride's home and the happy couple received the congratulations of many friends. The array of wedding presents was beautiful.

After their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will reside in Tewksbury.

JURY DISAGREED

No Finding In the Cole Murder Case

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 10.—The disagreement reported early today, by the jury in the case of Edward F. Cole charged with the murder of John F. Steeves, returns the case to its former position.

Judge Bonney announced today that the court would make no disposition of the case, the prisoner being held according to law and if the prosecuting attorneys so determine later, he will be given another trial at the January term.

BANK IS CLOSED

The Depositors Made Heavy Withdrawals

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Cooper exchange bank, a state institution at No. 20 Avenue A., on the East Side, was closed today by order of the state banking department. No reason was given by the banking department for its action.

An official of the bank, however, said that the closing of the institution was due to heavy withdrawals by depositors since the death a week ago, of its cashier, George F. Krapp, who was killed by falling from a window of his home.

State Supt. of Banking Kilburn heard that the institution was in financial difficulties several days ago, directly after the death of Cashier Krapp and sent a bank examiner to examine the accounts. The examiner, according to one of the bank officials, reported to Chief Bank Examiner A. C. Judson that the bank was in a bad condition.

It was also declared that the bank is perfectly solvent and that depositors will receive 100 cents on the dollar. According to the latest banking returns, the Cooper Exchange bank had a capital of $100,000; surplus and profits of $50,000; deposits $635,000 and loans and discounts of $615,000.

YELLOW FEVER

FIGHT AGAINST IT IS ABOUT OVER.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—The announcement by the Marine hospital service that the work of fighting mosquitos in which the forces of the government have been engaged since Aug. 8, as well as the fumigation of squares in which a case of fever appears, will be permanently discontinued after today, is accepted as a declaration by the federal forces that the fight here against yellow fever is about over.

A SUICIDE

BANK CASHIER SHOT AND KILLED HIMSELF.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 10.—G. B. Gray, cashier of the Commercial National bank of this city, shot and killed himself today. He was about 40 years old and ranked high in Texas banking circles. There is no plausible reason for the act. The Commercial National Bank is one of the strongest institutions in Texas.

NEW CABINET

LITTLE SUCCESS ATTAINED IN FORMING IT.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 10.—Parliament was prorogued today by royal rescript until Dec. 10. Acting premier, Baron Fejervary, and his colleagues did not attend the brief sitting of parliament. The baron merely sent the president of the lower house the rescript signed by the king-emperor, Francis Joseph, proroguing parliament and explaining that the step was necessitated by the fact that no success had been attained in forming a new cabinet on a basis which would secure parliament against disorder.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The Spanish War Veterans met in regular session in Memorial hall last night and one new member was proposed. Commander Greig and Mark Bentley reported for the state department meeting held in Boston Sunday.

The regular meeting of Court Middlesex, F. of A., was held last night and there was a large attendance of members. Plans for the class initiation on Oct. 23 were arranged.

CITY HALL NOTES.

FAVORITES LOST

Surprises At the Dover Races Yesterday

DOVER, N. H., Oct. 10—The 10-day meeting at Granite State park, which is to close racing over mile tracks in the north, opened yesterday afternoon in a manner which bespeaks some brilliant sport.

Favorites did not fare particularly well, in fact only one was lucky enough to escape without a sound thrashing, and there is still an opportunity for this one to "get his." The lone hope of the talent is game old Midnight. At sunset he had two heats of the 2.14 trot to his credit while Chestnut, Lake Queen and Bingham had only one each.

The popular selections in the pace were Elizabeth S. and Hal Patron. The latter had no luck, while the mare from Salem, Mass., had a bit of hard racing luck.

She won the first heat very handily, cutting her record to 2.12¾. Then, waiting on a lot of bad actors in scoring for the second heat, she lost her temper and joined the band of unruly ones. Could she have gotten away on her stride and at her place she would have been a factor through the race.

Adverta was tipped off as the good one of the slow trot, but she was just a trifle shy on speed and could not get her nose to the front, although dangerous.

Cox won the first heat of this event so comfortably in 2.15½ with Gussoro that the Boston roadster was the best liked, but when it came to a drive in the second mile the daughter of Witchmont passed the issue without an effort, the 3abred Guy Wilkes gelding Neufchatel winning in 2.17¼. He was able to repeat so that a couple of slower miles ended the race.

Pearl Tipping, a nice-going mare, by old Nicol B., won the pacing class, being forced to a record of 2.10¾ in the third heat by Miss Syracuse. The latter is more than a fair side-wheeler and some day will turn a trick.

The 2.14 trotters raced five heats, when darkness called halt. Bingham tramped off the opening mile in 2.14¾; Lake Queen the second in 2.12¾, a new record for her. Then Cox got Midnight to the front, giving the son of Alcantara a mark of 2.12¾, and repeated back in 2.13¾.

Everyone looked to see him wired the contest up the next trip, but he made a bad break over on the back stretch and Lester Dore rode home in front with Chestnut in 2.15.

AMONG CHARITIES

Charles T. Baker Distributed $255,000

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Public bequests amounting to $255,000 are contained in the will of Charles Tidd Baker, an insurance broker, which has been filed in the probate office. HORSES BURNED

$50,000 Fire in South Boston Yesterday

BOSTON, Oct. 10—The foundry of R. Estabrook's Sons, 234 West First street, South Boston, was burned yesterday morning and a number of wooden stables in the vicinity and several business places were damaged. Thirty horses in the stables perished and about fifty were rescued before the dense smoke overcame them.

The flames originated in the foundry and spread so rapidly throughout the plant and to adjoining buildings that three alarms were ordered, summoning assistance from the city proper.

The fire was placed under control within an hour.

The total loss is not known but it is thought that it will not exceed $50,000.

RIVER DRAGGED

Search for Body of Katchen Duerr

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Police today, dragged the Harlem river for the body of Mrs. Katchen Duerr, 18 years old, who was drowned last night under circumstances so suspicious as to cause the arrest of Mrs. Duerr's husband, Otto, and his friend, Charles Hahn. Raymond Messmer and his wife, Mary, parents of the drowned woman, declared to Coroner O'Gorman, that they believed she had been a victim of foul play. The police hope the body of the young woman will give them some clue as to whether the suspicions of the parents are warranted.

Duerr told the police he thought his wife's death was an accident and that Hahn with whom she was running was not to blame, but Mr. and Mrs. Messmer stated that Duerr had quarrelled with his wife and that she came to their house a few days ago and said that her husband had threatened to kill her. Duerr was then arrested and held as a suspicious person, pending an investigation of the parents' allegations.

CROP BULLETIN

Government Report on Wheat Yield

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The agricultural department today issued the following crop bulletin:

The crop estimating board of the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture finds from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the bureaus as follows:

The condition of corn on Oct. 1, 1905, was 89.2 as compared with 88.9 on Oct. 1, 1904, and a ten year average of 80.2.

The preliminary estimate of the average yield per acre of spring wheat is 14.7 bushels subject to revision, when the final estimate is made in December.

The average quality of spring wheat is 89 as compared with 75.6 in 1904. The preliminary returns indicate an oat crop of about 939,332,000 bushels or an average of 33.9 bushels per acre, as compared with 32.1 bushels in 1901; and a ten year average of 29.2 bushels.

The average for quality is 92.4 against 91.4 in 1904.

The preliminary estimate of yield per acre of barley is 26.7 bushels against 27.2 bushels one year ago and a ten year average of 25 bushels. The average for quality is 86.2 against 88.7 last year.

The preliminary estimate of yield per acre of rye is 16.6 bushels, against 15.2 bushels last year; and a ten year average of 15.2 bushels. The average for quality is 92.6 against 91.6 last year.

MADE IN CASE OF McLAUGHLIN VS. B. & N. ROAD.

The testimony in the cases of Peter and May McLaughlin vs. Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. was all put in today and this afternoon Counsel Irwin and Wier made their arguments after which the court charged the jury.

MINE WORKERS

TO FIGHT AGAINST REPEAL OF MINERS' CERTIFICATE LAWS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Leaders of the Pennsylvania and Illinois miners, are in Chicago for consultation over the fight now being waged by the Anthracite coal operators to repeal the miners' certificate laws of Pennsylvania. In the party are John Fahey, T. D. Nichols and William H. Dettry, the presidents of three district unions in Pennsylvania, representing 160,000 mine-workers. The miners are accompanied by Attorney John R. Jones of Scranton, Pa., who is here to take depositions from Illinois miners.

LAND BROUGHT $750,000.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 10—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, yesterday purchased more than 100 acres of tide land property, located on the water front for which they paid in excess of $750,000. The property adjoins the holdings secured by the company secretly at a cost of $100,000 more than a year ago.

NOT WANTED

HEBREWS DISCHARGED FROM BROCKTON SHOE SHOP.

BROCKTON, Oct. 10—Twenty-five stitchers and 10 vampers employed by the George G. Snow company found they were not wanted any longer when they reported for duty at the factory this morning. All were Hebrews and their absence from the shop yesterday for the sake of celebrating Yom Kippur, their great national and religious holiday, was the cause assigned for discharging them.

The men promptly reported the matter to their respective business agents, being all members of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union, in the stitchers' and vampers' locals. An effort was made by the agents to confer with the firm, but in the absence of George H. Snow and Supt. Edward Bowen from the city this was impossible. Arrangements were made for a conference on their return about 4 this afternoon.

STRAY BULLET

BENJAMIN KIMBALL SHOT AND PROBABLY FATALLY HURT.

BRIDGETON, Me., Oct. 10.—Benjamin Kimball, 18 years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded while driving through the woods near his home today. The police believe that the shooting was accidental and that the bullet was a stray one from the rifle of a hunter. Kimball's recovery is not expected.

CECIL ADAMS

ENTERTAINED CANDIDATE HILTON AND SOME FRIENDS.

Cecil L. Adams, the vanquished aspirant to senatorial honors, but the ever cheerful Cecil, entertained a few friends at the Waverly hotel last evening. His successful opponent, Horton H. Hilton, the republican nominee for senator in the seventh Middlesex district, was the guest of honor. The host and those whom he had invited extended to the successful nominee their hands, their best wishes and their pledges to support him.

The occasion also made happy the inner man. It was a chicken supper with all the fixings and the chickens were raised on Cecil's farm in Maine. Their tiny bills penetrated the shells on the fifth day of May and they were the choicest of a flock that numbered 150. So it was that while the host and the guest of honor were struggling for supremacy in the contest for senatorial nomination the one to be defeated was fostering on his farm 'way down in Maine some choice broilers over whose tender flesh the bond of friendship was destined to be cemented.

SECRETARY ROOT

WILL DISCUSS FOREIGN INDEBTEDNESS OF COLOMBIA.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—John Barrett, minister to Colombia, called at the state department today to confer with Secretary Root, respecting his participation in the effort about to be made to adjust the foreign indebtedness of Colombia by inducing Panama to assume a proper share of liabilities. A meeting has been arranged for next Thursday afternoon at the state department. Secretary Root, probably will place the principals in communication and extend some friendly advices to forward the objects of the conference.

It is proposed to divide the debt between the two countries on the basis of population, which plan if adopted, would allot ten per cent. of the total debt of $5,000,000 to Panama.

CENTRAL VERMONT MEETING.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 10.—At the annual meeting of the Central Vermont Railway company in this city today, the only new director chosen was George C. Jones of St. Albans, he being an addition to the former board. Charles M. Hays of Montreal was re-elected president, E. H. Fitzhugh of Montreal, vice president; Geo. C. Jones, general manager; W. H. Chaffe of St. Albans, clerk and treasurer, and W. G. Crabb of St. Albans, auditor. The gross receipts for the year were $3,557,775, an increase of $33,484 over the previous year; operating expenses, $2,793,733; net surplus over fixed charges, $3669.

TUCKER ACCEPTS PRESIDENCY.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 10.—Former Representative Harry St. George Tucker, dean of George Washington University of Washington, D. C., yesterday formally accepted the presidency of the Jamestown exposition company, to succeed General Fitzhugh Lee. Mr. Tucker was elected president of the American Bar association at the St. Louis convention in 1904.

50 YEARS OLD

pennant was about 10 feet long and was the gift to the commandery of Sir Walter McDaniel. The entire front of the building was adorned with the national colors and the attractive black and white streamers of the order. For a centre piece was an immense shield bearing the cross within the crown and the inscription "In hoc signo vinces," within a framework of American and Masonic flags.

The entrance to the American House where the visitors made their headquarters, was draped in the national colors while from the upper stories was suspended a large Maltese flag, also the gift to the commandery of Sir Walter McDaniel.

There were about 500 members of the commandery in line and about 50 of the grand officers. The procession was led by a platoon of officers in charge of Captain William R. Rew and Loren W. Fors officiated as band guide. The marching body was in charge of Em. Sir James F. Savage commander. Large crowds lined the curbings along the route of parade and the marchers presented a most attractive spectacle, the bright rays of the sun dancing merrily amid the silvery and golden medallions and sword hilts and blades as they passed along.

The interior of the church was tastefully adorned with stately palms and other tropical plants while the rostrum was decorated with cut flowers. Long before the arrival of the commandery at the church, nearly every seat not reserved had been taken and for half an hour a delightful organ recital was given by Sir. James W. Hill of Haverhill.

THE EXERCISES OPENED.

Arriving at the church the marching body quickly took seats reserved for them and the exercises were formally opened.

The exercises were as follows:

Music, Onward Christian Soldiers, Sullivan
Temple Quartette and Audience.
Invocation
Sir Frank B. Sherburne, Prelate of Pilgrim Commandery.
Address of Welcome,
Em. Sir James F. Savage, Commander.
Response,
Rt. Em. Sir Dana J. Flanders, Grand Commander.
Music, Lost Chord ....Sullivan
Sir James W. Hill, Organist.
Historical address,
Em. Sir Solon W. Stevens.
Music, Soprano Solo, Jerusalem ..Gounod
Mrs. W. H. Pepin.
Oration,
Rt. Em. Sir Charles C. Hutchinson.
Music, "The Earth is Jehovah's"....Dow
Temple Quartette.
Benediction,
Rev. O. S. C. Wallace, D. D., Pastor First Baptist church.
Postlude, Grand March .....Mendelssohn
Sir James W. Hill, Organist.

THE HISTORICAL ADDRESS.

A feature of the exercises was the historical address delivered by Solon W. Stevens who spoke in part as follows:

Knight Charles C. Hutchinson is the only one now living. Then followed a reference to a pleasant gathering with De Molay commandery of Boston in observance of the centennial of the grand commandery. In 1870 the commandery decided to take part in a civic celebration of the Fourth of July. But in 1871 Pilgrim commandery performed escort duty for the grand commandery at the laying of the corner stone of St. John's Episcopal church.

"There is no previous record of any public appearance.

In 1874 the commandery took in the earliest stone exercises of the Masonic temple, Boston. References followed to various fraternal interchanges with other Masonic bodies at different times.

"In 1881 came the first public installation of officers. In 1885 the commandery did escort duty for the grand commandery when the Ladd & Whitney monument was consecrated. Up to that time this was the largest public Masonic display in the history of the city, many out-of-town bodies being present.

"March 28, 1892, the present grand high priest of the general grand chapter of Capitular Masons, Arthur Caton Pollard, was made a Knight Templar.

"On April 21, 1897, Sir Knight Hosmer Hosford presented a handsome banner to the commandery.

"In 1901 the commandery acted as escort during the corner stone exercises of the new Boston post office. The speaker referred to memorial tributes to distinguished templars.

"October 23, of the same year, permission was granted the commandery for a public installation in November. It was signed by Grand Commander Nelson W. Aldrich, son of U. S. senator from Rhode Island. Sept. 13, 1881, there was a field day at the Pelham farm of Sir Knight William W. Butler.

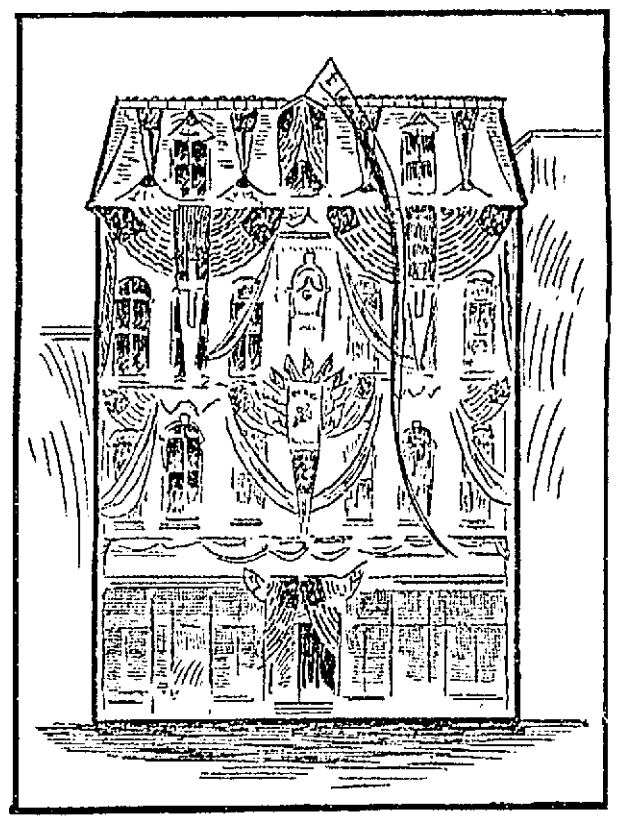

"Banners and swords were draped in October of that year for the death of Sir Knight James A. Garfield. In October, 1882, honors were paid to Boston commandery, passing through Lowell to the White Mountains, a car being filled with sandwiches for their refreshment.

"December 8, 1885, the 50th anniversary was celebrated. May 30, 1888, tributes were paid to the memory of Past Grand Commander, William S. Gardner. In October, 1889, the commandery participated in the new city hall corner stone exercises."

References followed to the participation of the commandery in other public events, that have become familiar to most residents, including the exercises of the re-laying of the corner stone of the First Baptist church.

In conclusion, Past Commander Stevens said, referring to the commandery:

"Its past is secure and there is reason for gratitude and pride in the perusal of its history. The bench, the bar, the pulpit, the platform, the press, the various didactic and technical professions, the commercial, the mercantile, and the manufacturing categories of the business world, and the toilers in every diversity of handicraft and skill, have their representatives on the rolls of our commandery.

SKETCH OF THE MASONIC TEMPLE, SHOWING DECORATIONS.

"This is an hour for reminiscences and review. We are to look backward through the vista of half a century and, in imagination to become familiar in some degree with men and things as seen fifty years ago. To some of us new chapters in the history of our organization will be opened and for others there will be a reawakening of memories which have slumbered long amid the varied experiences of intervening years.

"We shall try to wipe away the dust which may have gathered on some memorial urns and shall endeavor to catch the spirit, or at least some intimations of the spirit which prompted the foundations of the society which enlists our zealous effort and commands our loyalty and our voluntary faithful service."

Mr. Stevens here said that at the time of the organization 27 years had elapsed since the incorporation of Lowell as a town, 19 as a city and which in 1835 had a population of 37,551.

Ambrose Lawrence was mayor and William Lawson was the city clerk. Henry Gardner was governor of Massachusetts and Franklin Pierce, president of the United States. Then as now Free Masonry held as votaries many of the most influential citizens. Pentucket lodge was then 48 years old, Ancient York was 3 years old, Mt. Horeb Royal Arch Chapter, 20, Ahasuerus council of Select Masters, established in 1826, had held no meetings since 1839 and was not re-established until December, 1856.

"It was a period of intense political excitement for men were just beginning to realize that only by the dread arbitrament of war could the momentous question relative to the maintenance of the Union be settled.

"In the records of the first meeting of the commandery it appeared that Sir Knights A. W. Fisher, Maynard Brooy, Joel Spaulding, Royal Call, Theodore Edson, Solon Stevens, Benjamin F. Butler, Bickford Lang, of Lowell, and Charles N. Ingalls, of North Danvers, by some omission did not appear as signing the charter petition, and they were duly admitted later.

But at one of the meetings prior thereto, it appeared that three of them had been chosen to office, though not recorded as members. But this, while causing some excitement, was later rectified.

Here followed references to various early meetings of the encampment. The meetings of October 15 resulted in the election of the same officers and Sir

"So far as can be ascertained not one of our charter members is living today.

"Some 641 companions have been created and dubbed Knights of the Valiant and Magnanimous Order of the Temple. Our present membership is stated as 421.

"Templar Masonry everywhere stands for the highest type of patriotic citizenship and the moral and social uplift of man.

"For 50 years, in its humble way, in obedience to the decrees of its grand superiors in authority, and under the aegis of the cross, Pilgrim commandery has striven by its unique symbolism to inculcate the one great universal duty of love and loyalty toward God and our fellow men, as set forth in the precepts of humanity's divine exemplar—Him of oriental birth on the lonely and far off plains of Judea.

"Amid conflicting interests, the teeming years, as they come and go, will bring new opportunities, new duties and new responsibilities, as the rains and the snows descend and the harvests are gathered in. But the ideal of the Templar Knight will always be the ideal Christian gentleman and a great future is something better than a past, however great. The omens are auspicious, the fields are ready for harvest. Let the gleaners be discreet and skilful men.

"O! friends, be men and let your hearts be strong
And let no warrior in the host of fight
Do what may bring him shame in others' eyes;
For more of those who shrink from shame are safe
Than fall in battle, while with those who flee
Is neither glory nor reprieve from death."

At the conclusion of the exercises the line of march was reformed and the knights returned to the temple, via Central and Merrimack streets where they disposed of their regalias, while the visitors were taken to their quarters at the American House, where their comfort was looked after until the hour of the banquet.

The banquet will be held at 7.30 this evening in Railway hall.

CALLED A FARCE

Criticism of State Factory Inspection

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 10.—Considerable time during the forenoon session of the state branch A. F. of L. was devoted to a discussion of the work of the legislative committee, precipitated by the sharp criticism of that body by Mr. Maloney of the Boston Cigarmakers' union. This speaker alleged that only one measure advocated by the legislative committee had been enacted during the past ten years. This statement was disputed by a number of speakers.

The convention adopted the following pledge reported by the executive committee and it will be sent to all central labor unions throughout the state:

"We, the undersigned citizens and voters of the commonwealth of Massachusetts hereby pledge ourselves to vote against every candidate for state senator or for the state house of representatives who opposes the following bills:

1—Bills to provide for legislation directly by the people through the initiative and referendum.

2—The eight-hour bill for public employes.

3—The overtime bill.

4—The picketing bill.

The convention also adopted the resolution of President Clarke advocating the appointment of more factory inspectors.

In the course of a discussion of this question, Delegate Albert Hibbert of Fall River stated that as practised at the present time, state factory inspection was a farce. He said that the present laws should be amended so that practical workmen, who were practically eliminated from appointment by the stringency of the civil service examinations would be eligible. It was voted to open permanent headquarters in Boston.

A recommendation that laundries doing work for the Troy starch factory, whose employes are on strike, be requested to desist on penalty of being placed on the unfair list, was adopted.

The committee on child labor made a partial report today to the effect that they had organized with Albert Hibbert of Fall River as president and Thomas O'Hare of Brockton as secretary.

The secretary read a telegram from Secretary-Treasurer Bramwood of the International Typographical union, which said that the fight for the eight-hour day was winning all along the line.

FUNERALS

HAYWARD—The funeral of Clyde Carleton Hayward took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents in Haverhill street, Elmore. Rev. George B. Dean officiated and there was singing by Mrs. W. H. Pepin, who sang "Sometime We'll Understand," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Sleep On, Beloved." The children and teachers of Kenwood school, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body, the session of the school being suspended for the purpose. The bearers were John, George and Gustave Corson and Frank Partridge. The burial was in the Edson cemetery, Rev. George B. Dean reading the service and Mrs. Pepin singing; "Christian's Good Night." Undertaker C. H. Molloy & Sons had charge. Among the floral tributes were sprays from Ernest Lovering, Frank Wilmot, Mrs. Orr and daughter, Miss Keating and Miss Callahan; the schoolmates of the Kenwood school; Miss Eva Robinson, Miss Esther Corson, Miss Emma Partridge, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Harrington, Miss Lauretta McMannmon and R. B. Thomas.

PERRIN—The funeral of William Perrin, who died at Concord, N. H., Oct. 7, took place in this city yesterday. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery, under the direction of Undertaker J. B. Currier.

COX—The funeral of Harold Joseph Cox took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of his parents, 272 Lakeview avenue, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

HIS WIFE LIVING

Charge Made Against the Coachman

His First Wife Will Consult Counsel

FRANKLIN, N. H., Oct. 10.—The dispatch telling of the marriage of Cornelia Hatch to Harry Walker, Jr., in Brookline, Mass., which the story claims are names assumed by Henry Gill of Franklin and Cornelia Hatch Dearborn of New York, has set this community astir with gossip.

Gill was married in Franklin, Oct. 14, 1900, to Miss Flora Blackburn of this city. The marriage was performed by Irving V. Goss, justice of the peace, and at that time city clerk of Franklin. Gill gave his age as 19, his occupation as a hostler and his birthplace as Tilton. He is a son of Philip and Annie (Paquette) Gill, natives of Canada.

Mrs. Gill was 18, a native of Franklin and the daughter of Fred and Maria (Cross) Blackburn. Mrs. Gill has always lived in Franklin. She now resides in the rear of 415 Central street with her mother.

Asked yesterday if she and Gill were ever divorced, she answered: "No, I never got a divorce from him, and if he got one from me I never knew it."

Gill never lived with his wife a day. It is said that he was compelled to marry her by her parents. He is said to have remarked at the time of the ceremony that he would marry her, but would never live with her.

Gill was in town last Wednesday. He was driven here by Harry T. Corser of the Eagle stables, Concord, reaching Franklin between 12 and 1 o'clock. Gill told Corser that he was too late to catch the last train from Concord to Franklin Tuesday night.

Early Wednesday morning Gill went to the home of Lawyer Edward G. Leach on Pleasant street, and calling him out before breakfast, said that he wanted to see about getting a divorce. The attorney told him that he did not see on what grounds he could get a divorce, but told him Mrs. Gill could get one easy enough on the ground of abandonment. Gill settled with the lawyer and left town at once.

His wife says she did not see him while he was in town. She says he was "never any good" to her anyhow. She read with considerable interest the story of the marriage, and she and her mother say they will consult counsel at once.

Gill was well liked about town, and was a quiet-appearing and sober young fellow. He worked in one of the local livery stables, and also acted as coachman for the Kenrick family, among the city's most prominent residents. His father and mother live in this city, having moved in from a farm between her and Hill. Gill has a married sister and one or two younger sisters.

None of his relatives have heard from him. Tuesday he stopped at the hotel, and his people did not see him during his trip to Franklin.

THE MILL MEN

May Compromise on Wage Question

FALL RIVER, Oct. 10.—Manufacturers of this city are generally noncommittal as to what they will do in regard to the demand of the textile council for a restoration of wages on Oct. 23. It is hard to find in mill circles anything like united opinion as to whether the advance will be granted or not. No meeting of the manufacturers has yet been called and no one knows when one will be.

Questions of dignity cut more or less of a figure with the manufacturers as to granting the demand or dealing with the textile council. There are two alleged strikes on, backed by the weavers: at the Granite and at the Davol mills. The mills have been operated in large part ever since the weavers went out, several months ago, but many weavers who would like to return are debarred.

There is a feeling even among the mill men, that some sort of advance ought to be given the help, with the return of profitable conditions during the past few weeks, but that the strike kept them form it. And now they find that if they yield from their former stand there will be a decided flavor of being beaten in their contention. Not only do the operatives demand this, but to a considerable extent public opinion does also.

The prospect is that some form of conference will ensue within a few days. Even if an advance is granted, it is scarcely believed it will be a full restoration of the scale which prevailed before the big strike. The price per cut for weaving regulars was then 19.8 cents. It is now 17.32 cents. Striking a middle ground basis would make the price 18.5 cents, and it is believed that the bulk of the local manufacturers would agree to such a compromise, to be readjusted when the market conditions steadied down.

On the margin of 31.5 cents prevailing today, it would appear that more than 5 per cent. could be granted. Still, mill men say the margin is not established as yet at anything like 31.5, and they are now at work on goods contracted for at prices way below what current orders bring.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB.

The Lowell Congregational Club will hold its first meeting of this season with the Kirk Street church, this evening. Dinner will be served at 6.45 o'clock. The speaker is Rev. S. H. Woodrow, D. D., of Springfield and the subject, "The Supreme End to Be Sought in Religious Education."

LITTLEFIELD GYMNASIUM.

The gymnasium committee of the Young Women's Christian Association has secured Mr. Hartvig Nissen to speak to the members of the Littlefield gymnasium and their friends on Thursday evening. Mr. Nissen is the physical director of Brookline public schools and instructor at Harvard summer school.

ROYAL ARCANUM

24,000 Members Have Quit Order

A decrease of 9875 members in Royal Arcanum ranks for the month of September was shown by statistics in the Bulletin, the monthly publication of the order, just issued. The total membership of the order is now placed approximately at 251,216, and as the organization was said to number 315,000 before the new rates were announced, the total dropping off since the announcement is about 24,000.

By states the suspensions and withdrawals for September are as follows:

Massachusetts 672, Ohio 280, Michigan 244, Wisconsin 91 Illinois 1282, Indiana 154, New York 2557, Pennsylvania 994, Maryland 145, Virginia 192, Georgia 57, Tennessee 88, Missouri 626, Ontario 69, New Jersey 797, Connecticut 273, Rhode Island 46, North Carolina 75, Minnesota 166, Iowa 70, District of Columbia 93, Nebraska 133, California 57, Kentucky 33, Quebec 29, Washington 36, Colorado 61, Maritime Provinces 16, Maine 1, New Hampshire 30, Arkansas 2, Idaho 1, Kansas 12, Oregon 6, Vermont 12, West Virginia 4.

Besides withdrawals and suspensions there have been 21 deaths during the month, 72 reinstatements, and 103 new members admitted.

Among other things, an editorial in the Bulletin states that sentiment in the order now seems gradually turning in favor of the new rates, and attributes this practically to the exposes being made in the old line companies.

"No doubt," it says in part, "the great scandals which are being uncovered in the regular insurance companies just at the present time are leading many of the present and prospective members of the Arcanum to think rather seriously and investigate very carefully before they make up their minds to leave the fraternity or to withhold their application.

"At any rate, very many of the members of the order are sending in their notices as to which option they wish to adopt, and while some of the members who have passed 50 years are making some reduction in the amounts they are to carry, they are planning stick to their order under the new arrangement."

BOWLING NEWS

The Wonders had their innings last night and defeated Sergt. Connors' Connemaras on the private alleys at Les Miserables in East Merrimack street, the score being 2140 to 2062. The Connemaras had things pretty much their own way until the last string when Dave Donaldson and Mike Burns unwound their arms and threw balls down the alley in such a manner that the pin boys were in great danger of their lives. Burns with 528 was high man, while Donaldson's single of 202 was the best made during the evening. The feature of the game, however, was the poor bowling of Deputy Welch who had a glass arm, especially in the last string when he failed to put up one hundred. The score:

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Four men were seriously if not fatally burned at Watkins today by an explosion of natural gas. The men were working in the house containing the high pressure regulator of the Consumers' Natural Gas company. The gas main had been tapped to make a connection and gas was escaping from an opening when it ignited.

The victims were: F. W. Gibbons, local superintendent of the works; Bert Merrick, Luthmer Leonard and Louis Roggano, an Italian. All were terribly burned about the hands, face and neck. Merrick cannot recover, and it is by no means certain that any of the men will pull through.

UNKNOWN HEROES

Rescued People From Burning Building

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Cut off from all escape twenty persons were rescued from death in a blazing tenement in Sixth street last night by two unknown heroes and three policemen, every one of the panic-stricken tenants being saved before the arrival of the firemen.

Hearing the alarm that followed the discovery of a fire in the hallway on the second floor, two laborers at work on a gas main in the street, rushed into the blazing building and, making their way to the upper floor, helped many women and children to the fire escape. They were soon joined by three policemen who stationed themselves on the escape galleries and passed the occupants down from hand to hand. The upper floors of the building were completely gutted.

IMMENSE LOSS

$150,000 Damage at Providence Fire

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Damage estimated at about $150,000 was caused by a fire which occurred last night in a three-story wooden structure on the corner of Elmwood avenue and West Friendship street in this city, known as "Allair Hall", the damage being partially covered by insurance. According to the firemen the fire originated in the rear of the building and spread quickly to the roof. Three alarms were sent in and a large amount of apparatus was soon on the scene and within an hour the blaze was under control.

The principal damage done was to the Elmwood Paper Box company, occupying the second and a portion of the third floor of the building, mostly by smoke and water. The stock of the company was said to be well covered by insurance. When the fire was discovered, an employe of the paper box company off duty notified eight people still working in the building and all escaped safely.

Allair hall, an auditorium on the third floor of the building, from which the structure takes its name, was gutted.

REVISE TARIFF

The Boards of Trade Take Action

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The Boston Associated Board of Trade, at its meeting in Young's hotel last night, adopted resolutions favoring tariff revision, voted to petition congress to pass, at its coming session, a minimum tariff law, and that certain raw materials, such as coal, iron, lumber and hides, be placed on the free list.

When the committee report was submitted by its chairman Jerome Jones, it was expected that a lively debate would be precipitated, but when the question was put by Chairman Edward B. Wilson, there was a remarkable stillness. A voice vote was taken in the affirmative, without a single dissenter, and the chair declared it to be unanimous.

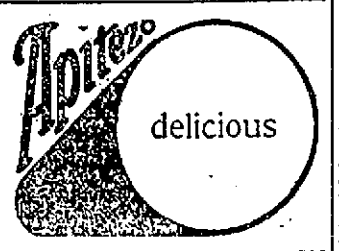

The vote, therefore, gave the stamp of approval to tariff revision of the following associations, which comprise the associated board of trade:

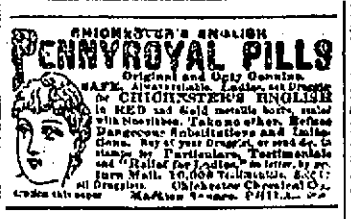

Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, Boston Life Underwriters' Association, Boston Brewers' Association, Boston Druggists' Association, Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, Boston Merchants' Association, Boston Paper Trade Association, Boston Stationers' Association, Boston Wholesale Grocers' Association, Coal Club of Boston and Vicinity, Drysalters' Club of New England, Expressmen's League, Massachusetts Wholesale Lumber Association, Master Teamsters' Association, Music Trade Association, New England Confectioners' Club, New England Earthenware Asso., New England Iron and Hardware Association, New England Shoe and Leather Association, Oil Trade Association of Boston, Paint and Oil Club of New England, Real Estate Exchange, the Master Builders' Association.

BODIES FOUND

COUPLE WERE LAST SEEN ALIVE SUNDAY EVENING.

HASKELL, I. T., Oct. 10.—The bodies of Miss Margaret Linhay, a school teacher, and Joseph B. Young, a barber were found today in the road three miles north of Haskell. There were marks of violence on the bodies and a revolver was found near the scene. The couple were last seen alive on Sunday evening, when they drove out of Haskell in a buggy.

FR. MATHEW DAY

Big Observance by Mathew Institute Tonight

Today is the 115th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Theobold Mathew, known throughout the civilized world as the "Apostle of Temperance," and wherever is found a band of Catholic total abstinence workers, his memory will be fittingly honored.

He was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, in 1790.

Fr. Mathew visited Boston in 1836 and one of the few men now living who shook his hand is Francis H. Donovan, a prominent merchant of Lynn and known by many in Lowell through his connection with the Fr. Mathews of Lynn in the capacity of treasurer.

In Lowell, Fr. Mathew day has been observed by the Catholic temperance bodies for years, though the most active in this respect has been the Mathew Temperance Institute. It is three years since a local celebration was held and that was on a very large scale for the great state parade which today is being held in Lawrence, was held here. Last year and the year previous the Mathews assisted in the celebration of the day in other cities, last year in Roxbury, and in 1903 in Peabody, where in the latter place they made such a creditable showing that they comprised practically one entire division.

This year the organization has deemed it wise to hold a celebration at home, and the arrangements indicate that it will be an eventful one.

Services will be held in St. Peter's church this evening at 7.30 o'clock, the members meeting at the hall at 7 o'clock, and headed by the Military band, will march to the church, where the entire main aisle has been reserved for them. At the church vesper services will be held, Rev. W. George Mullin officiating and an augmented choir will render a special musical program. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Hugh McDermod. After the sermon solemn benediction will be given.

At the conclusion of the services at the church the line will be reformed and will pass through the following streets: Gorham to Elm, to Central, to Hosford square, to Central, to Merrimack, to Moody, to Coburn, countermarch to Merrimack, to Central, to the hall. Carriages will be occupied by Rev. Fr. Mullin, Rev. Fr. McDermod, Rev. Fr. Heffernan, His Honor Mayor Casey, Edward F. Slattery, Mr. Patrick Kane, the well known "old soldier" of the Mathews, and others.

At the hall exercises will be carried out, President John Y. Donoghue presiding, and besides an entertainment program, remarks will be made by the clergymen and laymen mentioned above. A collation will be provided. Marshal John J. Townsend assisted by a corps of aids will have charge of the parade and he stated last night that indications point to the biggest turnout in the history of the society.

BORROW $10,000

Is the Order of Appropriations Committee

The committee on appropriations, Alderman Braden, chairman, met last evening in the aldermanic committee room at city hall. The joint order for $10,000 for school houses was read.

The order as itemized was as follows: School houses, $800; public buildings labor, carpenters, painters, etc., $500; public buildings and materials $600.

Alderman Grant moved that the order be recommended and the motion prevailed—Braden, Grant and Cosgrove in favor and Morse and Read against.

Chairman Braden said he had been requested to state that the money needed to defray small pox expenses was needed by the board of health. There are two orders, one for $200 and another for $100. The first order is already before the committee and that body decided to wait until the second order reaches its operating room.

CAUGHT "SPIRIT"

MAN BROKE UP A MEETING IN NEW HAVEN.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 10.—Frank E. Brown, well known here, created a sensation at a Spiritualistic seance in this city Sunday evening. A number of local Spiritualists secured the services of a noted New York medium and invited Mr. Brown and several unbelievers to be present. When the seance opened the medium was disclosed firmly bound in a chair. One by one the medium brought back the shades of the departed relatives of those in the room.

Finally came the announcement that a spirit wished to converse with Mr. Brown. The spirit flitted from behind the curtain and advanced toward Mr. Brown, who made a grab for the shade.

Mr. Brown got hold of a human arm and held on. The spirit struggled, wailed, moaned and fought. Brown struck back and the pair landed behind the curtains, with Mr. Brown on the chest of the groaning spirit. One of the nonbelievers turned up the lights and disclosed Mr. Brown sitting on the chest of the medium.

The meeting broke up in consternation.

OFFICER PASSED AWAY AT HIS POST.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Hugh A. McClellan, an officer in the first session of the superior civil court for Suffolk county, died suddenly yesterday afternoon as he was about to take a jury to lunch. Muscular rheumatism was the cause of death.

He had been suffering from rheumatism for some time, and yesterday morning as he entered the court-house he remarked to an officer that he believed his end was near.

He went to his session and was assigned to take charge of the jury in the case of William Cotter vs. the Boston Elevated Railway company.

It was near 3 o'clock when he was told to take the jury to lunch, and he sat down in the officers' room to make out an order. A moment later he fell back in his chair.

HEAVY FINES.

LIQUOR SELLERS MUST PAY OR SPEND 10 YEARS IN JAIL.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 10.—In the Washington county court yesterday afternoon Chief Judge Rowell of Randolph imposed fines aggregating $2300 for illegal liquor selling. E. W. Gilman of Marshfield pleaded guilty to three offences and was fined $400 and costs for each offence, or $1200 in all, with an alternative sentence of 3600 days in the house of correction at Rutland. Joseph Wood of Barre pleaded guilty to one offence, of selling, and was fined $400 and costs with the alternative sentence. Mrs. Mary Saroni of East Montpelier pleaded guilty to two offences and was fined $300 for each offence and costs, with the alternative sentence.

All these parties were indicted by the grand jury at the present term. They will settle.

JUDGE DEWEY

WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Judge Dewey left town on a European trip last night, taking the midnight train for New York. He sails today to be gone three weeks. Late yesterday afternoon it transpired that the judge had made up his mind to be a candidate for the republican mayoralty nomination.

His flying trip to Europe is a business one, and by the time he returns his friends expect to have the local situation well in hand, and express the belief that the judge will be able to beat all comers in the race for the nomination.

FINED $100

ALMAN G. WHITTIER FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING A DEER.

HAVERHILL, Oct. 10—Alman G. Whittier of Newton, N. H., was arraigned before Judge Noyes at Plaistow, N. H., yesterday afternoon and was fined $100 and costs for killing a deer. Whittier was arrested Saturday afternoon by Constable Tucker of Plaistow.

Whittier appealed and was held under bonds for the Rockingham county superior court. Game Commissioner Wentworth appeared for the prosecution.

DIED IN HACK

MAN HAD TAKEN TOO MUCH LIQUOR.

BOSTON, Oct. 10—John J. Slattery of Abington died suddenly at Hanover yesterday while on the way from his summer home at White Horse Beach to Abington. Mr. Slattery had been drinking quite hard of late. It was decided to send him to take the Keeley cure and yesterday a hack was sent to Plymouth for him. Mr. Slattery was placed inside the hack and a friend mounted the seat with the driver. At Hanover Mr. Slattery was found in an apparently lifeless condition. Dr. McMillan was summoned and he found that the man was dead. Medical Examiner Dudley said the man died from too much liquor. Slattery was 46 years of age and was single. He leaves a brother.

BIG CHRISTENING

Of Streets That Have Duplicate Names

ONE WILL BEAR THE NAME OF HOBSON

Raft of Petitions Read and Discussed

The committee on streets met in the public hearing room at city hall last evening and, among other things, juggled with suggestions for the names of streets. The list of streets was as follows:

James street, from Washer street southerly, James street, from Chelmsford street to Manufacturers street, James street, from French street to Amory street, James avenue, from Hovey avenue to Platts avenue, Sterling street, from Fairfield street, Hovey avenue, from Hildreth street, northerly, Hovey street, from Lakes view avenue to Essex street, Fulton street, from Willie street, westerly, Dewey avenue, from No. 41 Coburn street, Falmouth street, from Fairfield street, Carter avenue, from Chelmsford street, Court street, from Woodward avenue northerly, Court street, from Gorham street to Linden street, Davis street, from Court street, Pawtucketville.

The hearing was largely attended and a great many were heard on various matters. Rev. L. C. Manchester suggested the name Hobson for the street now called Court street. He suggested this change, he said, because Mr. George Hobson was one of the founders of St. John's Episcopal church.

Mr. Levi S. Gould would prefer to have the street called Huntress street.

West Fifth street was the new name suggested for Davis street. The new name was suggested by Frank Cowdrey.

John McArdle asked that Grace street be laid out and accepted. Several others spoke in favor of Mr. McArdle's petition and there were no remonstrants.

James McCormack asked for a sidewalk and edgestones in Maple street. The petition did not lack support and there were no remonstrants.

There were no remonstrants to Eugene C. Russell's petition that Rhodora street be accepted.

Fisher H. Pearson petitioned for the acceptance of Columbia street.

W. H. Mawhinney petitioned for the acceptance of Dix street. Mr. Goddard spoke for the petition. He said that in justice to the Mawhinney Shoe company, whose factory is now being constructed, the street should be accepted.

The acceptance of Tolman avenue was petitioned for by William J. Hayes.

Harry Swan wanted a concrete sidewalk near the Varnum avenue school. The school committee was represented by Superintendent Whitcomb.

There were no remonstrants to N. E. Greenberg's petition for a cinder sidewalk on the north side of Daly street.

John Small, Samuel C. Rowe and Eugene P. Sullivan appeared in support of James McCormick's petition that Maple street be laid out.

The petition of C. H. Hanson, et als., that Westchester street be laid out received the support of Messrs. George Harrigan and Thomas C. Lee.

The committee after having finished with the hearings adjourned to the office of the superintendent of streets and held a business meeting.

On motion of Alderman Hayes it was voted that a new order be drawn up, to have Moody street paved with Warren Bros.' pavement, the order to be introduced this evening.

On motion of Councilman Mahoney, the matter of re-naming the streets was taken up.

James street had no less than four duplications, namely from Washer street southerly, from Chelmsford street to Manufacturers street, from French street to Amory street, James avenue, from Hovey avenue to Platts avenue.

Court street, from Gorham street to Linden street, was named Hobson street, unless another street was found named Hobson street, in which event it would be named Huntress street.

Davis street was named West Fifth avenue, Sterling street was changed to Fleming street, Cornell avenue to Hayes avenue, James street to Birk street, West street, now, to Paradis street.

James Wessels asked that London street be defined and Councilman Clough was appointed to wait upon Charles Ruppler, one of the petitioners, and report back.

The following recommendations were voted by the committee,

Macadamize Lundberg street.

Macadamize Meadowcroft street.

West street, change name and accept it, from Maple to London street.

Rhodora street, accepted.

Columbia street, accepted.

Dix street, action deferred until next meeting.

Tolman avenue, favorable action.

Sidewalk, Varnum avenue, voted.

E. Greenberg's petition voted.

D. E. Reidy's petition for a sidewalk in Broadway, favorable action.

John J. McArdle, sidewalk, Grace street, granted.

James McCormick, sidewalk, Maple street, granted.

C. H. Hanson, Westchester street, voted if street is put to grade. Adjourned at 9.45.

MAY NOT HANG

Stiff Neck May Save Condemned Man

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—Because of a peculiar freak of nature, Robert Gardiner, formerly a cashier, a prisoner in the county jail here, charged with the murder of Agnes Morrison, may escape the death penalty. When he was arraigned yesterday his attorney, William Buckner, startled the court by turning to Assistant States Attorney Barbour and saying:

"This is a case where it won't do you any good to ask for the death penalty. They can't break this man's neck if they try to hang him, and you may lose him altogether by hanging him and failing to execute the sentence in full."

The prisoner is suffering from ossification of the vertebrae and tissues of the neck. According to Prof. Steffenson of Rush Medical college, only five cases similar have ever come to the notice of the medical profession.

Gardiner is unable to move his head or incline it, except with great effort, and is hardly able to eat or speak, owing to the effect of the ossification on the membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes.

Atty. Buckner declares that hardening of the bones and tissues has proceeded so far that it would be impossible to bring any strain upon the patient's neck that would be sufficiently severe to cause any discomfort other than a slight straining of the muscles.

WESTFORD

HAS STARTED A CRUSADE AGAINST LIQUOR SELLING.

The selectmen of the town of Westford have commenced a crusade against illegal liquor traffic, and constables under the direction of the selectmen secured a search warrant Saturday and searched the brick tavern owned by Matthew Downs and Charles Shougrue's residence.

Several gallons of whiskey were secured. Both men were summoned into the court at Ayer and were each fined $75 which they paid.

BRIDE DROWNED

Her Husband Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Katchen Duerr, 18 years old, and a bride, was drowned in the Harlem river at dusk yesterday under circumstances that caused the arrest of her husband and of Charles Hahn, a boarder in the Duerr family, the latter being suspected as an accessory. Mrs. Mary Mossnick, mother of the young woman, told the police that the couple often quarrelled and only last week Duerr threatened to kill his wife. Duerr admitted he had quarreled with his wife, but denied that he had any designs on her life. Duerr says he asked Tahn to give his wife an outing, as he had business which would prevent him accompanying her. Hahn's story is that he went to Fort George with Mrs. Duerr and hired a row boat to row down the Harlem. The passage of a tugboat caused the boat to rock and Mrs. Duerr he says, stood up suddenly, lost her balance and fell overboard. He had lost an oar and was trying to get back to the spot where she sank with one oar, when a steam launch caught up to him. No one was found who saw any struggle in the boat or witnessed Mrs. Duerr fall overboard, although the man in the launch corroborated Hahn's statement that he lost an oar.

CEMETERY GATE

F. F. AND FRED AYER CONTRIBUTE TO THE FUND.

Charles L. Knapp, treasurer of the Lowell cemetery, is in receipt of two substantial checks to reduce the debt of the new gate at the Knapp avenue entrance of the cemetery. One of the checks, for $50, is from Frederick Ayer, that gentleman having previously sent a check for $250 to Mr. Knapp, while the second check is for $250 and comes from Frederick Fanning Ayer. Frederick Fanning Ayer previously gave a check for $500 for the same fund. Thus far both the Mr. Ayers have given over $1,000 towards the erection of the gate or more than one-fifth of its cost. There now remains a debt of but $200 on the gate and it is needless to state that this will soon be forthcoming.

TELEPHONE ALARM.

A telephone alarm was sent to the central fire station yesterday for a fire in a block in Moody street owned by A. C. Wheelock. Children and matches were the cause of the fire. The damage was slight.

TO POORHOUSE

Once Wealthy Banker is a Pauper

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Jefferson P. Raplee, once a wealthy New York banker and business associate of Jay Gould, Commodore Vanderbilt and John P. Blair, went to the poorhouse here yesterday.

Raplee was one of the best-known men along Broadway in his day. His father, who was Judge Raplee of Yates county, N. Y., left him a large fortune. In 1856 he opened a banking house at 137 Broadway, which was capitalized at $2,0,000 and did a yearly business of $500,000, which was a large sum at that time.

Since 1867, when this bank made an assignment after some unfortunate speculation, Mr. Raplee's fortune, although invested in a new banking venture, steadily diminished. Three years ago he closed his last offices at 136 Liberty street and began to live on the remnants of his former wealth. He was unmarried.

Yesterday Mr. Raplee, carrying a suit case, entered the office of the superintendent of the outdoor poor, who is an old acquaintance of the banker, and greeted him saying:

"What can I do for you, Jefferson?"

"I have only one friend left," said Mr. Raplee, "but he won't help me any more, and I've got to live."

The superintendent had a special messenger escort the former banker to the farm colony at Staten Island, where he will be given some light employment for the remainder of his life.

TWICE DIVORCED

GIRL OF 15 COMMITTED SUICIDE.

KOKOMO, Ind., Oct. 10.—Twice married and twice divorced, 15-year-old Julia Beard committed suicide at a hotel here last night because she could not marry a third husband.

She was infatuated with Walter Gardner, a stenographer. When he refused to marry her she swallowed strychnine and died in his arms, saying: "I cannot marry you, but I can die." She was dead before the doctor came.

A year ago she married Thomas Johnson. She left him and married John Aaron. The latter couple were arrested for bigamy, but because of her age she was given a divorce from both husbands and the prosecution was dropped.

She was a waitress at the New Denison hotel, and was a daughter of Mrs. Crow of Greentown.

FOR GOVERNOR— CHARLES W. BARTLETT

His Election Will Convince Congress that Massachusetts is in Earnest in its Demand for Free Hides, Coal, Iron Ore, Lumber and Wood Pulp.

Charles W. Bartlett, citizen, soldier, advocate, was born in Boston August 12, 1865. His parents removed to East Cambridge a few years later, where he attended the public schools. At the age of 11 he was a pupil of the Putnam Grammar School and much interested in his studies; but he was compelled to give up his school and go with his parents who removed to a farm in the town of Lee, N.H., where the educational advantages were not equal to those of Cambridge.

However, the boy was possessed with a desire to secure an education, and what time could be spared from the many duties he found to perform upon a rocky farm, he attended the district school of Lee. There are still living in New Hampshire quite a number of people who knew Gen. Bartlett at this period of his career, and who tell with pride of the efforts of a dutiful son to aid his parents in getting a living on a rented farm, while at the same time striving to secure an education. It is related by one who knows the early life of Gen. Bartlett that he was an omnivorous reader, devoting the long winter evenings after the farm work was completed to careful study and reading of such books as he could secure. It was in that New Hampshire home, devoid of everything but the barest necessities, that the successful advocate of to-day grounded himself in the rudiments of law and history. He was a good farmer and a good student, and the habits of early life imposed upon him by a lack of wealth and opportunity make him thorough in all he does, perfectly frank, open and honest.

Determined to secure an education, opportunity came to attend for two short terms a small academy at Andover, N. H. While enjoying this (to him) great privilege of attending an academy, he continued his studies in private. It was his great good fortune at this time to form the acquaintance of Jeremiah Smith, at present a professor at the Harvard law school. Prof. Smith had graduated from Harvard and was living at the Hale farm, near the home of Mr. Bartlett. He interested himself in the Bartlett boy, encouraged him to study, and aided him in many ways, particularly by hearing him recite the lessons learned.

The pinch of poverty was unceasing, however, and as the season grew more suitable for farming than for study, young Bartlett was compelled to relinquish his studies and go to work as a bread winner. He worked as a laborer in a crew that traveled about the state compressing hay into bales. This was hard work, and the hours were from daylight to dark; but two months of such labor enabled him to accumulate money with which to assist in his education.

At the breaking out of the war he was about 16 years of age, and he was extremely anxious to join his schoolboy comrades and enlist, but being an only son he could not secure the consent of his parents, and at this time could not go to the front. Later, however, he secured the consent of his father, and he promptly left the New Hampshire home, went to Boston, and enlisted as a private in Company A, 5th Massachusetts regiment. He served his term of service and was mustered out in November, 1864.

When he returned home from the war, he resumed his studies at the academy at Andover, N. H., where some boyish prank brought him into conflict with the academy authorities, which resulted in his leaving the school. With a determination characteristic of the man, the boy was more than ever desirous of securing an education, and without saying a word to anyone he went to Dartmouth College, and there took the entrance examinations. One of the many branches in which he was examined he never studied, but it was here that his great reading and retentive memory came to his aid, and not only in this particular branch, but in all others, he successfully passed the examination. He learned in the month of June of his success with his examinations. Then arose the momentous problem of providing the necessary money to defray his expenses. Inspired with a worthy ambition, he sought work to earn the money. The best thing obtainable was employment as a laborer with a bridge-builder. He accepted the opportunity gladly, and was put to work with other men at the dangerous work of building a cofferdam. He continued in the employ of the bridge builder until the college year opened in September. With the money thus earned young Bartlett entered Dartmouth College, and managed to get along until the winter vacation came.

In those days it was customary to permit deserving students to leave college to teach for brief periods country schools throughout New England.

Availing himself of the opportunity to replenish his depleted funds, he went to Truro, Mass., and there in that section of the old Cape Cod town known as Hogsback, young Bartlett made his first appearance as a school teacher. He was successful in his teaching, and with the money accumulated he went back to Dartmouth College for the spring term.

After completing his studies at college that spring he went into the hay fields as a laborer, and followed the harvest from the lowlands to the uplands. With the money earned he went to college for the fall term, later returning to Cape Cod to teach a brief term at Wellfleet. This was a rather peculiar school, in that it was made up principally of those healthy young Cape Codders who passed most of the year in deep sea fishing, returning home for a brief period in winter. There were between 50 and 60 of them, and they were a studious, well-behaved lot and seemed to realize that it was important that they should make the most of their scant educational opportunities.

From Wellfleet Bartlett returned to college for another term, when an urgent request came for a teacher to take charge of a school in which the pupils had been running things to suit themselves. The president of the college sent word that he had two men, either of whom were capable of undertaking the task. One of them was Gen. Barthet, and the other was Judge Maynard, now of the Superior Court of Massachusetts. Gen. Bartlett was sent out to take charge of the school, and as in almost all his undertakings he was successful. This school was at South Gardner, Mass. Later he again taught at Wellfleet.

While in college Gen. Bartlett was a member of the D. K. E. fraternity. After he graduated from college in the class of '90, he received a proposition to teach the high school at Salmon Falls, N.H. There had been considerable trouble and one term had been broken up. He took charge of the school and taught it peaceably.

In the meantime at every opportunity he had been studying law, and soon after completing his college course he entered the Albany, N.Y., law school. He completed the course, and was admitted to the bar of New York in 1871.

Gen. Bartlett returned to his New Hampshire home and entered into a law partnership with Samuel M. Wheeler of Dover, N.H. He remained there two years, and then started for New York city by way of Boston. When he arrived in Boston he met a friend with whom he had business transactions in New Hampshire who wanted him to take charge of some legal matters in Boston. Gen. Bartlett demurred, saying he had no office or facilities for work, and was on his way to New York. He was induced to call at the office of N. B. Bryant, an attorney, and explain the situation to him. Mr. Bryant very generously gave Gen. Bartlett a desk in his office, and invited him to remain just as long as he wished. The result was that Gen. Bartlett occupied that desk for 18 years.

Gen. Bartlett is the senior member of the firm of Bartlett & Anderson, one of the most prominent and successful law firms of Boston. He is a past commander of John A. Andrew post 15, G. A. R., and resides in Dorchester with his wife. He has been a member of the Suffolk County Bar association since it was founded, and is a member of the Curtis club, the Taylor club and the New Hampshire club, and is president of the Dartmouth Educational association and a member of other Dartmouth alumni associations. He is a man of simple habits, loves horses, baseball, football; but his greatest enjoyment he secures from his home life.

Gen. Charles W. Bartlett is an ideal man for the honorable position of governor of this commonwealth. He is scrupulously honest and fearless. He would represent in the executive office the interests of the whole people. Special interests asking favors at the expense of the people would receive no consideration. He is an advocate of reciprocal trade treaties with all countries, and with Canada in particular. He believes in a revision of the tariff to meet the requirements of the welfare of our New England industries. He has the confidence of the business interests, is trusted by the farmer, and the workingmen will find in him a true friend.

Voters of Massachusetts are urged to cast their ballot for Charles W. Bartlett, and thus emphasize the appeal to Congress for relief from the tariff burden which threatens to crush the life out of industrial New England.

"For the benefit of Massachusetts industries, I believe that Congress should place upon the free list hides, coal, iron ore, lumber and wood pulp, and that duties upon manufactured and other articles be reduced wherever possible. I am also convinced that reciprocal trade treaties should be made by this country with Canada and other nations."—CHARLES W. BARTLETT.

For the Good of Lowell

Annex the Town of Tewksbury

In expansion towards Tewksbury our city has reached a stage at which annexation is an imperative necessity. We have built up to the line at all points and have even located a factory beyond the line.

To propose the annexation of Wigginville and Atherton singly or together would naturally excite the opposition of the rest of the town. To overcome this opposition and to advance the interests of both Tewksbury and Lowell, let us annex the entire town of Tewksbury.

The tax rate in Tewksbury is $16 and the increase that would come to the town as a part of Lowell would be amply compensated for by our city schools, our water service, our fire and police protection. The annexed district would moreover soon be doubled in value and the present residents would reap the benefit of such a boom, while Lowell would be satisfied with the increased revenue from taxation and the prestige of adding nearly 5,000 to her population.

The village of Atherton would soon become a hive of industry; Wigginville would no longer plod along without city privileges and the rest of the township would soon feel the progressive effects of the change. All that is necessary to bring this about is, that Tewksbury shall lay down its corporate entity and become part and parcel of our hustling municipality. Let us take over the whole town of Tewksbury, almshouse and all, at the next session of the legislature.

John McManus will not hire a hand at his next picnic. He will use the piano.

Germany, it is alleged, is urging a tripartite alliance with France and Russia as the other members in order to offset the alliance between England and Japan with the United States as an unallied friend of both countries. It is very clear that the Kaiser is not satisfied with the manner in which the war terminated.

THE VENEZUELAN DIFFICULTY.

The supreme court of Venezuela has ordered the confiscation of certain asphalt properties belonging to citizens of the United States cities and of other and similar properties belonging to citizens of France. The question now confronting our state department is, will the United States have to assume the role of international constable, ignore the decision of the supreme court of Venezuela and force the government of that republic to submit the matter to arbitration. The question is one of those ever recurring troubles coming from the impertinence of southern republics growing out of their security under the Monroe Doctrine in its extended application.

The time is at hand when some fixed mode of settling such matters must be adopted so that the republics may have a thorough sense of responsibility and at least a fair appreciation of the fact that but for the protection of the United States, they would speedily be pounced upon by some of the European powers.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION OF RATES.

The agitation for government regulation of railroad freight rates has caused a panicky feeling among the railroads. The various companies have agencies for the purpose of conducting a propaganda against the proposition, as unfair to the railroads, unjust to the public and injurious to trade. It is wonderful what literature this bureau sends out, much of it being thrown aside without even the honor of being hurriedly read. The people believe that President Roosevelt has the right side of the question in undertaking to fix rates.

Professor Hugo Meyer, economist of Chicago university, comes to the relief of the railroads at an opportune time, when congress is about to take up the matter for the purpose of giving the Interstate Commerce Commission the privilege of fixing rates.

Professor Meyer's book presents an array of facts and figures intended to show that the regulation of rates is dangerous. It may be summed up in this sentence:

"Whatever evils now exist in the management of the railways none of them is at all commensurate with the harm which must result from bestowing the power to fix railway rates upon the Interstate Commerce Commission."

Professor Meyer goes to Europe for proof of his contention and argues that because the regulation of rates is in vogue in France for that reason the railroads are far behind those of the United States. The same is true of other European countries where there is no government regulation. The United States is to a great extent ahead of France and the other countries of Europe in other respects as well as in railroads. Prof. Meyer thus passes off a sophism to support his contention but it is easily seen through.

From Germany, the author deduces proofs which are more plausible. He says the government regulation of rates has hampered the industrial development of Germany in causing all bulky freight to be transported by water instead of by rail. Owing to this regulation, he says it is possible to ship grain economically by rail only a distance of one hundred and twenty-five miles. This, if true, is certainly a species of regulation that should not exist. The abuse of government regulation is no argument against its proper application.

Government regulation, says Professor Meyer, has centralized the trade of Australia in the three large cities instead of developing the trade of every section as in this country.

In spite of all the arguments adduced by Prof. Meyer in his timely book, we are of opinion that if the Interstate Commission be given the power to regulate rates to the extent of correcting evils and preventing abuses such as have from time to time been exposed in connection with the coal mines of Pennsylvania or with the shipments of grain and cattle from the west for big speculators or the beef trust, we believe the people would be fairly protected while the interests of the railroads and the development of trade would both be duly safeguarded.

SEEN AND HEARD

One day last week those Baltimoreans who were in the vicinity of the Bijou Theatre, on East Baltimore street, could have seen a crowd standing in the street with mouths wide open, apparently gazing at the sky. On the top of a smokestack one hundred and fifty feet from the ground could be seen a cyclist whirling around in a cage. After the fire department had been rung up and a squad of reserves summoned Manager Craft, whose name certainly signifies ingenuity, kindly explained that Edward Burtier, a trick cyclist from Detroit, Mich., was giving a free exhibition preliminary to his appearance at the Bijou that night. It is said a crowded house greeted Burtier that night, and Manager Craft stood at the entrance and chuckled softly to himself.

The observant citizen in the Boston Post writes:

I hear that the office of Deputy Superintendent Welch of the Lowell police department is draped in mourning. For "Welch's Wonders," a hitherto invincible bowling team, of which the deputy was the active and ardent head, met their Waterloo one night last week, and as if defeat were not sufficiently humiliating some of the stony-hearted class spread the report far and wide that the "has-been brigade" had swallowed another set of "champs." But I am further informed that from morn to night the deputy doth now hum the air, "Some day we will come back." Doubtless constituents of "Welch's Wonders" hope so.

Marlboro club meeting.

The only bouts of any importance scheduled for this week are those to be held at Revere beach and Thornton, R. I.

The Berkeley cycle club of Beachmont is to hold the meeting at Revere beach and in order to accommodate its members the club has secured Crescent garden. The program arranged by the club is a good one and the members are sure to see some lively bouts. In the main event Sammy Myers of New York and "Matty" Baldwin will come together. Myers has been in the game for some time, and is a clever boxer. Baldwin has trained hard for this bout, and is in good condition. Both boys are fast workers and very aggressive.

There will be a semifinal between Kid Barrish and Jack Desmond of Lowell that should be a hot contest. The other two preliminaries, which will be between local boxers, will help to make the show interesting.

The bout at Thornton will be between Terry Martin and Dave Deshler. Both are clever boxers and certainly will please the members of the club.

The Highland club of Marlboro announce that it has Jack Blackburn and Larry Temple for the main bout at its show Friday night. According to a message received by a sporting man in this city yesterday, Temple does not intend to appear. After the showing that Blackburn made in Philadelphia Saturday night, a corporal's guard would not go to see him box even against a man like Temple. Nowadays the people who pay to see boxing shows want some sort of a run for their money.

Sam Langford, who boxed Blackburn at Philadelphia Saturday night, returned to Boston yesterday. He denies that he did any faking, but blames Blackburn.

"When I left Philadelphia," said Sam, "manager McQuiggan of the club gave me my money, but refused to pay Blackburn. He also told Blackburn that he was to blame for the poor bout, and, furthermore, accused him of faking with Jack Williams and Harry Center last week.

"I was told that I could box again in Philadelphia, but Blackburn has been barred by the clubs there."

G. Dubois, a professional boxer and kicker, and Re Nie, another Frenchman, who has learned the art of jiu jitsu, have arranged an encounter to be fought privately in Paris. The rules of the contest sound alarming. Practically every method of attack will be allowed, except biting and "gouging out the adversary's eyes." The ring will measure 37 feet square. The umpire will be chosen by the four seconds. Except that hobnailed boots are forbidden, every latitude in dress will be allowed. Dubois will employ every kind of blow known either to boxers or to "apaches," i. e., hooligans. These tricks, usually forbidden, but considered allowable against jiu jitsu, include butting with the head, tripping up with the hands or feet, wrestling and kicks in any part of the body. His tactics will be to keep as far out of Re Nie's reach as possible, and to punish him with kicks the while. Once caught, the deadly jiu jitsu would probably overcome him. The seconds and umpire will stop the fight whenever it becomes brutal.

Eddie Keevin, manager of Jimmy Walsh, received a letter from the manager of the Athletic and Pastime club of Spokane in which the club manager stated that he would give Walsh a chance to meet Harry Tenney in four or five weeks.

The directors of the Douglas club tried yesterday to match Kid Goodman and Chick Tucker for Thursday night, but the managers of both fighters turned down the offer.

Charley Dwyer of Cambridge, who has met some of the best 122-126-pound boys in this section, is back in the game again, and is desirous of meeting Jimmy Hanlon, Young Freeman or any 126-pound boxer in New England.

There is every likelihood that Joe Walcott will be seen in the ring again. Walcott was forced to retire from the game because of an injured hand which he sustained in a shooting scrape in Boston some time ago. The hand is entirely well now, according to Walcott. The once invincible negro is trying to bring about a match between himself and Willie Lewis of this city and it looks as if the contest will take place before the Michigan City A. C., Detroit, before long. This club wants to hold a fifteen round bout between the two, the same to take place within the next two weeks. Both men have the offer under consideration, and will notify the club what they intend to do about it before long.

FINE TRADE

RECORD OF FOREIGN COMMERCE OF UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10-The record of foreign commerce of the United States during August strongly reflects the prosperous condition of trade and industry. Figures just published by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, show that exports of manufactures during the single month of August have increased nearly 9 million dollars, or about 25 per cent. as compared with the same month of last year, and about 20 million dollars as compared with August, 1901. Meantime the manufacturers have increased their consumption of materials imported for use in the various processes of domestic industry, the August, 1905, imports of crude articles for use in manufacturing having increased nearly 2 million dollars over the imports of August, 1901, while there is an increase of about 50 million dollars when the eight months ending with August of this year are compared with the corresponding period a year earlier. That class of manufacturers' materials designated as "wholly or partially manufactured" also shows increased imports—about a million dollars during August, and over 12 million dollars during the eight months ending with August.

The figures show also that more manufactures are being exported from than are imported into the country—a condition which has been brought about during the short period since 1897. Imports of manufactures (including in that term for this comparison manufactures ready for consumption, articles wholly or partially manufactured for use as materials in the mechanic arts, and articles of voluntary use and luxuries) aggregated during August last 45 million dollars, while exports of manufactures during that month showed a total of 61 millions. During the eight months ending with August, 1905, imports of manufactures, including all degrees of manufacture, aggregated 322 millions, while exports of manufactures, amounted during the same period to 376 million dollars. As recently as 1897 the records of our foreign commerce showed an importation of 2:3 million dollars' worth of manufactures during the calendar year, as against 2:6 million dollars' worth of manufactures exported. The following year was the first to show exports of manufactures in excess of imports of manufactures and since 1898 there has been a steady increase in the outward flow of the products of our manufacturing industries. During the eight month periods of the years named exports of manufactures have increased from 199 million dollars in 1897 to 376 millions in 1905, while imports of manufactures have only increased from 213 million dollars in 1897 to 322 millions in 1905.

In nearly every class there is great activity shown both as to imports and exports. On the import side, imports of animals and articles of food show for the eight months an increase of 10 million dollars; crude materials for use in manufacturing, as already stated, an increase of 50 millions; wholly or partially manufactured materials, 13 millions; articles manufactured ready for consumption, 14 millions; and articles of voluntary use, luxuries, etc., 16 million dollars, as compared with the imports during the corresponding eight months of the preceding year.— On the export side agricultural products increased 63 million dollars; manufactures, 53 millions; products of the mines, 2 millions, and miscellaneous articles nearly 2 millions. Products of the fisheries and of the forest each decreased slightly as compared with the first eight months of the preceding year, the former about 1 million dollars and the latter nearly 5 millions.

The duties collected from customs have increased materially since the close of the fiscal year 1905, that year having shown no appreciable increase in customs revenue as compared with the preceding year. The total amount of duties collected from customs during the fiscal year 1905 was $262,060,528, as against $262,013,079 in 1904, the increase being very slight, while for June, the closing month of the fiscal year 1905, the total customs revenue was $22,564,652, as against $22,590,693 in June of the preceding year. The revenues derived from customs show a decided improvement since the close of the fiscal year. Thus the revenue derived from customs in July, 1905, amounted to $21,590,149, as against $19,483,750 in July of the preceding year, and in August amounted to $26,181,282, as compared with $22,417,674 in August, 1904. For the eight months ending August 31, 1905, the total customs revenue aggregated $177,926,029, as against $170,475,016 in the same months of the preceding year, and of this increase of $7,451,013, $6,870,007 was accumulated during the two months of July and August of the present year.

Up to August 31, 1905, imports amounted to $770,412,026, as against $667,269,364 in the preceding year; and exports were valued at $966,612,607, as compared with $851,203,457 in the first eight months of 1904. The value of manufactures exported during the first eight months of 1905 practically equaled the total exports of manufactures during the entire calendar year 1899, being $376,198,679, as against a total of $380,787,891 for the entire year 1899. Should the commercial activity indicated by the August figures continue during the succeeding four months, the calendar year 1905 will show the largest volume of commerce, both as to imports and exports, ever recorded.

Reports received by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics, indicate that the total grain receipts at the ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore during August showed a gain of nearly 4 million bushels, if compared with similar arrivals in 1904. On the other hand, the inbound cereal movement at New Orleans, as well as at San Francisco and Tacoma, presented heavy losses by like comparisons. While Galveston's inbound grain movement during August was heavily in excess of that for a corresponding month in the preceding year, it should be understood that, during the latter period, the movement was exceptionally small.

At Boston, the month's receipts of grain totaled 1,692,928 bushels, as compared with 1,083,904 bushels for a corresponding month in 1904. Shipments which amounted to 908,893 bushels, were nearly 500,000 bushels in excess of a similar movement in the preceding year. Receipts of all grain at this port during the first eight months of the current year aggregated 12,655,026 bushels, as against 10,082,460 bushels in 1904. Corn movements were excessively heavy, the gain in the withdrawals of this cereal having amounted to nearly 5 million bushels.

New York's grain receipts during August totaled 7,728,907 bushels, of which 6,549,466 bushels represent a rail and 1,179,441 bushels a water movement. The total receipts of grain, flour and corn meal during the month of August aggregated 10,116,569 bushels, as against 8,706,240 bushels in 1904. Of the 1905 total, 8,899,177 bushels were received by rail, 68,822 bushels by river and coast, and 1,147,600 bushels by canal.

At Philadelphia the total inbound grain movements during the month amounted to 2,458,916 bushels, being slightly over a million bushels heavier than a like movement in 1904. Shipments for the month, which were 767,710 bushels in 1905, amounted to 383,528 bushels during a like month in the preceding year. Receipts of all cereals at this port for the first eight months of the current year totaled 10,423,991 bushels, in contrast with 10,110,692 bushels in 1904.

ON DIVORCE

CATHOLIC PRIEST ADDRESSED UNION MINISTERS' MEETING.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 10.—Fr. Blessing, pastor of St. Edward's church, discussed divorce before the union ministers' meeting here yesterday in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. He gave an exhaustive explanation of the stand taken on the question by the Roman Catholic church.

He said that secular matters should be governed by secular courts, but according to the tenets of the Roman Catholic church nothing that is sacred should be interfered with in any manner by secular tribunals, and the legal authorities have no right, in the sight of God, to take upon themselves the sundering of the bonds, which under his commands "no man shall put asunder."

The speaker read scriptural quotations and explained that under some circumstances the parties to a marriage in the Catholic church were allowed to separate, but under no circumstances to remarry. He added that the position of Bishop Doane that the Catholic church taught one thing and practiced another on the divorce question was a false one.

German Professor Says He Was Insulted

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Dr. Theodore Zincke, professor of chemistry in the University of Marburg, Germany, who passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to New York, declared that, although he had travelled all over Europe, Asia and Africa, he never before received such discourteous treatment as was given him when he entered the United States. He asserted that on his way to Seattle, last week, he was "treated like a Chinaman," and forced to pay a fee of $2 before he was allowed to cross the boundary line. Prof. Zincke was a classmate of Ira Remsen, one of the authorities on chemistry in the United States. His visit to Chicago was to renew his friendship with two of his former pupils, Dr. Max Henius and Dr. Robert Wahl. To them he asserted that on his arrival in Germany he will lay the matter before the bureau of foreign affairs.

He is accustomed to spend three months of every year in travel, and this year he came to America to view the grand canyon of the Colorado and to visit Alaska. On his return from the Klondike, he took a steamer from Vancouver to Seattle and it was while on board this boat that an "official" "treated him like a Chinaman." After he had answered 'numberless interrogations" he was told that "he was an alien," and was compelled to pay $2 as a fee for being allowed to land. He is at a loss to know whether the "official" represented the bureau of commerce and labor, or was a swindler.

SEYMOUR

ADMIRAL OF BRITISH FLEET COMING TO BOSTON.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 10—The Cunard line steamer Ivernia, which sails from here today for Boston, takes among her passengers Admiral of the fleet, Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, principal naval aid de camp to King Edward.

Admiral Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, entered the British navy in 1852, served in the Crimea, Chinese and Egyptian wars and commanded the first allied expedition against the Chinese in 1900.

ADMIRAL SASO

INSPECTOR GENERAL OF NAVAL CONSTRUCTION IS DEAD.

TOKIO, Oct. 10, 3 p. m.—Admiral Saso, inspector general of naval construction, is dead. His death is deeply lamented in naval circles as a heavy loss to the nation.

The abrogation of martial law, has had the effect of removing to a great extent the business depression in this city, and the public is now feeling in a more suitable mood to extend the heartiest kind of a reception to the British fleet, which is expected to arrive in Yokohoma tomorrow, October 11. The officers of the American cruiser Cincinnati, will be invited to attend all functions arranged in welcome to the British officers.

The weather forecast announcing a continuance of the bright autumn days is helping to increase the buoyancy of the public spirit.

KILLED AT PLAY

Little Girl's Brain Was Pierced

HAD SHARP STICK IN MOUTH

Death Ensued in a Short Time

BOSTON, Oct. 10—Eva Harris, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harris of 179 London street, East Boston, fell in a passageway near her home yesterday afternoon, and the point of a thin stick of wood on which was a piece of candy she had been eating went through her mouth and then to her brain, killing her almost instantly.

When the screams of the child were first heard by her playmates and several women who live in the neighborhood it was not thought that she was seriously injured, but after one or two of the women had gone to her and seen the copious flow of blood from her mouth she was quickly taken in their arms to a physician's office; but when she arrived there inside of five minutes she was dead.

The girl was one of seven children—four boys and three girls—she being the youngest of the girls. The parents and most of the children were yesterday attending the Yom Kipper services in Hibernian hall on Harve street, East Boston, a short distance from their home.

Eva, with a number of other children, just before 2 o'clock, was at play in a passageway. The little girl with others had a cent, and with this she bought a kind of candy which consists of a small ball or apple attached to a stick about eight or nine inches long.

Eva had eaten most of her candy and was running through the passageway when she fell.

Mrs. Flora Wager of 21 Porter street and Mrs. Rebecca Pearlstein and Miss Mary Cooper of 21 Porter street were the first women to reach the side of the girl and immediately realizing she was seriously hurt they picked her up and started for a doctor's office. They had gone but a short distance when the brother of the girl came along and he then took his sister and ran to the office of Dr. Hartnett.

All this consumed less than five minutes, but when the child arrived at Dr. Hartnett's office she was dead.

LOWELL MAN

ROBERT CARRUTHERS DIED IN LAWRENCE YESTERDAY.

Robert Carruthers, a well-known and prominent manufacturer of this city, but who resides in Lawrence, died at his home, 101 Butler street, Lawrence, yesterday, aged 58 years. He had been in business in this city for more than ten years. His factory at the present time is located in the old stone mill at the corner of Church and Warren streets. He was a manufacturer of burr and Baker-in cylinders, having had his shops located first in Dutton street and finally at the present location.

Mr. Carruthers was born in Blackburn, Lancashire, Eng., Oct. 3, 1846. He was descended from sturdy Scotch ancestors, his father, David, being born in Scotland in 1811. For more than 100 years his family has been engaged in the manufacture of reeds and harnesses, which business was a part of Mr. Carruthers' operations at his mill in Warren street.

He was obliged to go to work at the early age of seven years and remained in the employment of his father until he was 29 years old. By traveling through the country he obtained a thorough knowledge of his business and, in 1872 came to America and was employed at his trade at Providence, R. I., where he remained four years.

For three months he was employed by D. C. Brown of this city, who was then in the manufacturing business at the stone mill in Warren street. After further employment in Providence, he bought the plant of the Providence Reed and Harness company.

After two years he removed his machinery to Lawrence, where his business increased so largely that he moved one-half of it—the manufacture of reeds—to Lowell.

In 1899 he moved all of his Lawrence plant to Lowell and has subsequently become one of the largest reed manufacturers in the country.

He was a 32d degree Mason and belonged to the Bethany Commandery, K. T., also Mount Sinai Chapter, Grecian lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. He was a member of the Lawrence Encampment, and Canton Agawam, Lawrence lodge, I. O. O. F., and of the Home club.

In January, 1869, he was married to Miss Ann Buckley of Cheshire, Eng., who died five years ago. They had no children. He is survived by two brothers, Joseph and Alexander Carruthers of Wigginville, two nephews, Joseph Carruthers, Jr., of Wigginville and David Carruthers of this city, and one niece, Miss Elizabeth Carruthers of Wigginville.

BREAKS WILL

WOMAN ACCUSED AS FOND OF BAD AND POOR PLAYS.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 10.—That Mrs. Lizette Schandein was fond of sensational literature and plays of a low moral tone, was the testimony given yesterday by her son-in-law, Dr. Louis F. Frank before Judge Carpenter in the contest of Emil Schandein and Mrs. Frank, to break the will which gives the bulk of the Schandein estate to Mrs. Jacob Heyl, the third child.

Dr. William C. Becker and Dr. Richard Dewey were questioned relative to what moral or ethical effects arterial sclerosis would have upon a woman of Mrs. Schandein's age. The general trend of the testimony was to the effect that brain nutrition would be diminished, that the ethical functions of the brain would be lessened, the patient would have less power of judgment and would lose to a degree a sense of obligation.

Works Wonders

A Wonderful Compound. Cures Piles, Eczema, Skin Itching, Skin Eruptions, Cuts and Bruises.

Doan's Ointment is the best skin treatment, and the cheapest, because so little is required to cure. It cures piles after years of torture. It cures obstinate cases of eczema. It cures all skin itching. It cures skin eruptions. It heals cuts, bruises, scratches and abrasions without leaving a scar. It cures permanently. Lowell testimony proves it.

John Leach, janitor of Appleton National bank, and living at 43 Albion street, Lowell, Mass., says: "I just as emphatically endorse Doan's Ointment today as I did seven years ago when I used it for itching hemorrhoids. A few applications gave wonderful relief and in a short time I was completely and permanently cured. There has been no return of the annoying affliction during the years which have since elapsed. This shows that when Doan's Ointment cures, the cure is lasting. I procured the remedy at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WHY DOES EVERY ONE

In the Family Rush for Every Issue of the Boston Globe?

Because the Boston Globe has in it something for every member of the household. It is not a one-sided paper. It is the paper for young and old, and they know it. That is why they rush for it. It is the paper that has a department for the boys and girls; a department for the mother, and all the news for the head of the family. It has something for every one.

It has something for you.

The art department has secured Dr. H. H. Powers of Boston, for an illustrated lecture early in the new year.

Mr. Garrett Serviss will give one of his delightful illustrated lectures under the auspices of the science department, Nov. 20, Dec. 4, in the same department, Charles Lincoln Edwards, Ph. D., of Trinity college, Hartford, will speak on the wonders of the sea.

The hospitality committee has planned for at least four receptions during the year.

In January the clubs are supposed to pay especial attention to the civil service.

NOLAN KILLED

Man Was Dragged Into Shafting

SKOWHEGAN, Maine, Oct. 10.—Wm. Nolan, of Brucktoosh, N. B., is dead, as the result of an accident at the Riverside Pulp mills. Nolan was trying to straighten the belt on a pulley, when his hand was caught, dragging his body into the shafting and mangling it in a frightful manner.

BOY KILLED

WAS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HIS COMPANION.

ELLSWORTH, Me., Oct. 10.—The news of the accidental shooting of Basil Reed, the 14-year-old son of B. B. Reed, of West Tremont by Roy Eaton, a schoolmate, while the two were gunning for ducks, Saturday, reached here yesterday. The boys were in a naphtha launch and Eaton had just fired at a bird when he dropped his gun and the second barrel was discharged. The charge struck young Reed full in the breast, knocking him overboard. He was dead when he was taken from the water.

Fred C. Church had the insurance on Chas. F. Scribner's house at North Chelmsford.

IN NOMAN'S LAND

Sabrey Club Presents Musical Comedy

WAS WRITTEN BY W. O. DEARBORN

Last Night's Production a Great Success

SCENERY PAINTED FOR OCCASION

Big Event at the Eliot Church Last Night

The Sabrey club of the Eliot church gave an invitation dress rehearsal of the original three-act musical comedy "Noman's Land" written and arranged by William O. Dearborn, and made a big hit before a large gathering.

The scenery and effects were designed and painted by Ernest Dudley Chase and both young men combined their talents in making "Noman's Land" a success. The scenes, music and dialogue are full of life and harmony and the Sabrey boys worked in a little of their own fun to add to the general enjoyment of the piece. There is much catchy music and Miss Alice Livingston, Miss Lillian Mowatt and Mr. Paul Abbott contributed verse of local color to popular music.

The first official performance will be given tonight and there will be four in all, including a matinee tomorrow afternoon. About 100 members and friends of the club attended the dress rehearsal and they found nothing to criticise adversely, for the boys under the talented direction of Prof. P. Waldron Edmunds, were thoroughly at home in their parts and sang and acted with ease.

The play opens in New York with the Sabrey boys about to go on a yachting trip. The first scene closes with the singing of "Pals" by a quartet consisting of Messrs. McKittrick, Barton, Audet and Nichols.

Scene II of act I, in the cabin of the yacht Sea Breeze, the boys have an evening of fun and music. The choruses are especially well given. "Nicollini," "Lindi," "In the Sunlight of My Heart," with solos by Sidney Barton and H. Robert Audet are good enough to be encored twice apiece. "The Advertiser's Dream," written by E. Dudley Chase, was given by "Perry Liner," Roland Black, and was a very clever composition.

Act II finds the boys shipwrecked in "Noman's Land" and arrayed in every kind of a costume from a barrel to pajamas. They are taken prisoners by the king and are ordered to be hanged. The king has not been known to smile in three years and the boys get an idea that if they can make him smile their lives will be saved.

The timely arrival of Miss Lucia DeLammermoor Smythe, an opera singer of world-wide prominence, causes the boys great relief. She has some of her costumes, and she insists upon fixing six of the boys up as girls, after which she presents them at the palace.

The king makes love to a "girl," and when, after much commotion, he finds out his mistake, he laughs. He wins the love of Miss Smythe and decides to make her the queen of the islands. There are several good musical numbers in the last two acts. "My Hindu Man," "Nigger in the Moon," "Bonnie," "Helpful Hints," "Egypt," "Down Where the Sauree River Flows," "Where Jasmine Flowers are Twining," "To the King's Daughters," words by Miss Lillian Mowatt; "My Carolina Lady," "Knocking," and "Yankee Doodle Boy." Local hits in "Knocking" furnish plenty of amusement.

PLANT GROWING

Narrow Fabric Mills are Prospering

The Pentucket Narrow Fabric mills in Thorndike street that have been in operation since August give promise of expansion. The company was incorporated last week by William T. Sheppard, David W. Dewar and Alfred R. Philbrick.

The industry has been growing gradually since the first loom was started and the number of looms will be doubled within a month, and if all goes well the plant will be one of considerable size within a year.

BOSTON & MAINE

May Adopt the Pension System

The officials of the Boston & Maine railroad are considering the project of providing a pension for its older employes, and while nothing has yet been definitely done in the matter, it is certainly possible that some such plan will be put into operation shortly.

The idea as it is understood will give all employes who have reached the age of 60 years the privilege of retiring on half pay. If they desire to continue work, they may do so for five years, but having reached the age of 65, they will be retired by the new rule and continue upon half pay.

The money for the pension project will come from two sources. The railroad will contribute a considerable amount, said to be in the hundreds of thousands. The employes will contribute the remainder, it being made up of an assessment of one and one-half cent levied upon the pay of every employe of the road.

Such a plan has been put into operation on other roads and has been found to be successful. The men of the Boston and Maine are anxious to secure something of the sort upon the road they work for, and if the officials see fit to make such provision for their old age, they will be most happy.

"COFFIN NAILS"

Large Number of School Boys Smoke Them

STATEMENT MADE BY DR. ASHAW

He Made Special Study of Subject

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—As a result of an investigation in nine grammar schools in this city yesterday Dr. W. Ashaw of Indianapolis, Ind., brought out the fact that 90 per cent. of the boys are confirmed cigarette smokers. According to Dr. Ashaw, who has been making a special study of the subject throughout the country, the number of child-ren who smoke is in this city not greater than in many cities he has visited. In one of the schools the percentage of cigarette smokers was only 75 per cent, and this, he says, is the lowest he has ever encountered.

STRANGE CASE

Man is Unable to Pronounce Nouns

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Physicians at Plainfield, N. J., are much puzzled over the case of Garret T. Dunham, who was thrown from a trolley car several weeks ago, striking on his head. Dunham is now apparently as well as ever, except that he is unable to pronounce nouns. He has no difficulty with verbs, but when it comes to naming objects he is all at sea. Mr. Dunham's case, according to an expert, is extremely rare, paralysis of the naming centre, a part of the brain directly over the left ear. Specialists say that a similar case was reported a year ago. The victim would describe a knife as something to cut with or a glass as something to drink with, but could not name either article.

MURDERER GONE

He Was Serving a Life Sentence

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 10.—Hothenel, the murderer of Solsalon Solninon, the procurator general of Finland, escaped during the night from the prison here where he was undergoing a sentence of imprisonment for life.

Solsalon Solninon, whom the Finns prefer to call Johnson, ignoring the patent of nobility granted to him in 1904, was shot and killed February 6, at his residence, by Karl Leonard Hohenthan, formerly a student of the Imperial Alexander University at Helsingfors. He also wounded a son of the murdered man and was wounded himself in a fight which followed. Hohenthal was actuated by the widespread condemnation of Solninon's failure as procurator general to guard the ancient laws of Finland.

The office of procurator general is one of the highest in Finland. The procurator general is head of the department of justice of the Finnish senate. Solninon was 48 years old.

HISTORY OF COMMANDERY.

Pilgrim Commandery was organized by thirteen Knights Templar, who had been advanced to that degree, probably in the different commanderies of Boston. Early in the spring of 1855, these men met and decided to make application for a charter, and for authority to form and open an encampment, as the commanderies were known at that time in Lowell. In this application they promised to comply with all the rules and regulations of the order, and named as the first officers of the proposed organization: Sir Peter Lawson, commander; Sir Samuel Hutchinson, generalissimo; and Sir Samuel W. Brown, captain general. The petition was signed by the following sir knights: William North, W. S. Gardner, A. A. Putnam, Maynard Bragg, Charles Thompson, Peter Lawson, Solon Stevens, William A. Richardson, S. K. Hutchinson, Samuel W. Brown, Lewis Child and Theodore Edson.

The petition was granted on March 7, 1855, the permit being signed by S. W. Robinson, then grand master of the grand encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. On March 23, 1855, the first meeting of the encampment was held, and the following officers were elected and installed: Commander, Sir Peter Lawson; generalissimo, Sir Samuel Hutchinson; captain-general, Sir Samuel Brown; prelate, Sir William North; senior warden, Sir Augustus A. Putnam; junior warden, Sir William G. Gardner; treasurer, Sir A. W. Fisher, recorder, Sir William A. Richardson; standard bearer, Sir Maynard Bragg; warden, Sir Joel Spalding.

At the first meeting applications for admission were received from several candidates, among whom was General Benjamin F. Butler. The charter was granted on Oct. 10, 1855, and was signed by S. W. Robinson, then grand master of the encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island; John McClellan, grand generalissimo; and Cyrus Fisher, grand captain general.

The first sir knight of Lowell to become grand commander of the encampment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island was William S. Gardner, who was elected to that position in 1863. Two others have filled the same exalted station since then—Sir Charles C. Hutchinson and Charles A. Stott. The first death that occurred was that of Sir Samuel W. Brown, who died in November, 1859.

LABOR LEADERS

Will Take Up Child Labor Question

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 10.—The attention of the delegates attending the annual session of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor was devoted entirely to the introduction and discussion of resolutions today. After the session today no more resolutions will be allowed to come before the convention unless by unanimous consent. An exception has been noted, however, on the question of child labor, which will come before the convention tomorrow. A special committee has been engaged in canvassing the subject for some time, conferring frequently with the delegates from large manufacturing centers and it is expected that the result of their investigations will be placed before the delegates accompanied by recommendations on the subject.

GOV. UTTER

WELCOMED DELEGATES TO S. S. TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—The importance of teacher training was the point most emphasized in the sessions of the 25th annual state Sunday School Teachers' Convention, which commenced in the Union Congregational church here today. After a cordial welcome had been extended by the pastor, Rev. James E. McConnell, and an address of similar import had been delivered by Governor George H. Utter, President Charles W. Calder, of the state association, thanked the speakers and took his place as chairman of the convention. After the transaction of some routine business, W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, international teacher training secretary, addressed the convention on "Approved Workmen; how secured."

Mrs. J. W. Barnes of New Jersey, international elemental grade secretary, on the topic "Childhood: its possibilities and limitations," was the first speaker of the afternoon, followed by Mr. Pearce, who spoke on "Principles of teaching." Mrs. C. E. Blake of Barrington, R. I., spoke on "Work with boys and girls."

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to conferences of the different grades of teachers in Sunday school work.

DR. HYDE

HEAD OF GAELIC LEAGUE WILL SPEAK AT HARVARD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Thomas O'Concannon, chief organizer of the Gaelic League in Ireland, has arrived in New York to perfect arrangements for the lecturing tour of Dr. Douglas Hyde, president of the league, who will arrive here Nov. 15, and who will deliver his first address at Harvard, and will then make a 14-day tour of the United States.

Concerning the league Mr. O'Concannon said:

"The Gaelic League was founded 12 years ago by six young men. Today there are 30 branches of the Gaelic League in Dublin and, roughly speaking, 870 branches throughout Ireland, with about 100,000 members of the league."

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 10.—Several thousand delegates came to this city today to attend the 32nd annual convention of the state Woman's Christian Temperance union at the First Baptist church. The convention was called to order by the president, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson of Boston, and will continue until Friday noon. After brief devotional services today organization was effected and addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor Augustine Daly on behalf of the city, Rev. Dr. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, on behalf of the church and others. A general response was made by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Lambert of Attleboro. The annual address of the president and a brief session followed.

DIST. ATTORNEY

New Dramatic Success at Academy of Music

A LARGE AUDIENCE WAS DELIGHTED

The Stock Company Scores Another Hit

A more appreciative or a better satisfied audience never filed out of the Academy of Music than that which witnessed the presentation of "The District Attorney" by the members of the Huntington-DePeyn Stock company at the Academy of Music last night. People who expected to witness one of the finest plays of political intrigue were not disappointed, and it was with considerable reluctance they left their seats at the conclusion of the last act.

The story is one of thrilling interest as it develops. "The District Attorney" impresses the spectator as a drama written especially to meet that public curiosity which the details of a past legislative inquiry in New York excited. The notably dramatic strength of the play is developed in the third act, the scene of which is the district attorney's office. The atmosphere of the place with its peculiar activities, is produced most effectively here.

The reformatory spirit which was so rife shortly after the investigation is incidentally shown by the snubbing of McGrath, one of the ward heelers, who calls to ask that justice might be shown in his favor for one of his tools, and several other very notable things occur during this act.

The fourth act, which ends the story, departs from the more dramatic to the psychologic element. The district attorney, worn by conflicting impulses, has refused to visit his father-in-law, who was the means of putting him in office in order to protect a gang of swindlers of which he was one of the prime movers.

Later on, Brainord, the father-in-law, broken with illness, appears at District Attorney Stratton's house, and after an angry scene with Stratton, pleads with him for protection. He refuses and urges restitution. Brainord later on learns that McGrath has been arrested, has confessed and is going to turn state evidence and that his destruction of the documentary evidences was useless to save him. He sees state prison staring him in the face, but is willing to pay any amount of money to avoid arrest and disgrace, yes, even to stand for the fifteen years' torture in Sing Sing of an innocent young man who was fraudulently sentenced for a crime which he never committed. But the district attorney, despite the family ties with the villain, refuses to waver and will listen to nothing but restitution and the clearing of the name of the innocent young man, his pleadings being seconded by his wife.

In a very dramatic situation which kept the interest of the audience at a high pitch Brainord agrees to make restitution and the district attorney then and there declares that he will resign his office and devote his time in defense of his father-in-law.

The interest of the play is steadily cumulative and there is abundant excitement of the dramatic kind to the end of the third act. The last act, however, presents a novel study of the problem on which the principal characters appear. The climaxes in the third act give admirable opportunities to Stratton, Brainord and Grace Brainord to display their talent.

The character of John Stratton, the district attorney, offers to Mr. Wright Huntington many opportunities which he fully embraces with artisticability. At times he rose to the highest conception of the role, and during these moments his dramatic power was clearly demonstrated. He never overdoes his part and is always natural and unaffected.

The old man who tried by most desperate means to keep his affairs a profound secret had a hard part and Frank Whittier was quite successful in it. His conception was both thrilling and artistically performed. He showed by his portrayal that he must have given careful study to the part. Miss Isabel Fletcher as Grace Brainord, the district attorney's wife, was exceptionally forceful and pleasing, and did a really clever piece of acting. She was very sympathetic, straightforward and ingenious.

The comedy part of the piece is ably handled by Howard Russell as Wellington Gridley, clerk to Stratton, and Thomas Walsh as General Ruggles, the editor. The comedy work of the piece is in the hands of Miss Mabelle Estelle as Madge Brainord who is clever as usual. Frederick Webber as Frank Pierson, the convict, had only a small part, but his excellent acting gave it marked prominence. Miss Marie Curtis gave to the part of Helen Knight a touching pathos. The other characters were excellently taken care of by other members of the company. The play is staged under the direction of Mr. Huntington.

"The District Attorney" is sure to please large audiences during the week, though the advance sale has been very large, and those who wish to secure good seats should make early application at the box office. The play will be given every night during the week as well as this afternoon, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees.

DROWNED

YOUNG FISHERMAN WASHED OVERBOARD.

CALAIS, Me., Oct. 10.—Calvin P. Stewart, a young fisherman of the schooner Pubal Cain, was washed overboard from the bow of the vessel by a high sea during the night. The captain of the boat made an effort to save the boy, but failed. The body was not recovered. Stewart's home was at Lords Cove, Deer Island, N. B.

HENRY SHELDON DEAD.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 10.—Henry Sheldon, formerly a manufacturing jeweler, and in later years a prominent real estate dealer, died at his residence here today after a lingering illness, aged 71 years. Mr. Sheldon was also associated with cutlery houses in Boston and New York. He was the republican candidate for mayor of this city four times, though never elected. A widow and two adult sons survive.

SERIOUS CHARGE

IMPORTANT CATCH BY THE POLICE

Several Complaints Had Been Made

Inspector Walsh made two important arrests yesterday when he took in A. M. Barrette and Joseph L. Gadbois of Moody street on charges of photographing and printing obscene pictures.

The filthy picture evil—has been growing in Lowell of late and the police have received several complaints from parents to the effect that their boys and in some cases girls have had these pictures in their possession.

Superintendent Moffatt became aware from the frequency of the complaints that some one was making a business of putting out the pictures in this city and assigned Inspector Walsh to investigate. The latter found the task a difficult one owing to the secrecy with which the business was done. On Saturday night, however, the keeper at the police station while searching a man arrested for drunkenness, found one of the pictures in his possession and he immediately turned it over to Inspector Walsh, who after an interview with the prisoner received a clew which resulted in the arrest yesterday afternoon of Barrett.

After a talk with Barrette at the police station Inspector Walsh went with Corporation Detective Noyes for the purpose of getting Gadbois at the Lawrence hosiery where he is employed. They met him on Suffolk street and placed him under arrest. Barrette is charged with photographing and Gadbois with printing the pictures. Some are made from drawings and others from other photographs. Barrette is 52 years of age and single, while Gadbois is 27 years of age and married. Barrette obtained bail in the sum of $500. The penalty is a fine from $100 to $1000, or imprisonment from three months to three years in the house of correction, or both.
